SIGNING BEET ACREAGE.
The citizens of Grants Pass present at the meeting of the Commercial club Monday night expressed a determination to leave no effort undone that would aid in bringing a beet sugar factory to southern Oregon. There was also another determination that was clearly fathomed, though not quite so prominent upon the surface. That was to provide a little more than one-half the required acreage for the establishment of the factory and so settle the question of factory location. If 5,000 are signed up in the valley, and if the Grants Pass district can give 2,600 acres of that amount, it will not be necessary that one be a seer or a prophet to mark the factory location in red upon the map. But the spirit manifest throughout the valley has been of the best, and while every citizen of this community hopes that it will be to the interests of the factory people to build here, that hope in no way stands in the way of the prime endeavor, the getting of 5,000 acres in the valley. Every man believes in getting the acreage first and considering the matter of location afterward. By absorbing the entire freight charge after the beets have been delivered at the loading station, the factory people have placed the growers throughout the valley upon an equal footing.

BEST WISHES TO THE MIKADO.
Congratulations and well wishes for the mikado and Japan on his accession to the throne were extended by President Wilson. With it went the wish for continued friendly relations between Japan and the United States.

"On this auspicious occasion," said the president's message, "of your accession to the throne, I take pleasure in extending cordial felicitations, and in expressing confidence that the influence of your ideals of right and justice will continue to guide you in your exalted office and will inure to the advancement of your country. I assure your majesty of my best wishes for your personal welfare and that of your majesty's family, for the continuance of friendly relations existing between Japan and America."

President Wilson has appointed former President Taft chairman of the Central Committee of the Red Cross. Wilson, as president of the nation, heads the organization. This appointment makes Taft the active head of the organization, succeeding Major General Davis, retired, who requested to be relieved because of old age.

PEOPLE OF GERMANY TO GET CHEAPER PORK

(By United Press Leased Wire.)
Berlin, Nov. 9.—The price of pork, soaring recently to a point available only for the more wealthy classes has dropped 10 cents a pound. This is probably due to the fact that an extensive shipment was arranged with Holland.

FACTS AND FIGURES

work as per second table. You will see at once the farmer is at much less expense than the company, which in a way may be termed land rent or at least he has the better end of this work. In an arrangement of this kind the matter of seed will be equally divided between the land owner and the gentlemen taking contract to do the hand work. However, this last way can not be handled in too small tracts, for the reason the overhead expense of moving men from place to place would be too great. Not less than forty-acre tracts could be considered on this basis. With a good crop such as is sown here, it is easily seen what profit can be contemplated.

Probable Yield Per Acre
"As to probable tonnage, your attention is called to small tracts of beets grown in the valley. Beets grown by Mr. Hood, Mr. Niles, Mr. Hill, and many others, are perhaps the very best evidence on this line. Mr. Hood has a very substantial tonnage, and it is said that by actual weighing Mr. Niles' beets represent 38 tons or a little more per acre. However, it must be borne in mind that where land has been growing small grain for many years and is so tired and worn out it is ashamed, almost, to look the world in the face, the tonnage the first year will be at least from 20 to 40 per cent less than the second year. That is with the same cultivation, the same land will produce much more after the first year. Don't forget this fact. Plant the best land into sugar beets and you will not be disappointed.

Beet Tops as Stock Feed
"The beet tops as cow or cattle feed are unexcelled. The beets must be cut squarely off below the tops, which leaves quite a lot of beet immediately under the leaves, all of which makes splendid feed and is very fattening as well as increasing the milk cow's product at least 20 per cent. In the fall of the year green feed is very scarce and the seemingly green grass then contains very little qualities that will make either fat or milk, hence this green feed at the time it is available is very desirable and of exceeding profit.

Pulp Returned to Grower
"The pulp will be sold to the beet grower according to the tonnage of beets he delivers to the factory, on a basis of about one-third as many tons of pulp as he delivers beets. This is about as near as we can get at it offhand. The pulp will cost the farmer about 60 cents per ton. This beet pulp contains a lot of sugar, since it is impossible for us to extract all the sugar in the beet. The feeding qualities of the beet pulp can not be over estimated. The farmer will receive $5 per ton f. o. b. factory or nearest loading station.
"It is claimed by some that the growing of sugar beets impoverishes land. This is absolutely incorrect. The facts are the growing of sugar beets greatly improves the land. Land planted into beets for a few years will produce stupendous yield of grain or any other kind of crop."
