EMBARGO ON MUNITIONS TO VILLA

Powder for the Rebel Leader Is Held Up, and Hereafter Shipments Will Be Allowed Only to President Carranza

El Paso, Oct. 13.—Powder consigned to General Villa was held up today here, marking the beginning of the actual embargo on munition shipments to all factions in Mexico except that headed by General Carranza, following the Pan-American decision to recognize the latter.

While no formal embargo declaration has been made, announcement is expected soon.

Villa has seized American-owned mining and smelter properties, valued at $30,000,000, alleging failure to operate as the reason for the confiscation.

A Villa column under General Canuto Reyes is reported to have retaken Torreon and to have liberated Lucio Blanco, whom General Obregon ordered incarcerated.

GERMAN MINISTER TELLS OF LANDING ALLIES IN GREECE

By Carl W. Ackerman.

(Copyright 1915 by the United Press. Copyrighted in Great Britain.)

Berlin, Oct. 13.—The world's storm of indignation against Germany for invading Belgium is "cant," or "schwindel," declared Foreign Minister von Jagow in an interview given to the United Press today concerning the action of the allies in landing troops at Saloniki.

I asked the foreign office if the chancellor would give out Germany's position on the landing. The foreign secretary received me, the chancellor being absent, and at the conclusion of his statement I asked if the final decision of the Balkans had brought about another psychological peace movement. He replied: "You must ask Germany's enemies."

I inferred that Germany was willing to consider peace if the allies make the first overtures. It was my impression further that the people believe that not only has the cause for England's entrance into the war been removed by the landing in Greece but the reasons for the allies' reported prolonging of the war has also been removed.

During the course of a half hour's conversation with the foreign minister, the American situation was discussed. I concluded that Germany is awaiting Ambassador von Bernstorff's full report of discussions with Secretary Lansing; that Germany is glad all differences with America have been bridged; that the submarine commander who sank the Arabic told a most interesting story, which will be sent to Lansing; and that Germany feels immeasurably handicapped by the lack of cable communication with von Bernstorff.

Von Jagow's statement regarding the Saloniki landing follows:

"The English newspapers are taking the greatest pains to demonstrate that there is not the least analogy between Germany's entry of Belgium and the landing of English and French troops at Saloniki under General Hamilton. They emphasize the point that the Greek government and

WAR DECLARED BY BULGARIA ON SERBIA TUESDAY

Paris, Oct. 13.—Bulgaria declared war against Serbia Tuesday, according to a Bucharest dispatch today.

Russia is preparing to land a vast army on the Bulgarian coast, according to the Roumanian Journal Universel.

Paris, Oct. 13.—After one transfer already, still another shift of the Serbian capital is in prospect. This time, it is reported, it will be moved to Monastir, in the southwestern corner of the country. Nish, the war-time capital, is expected to fall into Bulgarian hands before the Germans reach it.

GERMANS ATTACK ALONG THE DANUBE AND SAVE RIVERS

(By United Press Leased Wire.)

Vienna, Oct. 13.—Pushing their way into the near-east, Austro-German hordes, seeking a junction with their Bulgarian cohorts, are attacking all along the Danube and Save rivers and on the Drina east bank, it was officially stated today. The hills about Belgrade, overlooking all the river crossings, are in the invaders' hands. The enemy has advanced, however, only in the face of admittedly heavy resistance from the comparatively small handful of Serbians, who are now in danger of being hemmed in on all sides.

Austrians who captured Mount Lipa, east of Belgrade, are now advancing southward from Belgrade, while the German forces are driving the Serbians before them from Belgrade in the direction of Posaarowitz. Montenegrin skirmishers are reported particularly active, and there have been several sharp clashes along their frontier.

RACE HORSES FROM ROGUE VALLEY WIN HONORS ON CIRCUIT

George L. Swisher, who has been away during the fall season with his string of race horses on the northwestern circuit, returned this morning, having closed the season at the state fair at Salem. His horses will arrive a little later, and will be wintered at the Swisher ranch on the Applegate. Coos Bay, Swisher's entry in the $2,000 stake race at Salem, divided second and third moneys, pulling down a good purse after showing great quality in a game race. Coos Bay is a three-year-old. Hallie B. and Grace N. Swisher's other racers, gave good account of themselves on the northwest circuit getting first or second in nearly every race entered. Mr. Swisher is enthusiastic over the conduct of the state fair this season, stating that under the able direction of Secretary Al Jones it was the "best ever."

DIAMOND HONORS GO TO THE BOSTON RED SOX

Baseball Championship of the World Is Cinched by the Fourth Consecutive Win, the Series Closing With a Spectacular Game Played on the Philadelphia Grounds, and Featured With Four Home Run Hits

Philadelphia, Oct. 13.—Harry Hooper, the 1915 edition of Home Run Baker, gave Boston another world's baseball championship this afternoon, with two home runs into the center field bleachers. The Californian came to bat in the ninth inning when the score tied at four and four and sent the 1915 series into history with a terrific clout which cleared the center field fence on the bounce by three feet. It was the fourth straight victory for Boston and the third victory which had been won in the ninth inning by one run.

The crowd swarmed down upon the field as Killifer, pinch hitting for Rixey, made the last out and fought to get near the Boston bench where Hooper was being mobbed by his joyful team mates. For fifteen minutes after the game the crowd surged around the Boston bench, clamoring for a sight of the new born hero, but he was spirited away and the crowd was forced to depart without getting to him.

Philadelphia lost as befitted champions. After the weakest hitting in a world's series, the Phillies suddenly found their batting eyes at the start of the game and bombarded Foster for nine hits, including a double and a home run. Today's game was the first really championship game of the series. It was replete with dramatic moments, terrific hitting in the pinches and clever fielding.

The Phillies started out in the first inning to overtake the Red Sox by bombarding Foster for two runs. Hooper, with the first home run, evened up the count in the third inning. Philadelphia forged ahead again in the fourth on Luderus' home run. Boston tied it again in the eighth on Lewis' homer, and Hooper's history-making wallop in the ninth was grand finale to a sensational game.

Boston's outfield, claimed the best in baseball, lived up to its reputation. Duffy Lewis and Harry Hooper have easily been the sensations of an otherwise drab series by their terrific hitting in the pinches and marvelous spearing of Philadelphia's long hits. Hooper by his day's work today crowds Frank Baker almost off the ledge for world's series honors. Baker never hit more opportunely than did Hooper this afternoon. In the fourth inning, with his team one run behind, he came to bat and looped one into the crowd in center field. And again, in the ninth inning of the crucial game of the series and with the score tied, he came to bat and sent another one into the same spot. The hit carried Philadelphia's championship with it into oblivion.

Bancroft, former Portland player, again kicked through today with one of the stellar fielding stunts of the game. Speaker's smash to short in the seventh was a terrific blow. It almost knocked Bancroft down when he dashed in front of it, but the coast boy quickly set himself and made the peg to first. The play was lightning fast. Bancroft maintained his record of hitting in every game by slamming out two singles.

Scott proved to be Boston's weakest hitting spot during the series. He got one hit in the first game but that finished him and he tied with Niehoff, who got his first hit today, for the booby prize of the five-game tussle.

With all the praise that goes to Hooper and Lewis and Foster, Philadelphia paused tonight to drop a tear for Eppa Jephtha Rixey. If ever a pitcher lost a heart-breaking game it was the tall Virginian. Nobody had counted on him, he was null and void so far as being a factor in the series was concerned, but he stepped into the breach left by Mayer in the third inning and raised Philadelphia's hopes skyward.

Rixey came in with the score that tied the game, and allowed only four hits the remainder of the game, which is a better record than any other Philadelphia pitcher has made. Two of these hits, however, were home runs, and they sent his hero hopes into nothing.

In the fourth inning Rixey's team gave him a pair of runs, a homer by Luderus and an error by Hooper, furnishing the marker. But for the ground rules this error would have been Gardner's.

RUSSIANS DRIVE GERMANS ACROSS STRYPA RIVER

Petrograd, Oct. 13.—With fresh supplies of munitions, and perhaps reinforced by new troops, the Russians have again taken the offensive and have made gains in Galicia, whence they were rolled back weeks since by the Teuton machine. Having crossed the Strypa river, they are driving the enemy before them, taking in their path several thousand prisoners, many cannon and quantities of munitions.

Desperate fighting continues in the Dvinsk region. Occupation of "part" of the Russian trenches near Illuxt by the Germans, however, was admitted in the latest war office statement.

This told of a raid by German aeroplanes over the west front above the Gulf of Riga, but claimed Slav destroyers drove off the invaders.

A succession of victories over the Teutons elsewhere was claimed, including capture of three lines of trenches near the southern end of Lake Demmen in a surprise attack, under cover of a fog. In this the Slavs claimed they did not fire a single shot.

DIRECTORS OF NEW HAVEN ROAD APPEAR IN COURT

New York, Oct. 13.—Twelve directors and former directors of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad company appeared today as defendants in the government suit charging a criminal conspiracy to control New England transportation through the company. Wm. Rockefeller was among the group. Sensational testimony is predicted when the one-time president of the line, C. S. Mellen, is called.

Probably never in any court room in this country has such a distinguished coterie of financial, social and commercial leaders gathered to defend themselves from criminal charges drawn in an indictment against them by their own government.

William Rockefeller (alleged conspiracy leader), is John D. Rockefeller's brother and one of the wealthiest men in America. Theodore N. Vail is president of the American Telephone & Telegraph company. Hemingway is an Indiana politician. Ledyard was the late J. P. Morgan's personal counsel. McHarg is a southern capitalist. Baker is a New York banker and Morgan house partner. T. DeWitt Cuyler is a Philadelphia capitalist. Francis T. Maxwell is a Hartford capitalist.

Others named in the indictment are: George MacCulloch Miller, Charles F. Brooker, D. Newton Barney, Charles M. Pratt, A. Hewton Robertson, Frederick F. Brewster, Edward D. Robbins, John J. Billard, Edward Mulligan.

Alexander Cochrane, Boston capitalist, is indicted, but the case against him may fall at today's hearing.

William Skinner, silk baron of Holyoke, and James S. Elton, Waterbury, Conn., banker, were indicted, but the charges were quashed because their interstate commerce testimony immunized them.

These are the capitalists and lawyers a federal grand jury has declared probably guilty of plundering and wrecking the New Haven road. They will appear today before Judge William A. Hunt and admit or deny the charges. Pleas of not guilty and a long-drawn trial are expected.

Prison terms and heavy fines for Rockefeller, Vail, Baker and their associates constitute the government's punishment if the defendants are proved guilty.

Mrs. Fred Smith went to Meriden this morning to spend a few days with relatives.

GIVES PLAN OF MERCHANT MARINE

Secretary McAdoo Tells How the Government Would Build Up Naval Reserve Under Federal Corporation

Washington, Oct. 13.—The first official announcement of the administration's merchant marine bill has been made by Secretary McAdoo in an exclusive interview with the United Press, in which he detailed plans for building up a naval reserve to be operated through a corporation in which the government is sole stockholder.

This statement was made on the eve of his departure for a western trip, on which he will speak in behalf of the measure. The five chief factors were, summed up, as follows:

The necessity for an auxiliary fleet for the navy—a measure of preparedness in keeping with the plan of rehabilitation of the navy's defenses.

The necessity for immediate relief of American commerce, so that shippers and producers will not be dependent upon foreign flags and subject to exorbitant rates and insecure routes of unregulated merchantmen.

The hopelessness of private capital coming promptly and vigorously to the relief of American foreign trade.

The fact that the government is the only agency of sufficient strength and resources to give the quick assistance necessary.

The fact that delay means not only the rejection of the full possibilities of expansion of trade but the neglect of the greatest commercial opportunity ever offered to the nation.

"In the light of world events," McAdoo said, "the creation of a merchant marine under the American flag is the most vital economic problem facing America. I hope and believe the president will recommend passage of this legislation at the approaching session of congress. I hope the shipping bill, altered so as to make it meet all of today's conditions, will become law. The fundamentals of the bill should be retained, but in view of the military lessons of the war, it should be so modified as not only to create a merchant marine but to provide a fleet of steamers responsive to the requirements of naval auxiliaries in time of war."

"In speeches I expect to make on the present trip I will further explain my views on these changes."

Leaning forward to emphasize his earnestness, with his arm outstretched, the secretary continued:

"There can be no difference of opinion regarding the necessity for adequate naval auxiliaries and for development of our navy homogeneously, so that all parts will be sufficient and work in thorough reciprocity. Acute questions that have arisen in our foreign relations have emphasized our necessity for a good navy, not a lopsided navy, but a thoroughly developed and well balanced one in all parts."

The secretary turned to his desk and picked up figures from the navy department showing that it requires 400 merchant vessels for auxiliaries.

"It is common knowledge," he added, "that this tonnage—1,172,000 gross—can only be supplied in part from vessels under American registry. Obviously, if they are built by the government they can not be left idle in our harbors."
