The series of basketball games is now drawing to a close, with none of the teams yet having a grasp upon the coveted pennant. The Methodists and the Baptists are tied for first place, the Methodists having been brought off the pedestal by their defeat at the hands of the Presbyterians, while the Baptists advanced their standing by winning from the Christians. The score in the game by the two teams first mentioned was 29-21, while the latter pair played a 49-39 game. The next game will be played next Tuesday, when a doubleheader will again be on the program, the Methodists and Baptists contesting for first place while the cellar position will be fought against by the Presbyterians and Christians.
