

TREAT CATARRH BY NATURE'S METHOD

Every Breath of Hyomei Carries Healing Medicated Air to the Infected Membrane

Nearly every one who has catarrh knows how foolish it is to try and cure it with sprays, lotions, and the like.

Until recently your physician would probably have said the only way to help catarrh would be to have a change of climate; but now with a simple preparation called Hyomei you can carry a health-giving climate in your vest pocket and by breathing it a few minutes four times a day successfully treat yourself.

The complete Hyomei outfit is inexpensive and consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomei. The inhaler lasts a life time, and if one bottle does not give permanent relief, an extra bottle of Hyomei can be obtained at any time for a trifling sum.

C. H. Demaray has sold a great many Hyomei outfits and the more he sells the more convinced he is that he is perfectly safe in guaranteeing to refund the money if Hyomei does not relieve.

NEW FAD STARTED

BY PRESIDENT'S DAUGHTER

(By United Press Leased Wire.) Washington, Nov. 9.—Jaded society had a thrill today. Mrs. McAdoo, the president's daughter, officially stamped approval on the cane fad for women.

Wearing a natty tailored suit, a white fur piece and a hat trimmed with white fur, she appeared on the streets with an ebony-hued cane, inlaid with silver. She swung it jauntily, and occasionally hooked it over her arm.

MISS JANE GREGORY.

Daughter of Thomas W. Gregory, Attorney General of United States.

GERMANY TO RENEW HER SUBMARINE WARFARE

Paris, Nov. 10.—Germany intends to launch her undersea death craft, apparently, at allied troop transports around Saloniki.

The hottest submarine attacks of the entire war are predicted for that vicinity as soon as the German fleet of submarines, known to be passing through the Mediterranean, can arrive off the Grecian shores.

Activity of the German raiders inside the Strait of Gibraltar is considered here merely incidental to the voyage.

The theory held here is that the fleet will not really launch its offensive until within striking distance of transports landing on the Greek, Bulgarian and Turkish coasts. It is supposed that the allies have anticipated and prepared for the attacks.

Practically all of Germany's new super-dreadnoughts have been dispatched to the near-east.

FRENCH COMMISSIONERS ARRIVE IN NEW YORK

New York, Nov. 10.—Big business hailed as a possible forerunner of peace the five French industrial and commercial commissioners who came here today for the purpose of arranging the purchase of $160,000,000 worth of iron, steel, machinery and industrial supplies when peace is concluded.

With them the commissioners brought word that the United States probably will be the market in which France will do all her industrial trading hereafter, instead of with Germany. Machinery and building material to replace that wrecked during the war will be sought, and at the same time the commissioners, headed by Maurice Damour, former consul-general at New Orleans, will endeavor to establish a firmer reciprocal trading basis between France and the United States.

Business men saw in the visit at this time a suggestion that France believes the end of the war in sight. Else, they argued, why should she be planning at this moment for her steel, iron and machines?

Damour's message not only pleased business men, but it spread before their eyes the vision of even vaster orders when France again begins to open her mills.

CARRIER CONFESSES BEING HEAD OF ARSON TRUST

Portland, Nov. 10.—Pleading guilty to the charge of arson, Sanford W. Currier, who confessed that he was head of an arson trust which has operated along the Pacific coast for ten years, was sentenced today to from one to seven years in the penitentiary by Circuit Judge Gantenbein.

Mordie Keeney, former lieutenant of the Portland fire department, Monty Akeyson, a former national guard officer, and his brother-in-law, George W. Woollette, members of the arson trust, were given similar sentences.

Keeney was convicted after a long trial and Akeyson and Woollette pleaded guilty, afterward turning state's evidence.

MASON TELLS WHAT WAR MOVES MEAN

(By United Press Leased Wire.) New York, Nov. 10.—Reports that India is in the throes of a serious insurrection sufficiently grave so that Lord Kitchener has gone there, are extremely improbable.

While the India Mohammedans have possibly been stirred by the allies' failures to reach Constantinople, yet it is probable they have been more impressed by the Anglo-Indian force in Mesopotamia. The impending capture of Bagdad, one of the most holy Mohammedan centers, likewise, is undoubtedly effective with them.

This is Britain's most successful venture, with which the India office is credited. As a matter of fact, there is always more or less of a revolutionary spirit in India. But a secret and at the same time important revolution is impossible, for traders would reveal it and Hindu revolutionary committees outside of India would joyfully circulate the details.

There have been no reports of Japanese troops going to India and this is significant, because of the fact that if a serious revolution was in the air England would have Japanese troops there to quell it.

ROCHAMBEAU CONTINUES ON TOWARD BORDEAUX

New York, Nov. 10.—Flames aboard the French liner Rochambeau had been quenched today and she was plowing her way toward Bordeaux, instead of facing the need of racing for Halifax.

Captain Juham wirelessed the company's offices here at 6 a. m. today:

"Succeeded extinguishing fire. Proceeding to Bordeaux. All well."

This was the first word since yesterday afternoon when the wireless snapped out its message of a mysterious fire aboard in the vessel's reserve bunkers. While at that time the company's quotation of messages from Juham charged "spontaneous combustion" as responsible, later publication failed to quote these words.

This left the mystery of the fire deeper and convinced marine men the vessel was marked by anti-allied agents for destruction on her trip from New York to Bordeaux with her cargo of munitions for the allies. A full report of the situation probably will not be forthcoming until the vessel reaches Bordeaux or possibly some port of call en route.

As a result of the Rochambeau and other fires, extra pliers were placed on guard at all steamship piers today. The police "bomb" squad investigated all night, but found nothing to prove that spies caused the fire—the nineteenth on munitions of war ships leaving America for ports of the allies.

PITCAIRN ISLAND RESIDENT LONG TIME GETTING MAIL

San Francisco, Nov. 10.—If Lincoln Clark, resident of the Pitcairn islands, in the mid-Pacific, lives long enough, he may get his mail.

Shipping Commissioner McArthur today renewed attempts to forward to Clark a letter bearing the postmark of Chicago, May 22, 1911. It is addressed to "Lincoln Clark, Pitcairn Islands, Mid-Pacific Ocean."

The Pitcairns, so far as is generally known, are not accorded as much as a splash of red ink on the map. The letter has been entrusted to steamer after steamer, and has come back every time, the vessel having changed its intention of visiting the home of Lincoln Clark.

MEDFORD REJECTS NEW BONDING PROPOSITION

Medford, Nov. 10.—The woman vote, it was believed today, resulted in the defeat of the Medynski scheme to rebond Medford for $1,030,000 in yesterday's election. While the men were holding talkfests and mass meetings, the women were quietly carrying on a house-to-house campaign.

The majority against the scheme was 102, it having been defeated in every ward.

SPEAKER CHAMP CLARK LINES UP WITH WILSON

Washington, Nov. 10.—That Speaker Champ Clark will support the administration's preparedness program was indicated by a message he sent to the White House today, congratulating the president on his Manhattan club speech.

The Unexpected

One mocked at death for being strong of limb And fearless, death no terrors had for him: "From out my course I shall not move a jot, Let him approach at will; I fear him not!"

Yet, when the conqueror whom he thought to meet As man meets man, erect upon his feet, Came creeping in long twilight shadows, he Fell on his knees and writhed in agony.

Another, not self confident, but frail, Feared death from his youth upward; even would quail At every shadow which upon his path Seemed pointing toward him in its somber wrath.

Yet, when death came, not wrapped in lengthened gloom As all life long this man expected doom, But sudden in the sunlight, not a trace Of fear remained; he met him face to face.

NURSE RISKS LIFE TO PROVE GANGRENE CURE.

Brave Woman Seeks to Save Thousands on European Battlefields.

Risking a hideous death to save the thousands of shattered men of European battlefields who are suffering from the most infectious, rapid and fatal of all diseases of war, gangrene, a young English nurse inoculated herself with the deadly bacilli, forcing Dr. Kenneth Taylor, an American, to make use of quinoline hydrochloride, which he had not dared to use before.

Dr. Taylor, who is on the staff of the medical college of the University of Minnesota, has been at the American hospital at Neuilly. He experimented with his discovery on animals, with most astounding results, yet he dared not make the final experiments which demanded human subjects. Miss Mary Davies performed an act which is not eclipsed by any on the battlefields by injecting directly into her thigh bone the most virulent cultures.

Well aware that her scheme would be prevented if it became known, she determined, without a word to any one, to risk her life in an attempt to demonstrate the efficacy of the treatment which she was convinced would cure the victims of this dread disease. Miss Davies took a room across the street from the hospital, whence she sent a letter to Dr. Taylor to come and see her "for the purpose of treating our final experiment," her letter read. Dr. Taylor went immediately and hurried her to a private room in the hospital, where he commenced the injections of the new preparation. He did not leave her bedside for twenty-four hours. He says she at all times was cheerful and confident of the outcome and said she injected the culture because she knew he had hesitated to use the cure and also because she wanted to give him a "clean case of gangrene only," without mixed infections, as is generally the case with soldiers.

Within two hours the symptoms developed. The thigh began to swell, but so rapid had been the work of the new medicine the disease never reached a climax. Dr. Taylor, discussing the girl's act, said: "It was frightfully dangerous, but brave. Whether it proves conclusively that we can henceforth cure gangrene I hesitate even now to affirm, because we checked the disease at the start. However, from now on the new medicine will be administered to soldiers. If our success continues Miss Davies has undoubtedly contributed greatly to science."
