

DON'T SUFFER—LAUGH AT STOMACH MISERY

C. H. Demaray Will Return the Money if Mi-o-na Does not Relieve Dyspepsia

Among all the remedies in C. H. Demaray's popular drug store there are few that he is willing to sell on a guarantee to refund the money if they do not cure.

Anyone who has dyspepsia, indigestion, headaches, dizzy feelings or liver troubles should take advantage of this chance to be made well without risk of spending their money to no purpose.

INSURANCE ORDER IN THE BANKRUPTCY COURT

San Francisco, Dec. 9.—Fraternal circles were considerably agitated today over the bankruptcy proceedings started by the Ancient Order of United Workmen of California in the United States district court.

The liabilities consist chiefly of sick benefits and pending death claims. Thousands of women and children will forfeit their claims if the petition is allowed.

PRUDENTIAL LIFE COMPANY CASHIER ROBBED BY BANDITS

(By United Press Leased Wire.)

Chicago, Dec. 9.—Three young bandits today held up Miss Emma Schinske, 24 years old, cashier of a branch office of the Prudential Life Insurance company.

When she and Miss Mamie Hall, the clerk, arrived, they were overpowered and the youths then fled in an automobile.

LONDON PAPER SEES MENACE FOR AMERICA

London, Dec. 8.—"It will strike everyone as significant, even ominous, that President Wilson's message was so insistent upon the necessity for adequate provision for national defense."

This commented the London Globe today, the only London newspaper professing to see possible danger for America from other powers.

The Chronicle called his preparedness stand a "sudden break with the past of his own party."

The Telegraph praised the executive's "admirable frankness toward German intrigues."

PEACE TALK STARTS

cept responsibility for continuation of the struggle. "Fully conscious of our unshaken military successes," the chancellor continued, "we decline to take the responsibility for continuation of the misery which now fills Europe and the whole world."

Heavy cheering marked the conclusion of these remarks. The chancellor at first declared that prospects of peace discussion in the reichstag had excited broad expectations and great satisfaction among Germany's enemies.

Although this threat would explain the desire of Germany's enemies for peace, none of them have made overtures looking toward an end of the struggle, Holweg added.

Recent utterances—enemy suggestions—concerning possible peace terms were reviewed. In the list he mentioned return of Alsace-Lorraine to France, the annihilation of Prussian "militarism," expulsion of the Turks from Europe, cessation to France of the left bank of the Rhine and the creation of a greater Serbia, including Bosnia.

Von Bethmann-Hollweg said he recognized the fact that some people in foreign countries are inclined to look at the situation in a sensible light, but he charged that they are in the minority.

"Our enemies' theories have lost their force," he continued. "People have ceased speaking of a war lasting 20 years. Moreover, the pretext that they are warring for the protection of small countries has lost its persuasive power since recent events in Greece."

The chancellor then turned to a discussion of the plan of dividing Europe along lines of nationality, as Germany's foes have proposed. In this connection, he asked whether England knew that of the 1,900,000 inhabitants of Alsace more than 87 per cent speak German as their mother tongue.

The more Teuton enemies continue the war with bitterness, the more will Germany need guarantees to insure her future position, the chancellor asserted.

"We do not fight to subjugate other nations," he said. "We fight for protection of our life and liberty. For Germany, this war has always remained what it was at the beginning—a war of defense and a war for the future. This war can only be terminated by a peace which gives the human certitude that it will not return."

The opponents of Germany, he added, blinded themselves at the beginning by false stories concerning Germany.

"Now, after military and diplomatic defeats, they are only able to cling to the idea of annihilation of Germany," he went on.

"For this purpose they invented the theory of starvation of this nation. But our foodstuffs are sufficient and the only important question in this connection is that of distribution. The great economic units stretching from Arras to Mesopotamia can not be crushed."

Socialist Leader Scheidemann, whose interpellation drew forth Holweg's statement, followed the chancellor. At the outset, he reminded the reichstag that at the beginning of the war socialists approved the government's attitude.

MASON TELLS WHAT WAR MOVES MEAN

(By United Press Leased Wire.)

New York, Dec. 9.—Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg's awaited statement of Germany's conditions for making peace turned out to be a clever maneuver to throw upon the allies the task of stating their terms first. In it he tried to place Germany in a better position by suggesting that the responsibility of continuing the war will rest upon the allies.

The speech, too, accuses them of desiring to crush Germany, and intimates that Germany is on the defensive, and that therefore her enemies should be the first to suggest a compromise.

The address was that of a bargainer, but one who did not know how much he could get and wanted the other party's bid first. He evidently felt that when negotiations begin they must center on Belgium, Alsace-Lorraine, Serbia and Poland. This probably was his reason for paying so much attention to the question of rights of small nations.

The speech was, however, not merely an able defensive argument, but it combined, too, a clever offensive threat in the intimation of Germany's ability to continue the war as long as her enemies. The speech, however, does not bring peace nearer, though it will incite the allies to declare what they are fighting for.

WHEN JITNEY KILLS GIRL DRIVER GOES INSANE

(By United Press Leased Wire.)

Seattle, Dec. 9.—Tortured with memories of how ten-year-old Al Tanaka, a Japanese school girl, looked as she lay unconscious in the street after his jitney had struck her, Oscar Turnquist, 25 years old, became insane last night as he was reporting the accident at police headquarters and was locked in a padded cell.

Meantime, the little girl, who had been rushed to the city hospital, died, the result of a fractured skull. Turnquist early this morning is reported to have regained his reason.

PORTLAND EXPECTS TO STAY IN COAST LEAGUE. San Francisco, Dec. 9.—Information that Portland will again be in the Pacific Coast league next season, through the decision of the Transcontinental Passenger association to let the matter of rates rest with Pacific coast terminals, caused general satisfaction among local fans today. When the proposition of securing a rate to Portland was presented to the terminal lines it met with approval, but had to be passed along to the passenger association. This was owing to the fact that Salt Lake was a member of the circuit. The association handed the matter back to the terminals as a matter of courtesy. Official announcement of the association's action is expected here today or tomorrow, when the terminal lines will formally grant the rate.

SALEM WOMAN DIVORCED FROM UNWASHED HUBBY. Salem, Dec. 8.—Alleging that her husband boasted that he had not taken a bath for fifty years, and that she knows of her own knowledge that he has not taken a bath or washed his feet since their marriage, September 29, Mrs. Mary Templeton is plaintiff in a divorce action pending today against Robert M. Templeton. She further alleged that Templeton refused to permit his children by a former marriage to bathe their feet. SHOWER OF GIFTS FOR THE PRESIDENT'S FIANCEE. Washington, Dec. 9.—Though President Wilson let it be known he does not want any silver plate or such like wherewith to set up housekeeping after his wedding to Mrs. Norman Galt, gifts are beginning to pour in upon his fiancée. One of the first is a bracelet of rare Brazilian jewels brought here by a delegate to the American Scientific congress. TURKS AND GERMANS TO MAKE ATTACK ON INDIA.
