TREND IS TOWARD REPUBLICANISM SAYS EX-PRES. TAFT

Washington, Nov. 20.—Back in the haunts where he once held sway, William H. Taft today "took a crack" at his ancient enemies, the democrats.

"I have recently returned from a trip across the continent," he said. "It seems to me that the American business man—even the one who is profiting from 'war prosperity'—is not satisfied with the democratic program and democratic achievements. The trend is back to republicanism."

He laughed heartily in denying that he is a presidential candidate. "That reminds me," he continued, "when I was in California a reporter asked me if I was a candidate, and I said 'No.' A Los Angeles paper printed the story. Then shortly afterward my brother in Texas denied that I would run. And the Los Angeles paper printed the Texas dispatch headed, 'We Heard You the First Time.'"

Not quite as "plump" as he used to be, the former president, however, has all his old-time jollity. When a spectator, shaking hands with him, reminded Taft that he had been a White House employe for a dozen years, Taft commented, "But you didn't have to go before the people, did you?"

FOREIGN COMPETITION WHEN THE WAR CLOSES

Seattle, Nov. 20.—Senator Jones, addressing the Young Men's Republican club at the Butler hotel last night, called attention to a new variety of preparedness.

"The great and vital issue of preparedness is to make the necessary adjustments for the close of the war," he said. "We shall be engaged then in a commercial war of the utmost severity. Capital and labor do not know what the future will hold for them when the war ends with the present legislation on the statute books. We shall have to meet the competition from abroad to save ourselves."

PORTUGUESE CABINET REPORTED AS RESIGNED

CHICAGO DOCTOR HELD BLAMELESS FOR BABY'S DEATH

(By United Press Leased Wire.)

Chicago, Nov. 20.—State, and perhaps national, action to prevent a "death sentence" similar to that given Mrs. Anna Bollinger's defective babe seemed possible today as the result of a coroner's jury exoneration of Dr. Haiselden, who decided it better for the child to die than to live, a burden to itself and relatives.

The jury held a surgeon to be fully within his rights in refusing to operate if his conscience so directed him. Yet the doctors on the jury felt Anna Bollinger's deformed and deficient child could have been saved by surgery, and that there was nothing to prove, as suggested by Haiselden, that the baby would have grown up mentally and morally deficient.

Great care in the future should be exercised, said the jury. To this end a physician's judgment alone should not decide whether death is the preferable course. Any doubt as to the future of a child should be determined by a board, they advised.

Because of this suggestion, action looking toward a sort of eugenic board seemed possible. Such an institution would counsel with a physician in any similar case. Any doubt as to future mental and moral deficiency would be up to the entire group. No further action against Haiselden is anticipated. While the jury cast doubt upon the doctor's judgment, officials have found no statutes indicating that he acted beyond the bounds of the law.

DEDICATE SONG TO WILSON AND HIS AFFIANCED WIFE

New York, Nov. 20.—Though President Wilson requested suppression of a song dedicated to him and his future bride, Mrs. Galt, under the title of "Pretty Little Indian Maid," presses today turned the offending ditty out at top speed. Its title is taken from the fact that Mrs. Galt is a descendant of the Indian maiden, Pocahontas. Its words bear on her wooing by the president.

Michael J. Fitzpatrick, the author, sent the president a copy, and Secretary Tumulty replied: "The president asks me to say he would be greatly obliged if you would not publish the song. He would be very distressed if it were published."

"Now what do you suppose is the matter with the president?" commented Fitzpatrick today. "Didn't I read once that he sang in a glee club?"

Here is what the president disliked: "A paleface chief of a mighty tribe On the trail of an Indian squaw, In his light canoe that was built for two Came drifting to the shore. A lover's dart hit the white man's heart From the girl o' copper shade. For he was the chief of the paleface tribe And she was an Indian maid.

Chorus
"You are red and I am white—that makes our love true blue. For I know that you love, and you know I love you. Let us stroll together 'neath the silvery moon When the twilight shadows fade And I'll crown you the Lady of the Paleface Tribe, My pretty little Indian maid."

24-POUND GOBBLER FOR WILSON'S THANKSGIVING

Washington, Nov. 20.—President Wilson's Thanksgiving turkey will be a big bronze 24-pound gobbler, being "pointed" today on the Kentucky farm of South Trimble, clerk of the house. Chestnuts and celery constitute the special diet of the presidential fowl. Trimble has supplied the White House turkey for three years.
