

Consistency

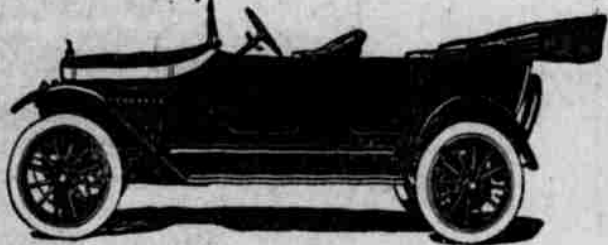

YOU want a motor car that will serve you consistently. You want to know that your car can be relied upon day in and day out. You want high mileage per gallon of gasoline and freedom from repairs and readjustments. And you want these things, not occasionally, but continuously—day after day.

On these qualities the Maxwell has made good. It has proved its worth. When the Maxwell stock touring car set the World's Motor Non-Stop Mileage Record a short time ago it travelled for 44 consecutive days and nights and its performance was consistent.

It went about 500 miles each and every day. It went within a small fraction of 22 miles to every gallon of gasoline. It went the whole distance of 22,000 miles—probably further than you would travel in two years—without any repairs or readjustments. Every one of eight tires (two sets) went just about 9,800 miles and the others finished in good shape. For consistency and reliability this record far excels anything we ever heard of.

You can get a Maxwell, an exact duplicate of the record breaking stock car, on the partial payment plan we have perfected. All you have to do is to make the initial payment, then take the car and pay the balance as you ride. The unusual value of the Maxwell, together with our easy payment plan of purchase, is bound to dispose of our allotment of cars very quickly. Better make your reservation now, delivery later if you prefer.

Allen Eaton, of the University of Oregon, director of the art exhibit, appeared before the Arts and Crafts society at the commercial club rooms March 25 in a talk on "American Art Pottery."

Mr. Eaton said even in our age of ultra efficiency it is interesting to turn backward for a time to uncover and study the most primitive stages among the early Indians of our country. It was to this early work that Mr. Eaton first directed the attention of the society and then showed the various steps leading up to the pottery of the present day.

Mrs. Edward G. Harris added a great deal of interest and enthusiasm to the meeting by telling of the early formation of the Rookwood company when she was one of the number.

After a general discussion in which Mr. Eaton endeavored to answer many questions which the various members propounded, opportunity to examine the specimens of pottery which he had with him was given. Tea and wafers were served.

7TH REGIMENT IS STILL AFTER VILLA

U. S. Army Headquarters, Dublin, Mexico, April 1.—(By Wireless).—The pursuit of Francisco Villa was continued today in the mountains near the scene of Wednesday's battle, in which the bandits were routed.

Brigadier-General Pershing has ordered that all the scattered outlaw bands be exterminated. Officers and men stationed here greeted the news of victory with enthusiastic cheering. According to Pershing's report, the bandit camp was located by an army aviator. Colonel Dodd's men made a forced march of 17 hours and attacked the outlaws in the early morning. Villa was said to have escaped from the field in a carriage just before the firing began. The Seventh U. S. cavalry, the regiment that distinguished itself in a running fight with the Villistas, is looked upon as one of the crack organizations of the army. The Seventh is known throughout the service as "Custer's" regiment. It was the Seventh that was massacred almost to a man at the battle of Little Big Horn on the western plains many years ago, when the old Indian fighter, General Custer, met his death. The Seventh later established a distinguished record in the later Indian wars, and during the Cuban and Philippine campaigns. The Seventh is one of the few regiments in the service that boasts its own service song, handed down for years, and is probably more proud of its traditions than any other regiment. "Garry Owen," the battle song of the Seventh, has been listened to with respect by Uncle Sam's enemies for a good long time. The "Free" sewing machine, guaranteed a "Lifetime," is also insured for five years against fire, storm, etc. See Helmer's. 710

LINER CHIYO MARU HAS BEEN FLOATED

San Francisco, April 1.—Having received news that all passengers on the liner Chiyo Maru were safely landed at Hong Kong, after the steamer ran aground on Lema islands, local offices of the Toyo Kisen Kaisha today anxiously awaited word as to the damage done to the vessel. The Chiyo was reported to have been floated, and she will probably be towed to Hong Kong, where an examination can be made.

According to messages received at the local offices, a British destroyer assisted in removing passengers. There was no panic.

One message here said that the return sailing of the Chiyo Maru would be "delayed." This gave rise to a belief that she was not seriously damaged.

If it is not practical to bring her in to Hong Kong at once, her baggage and cargo will probably have to be removed by lighters.

San Francisco, April 1.—Federal Judge Dooling today set the hearing of the Oregon land cases for May 23.

He announced that the trials of those indicted by the grand jury in the bomb plot cases would be held in August, and the men involved in the immigration scandal would be heard in May.
