Tell us what you come for and we will do the rest. It doesn't matter whether you ever expect to have any work done by us, you are just as welcome as the flowers in May. Hoff-Man's were awarded the grand prize and gold medal at the Panama-Pacific exposition. Yours for better service, Amos F. Williams. 773

WILSON CARRIES FLAG IN PARADE

Washington, June 14.—For the first time in history the president of the United States marched on foot today in historic Pennsylvania avenue as a participant in a propaganda parade. The event is to be Washington's plea for preparedness and a tribute to the flag, today being the anniversary of the adoption by congress of the Stars and Stripes as the national emblem.

Immediately in front of the president was the U. S. marine band. They had to set their music to the marching cadence the president set. And it was some cadence—a matter of 144 steps to the minute.

Despite a grilling sun, the president did not seem to mind his hike a bit. He walked with a jaunty swing, that kept a large pompous gentleman on his left pumping the whole distance of a mile and a half.

The president wore a blue serge coat, white duck trousers and shoes with socks and tie to match the trousers, and a boyish straw hat.

Rudolph Kauffman and Wm. F. Gude, local celebrities, who marched on either side of him, wore funereal frock coats and shiny quart hats.

President Wilson carried a silk flag over his right shoulder. There was no breeze, but the flag stuck straight out behind most of the distance. Atop the flag was a golden eagle.

The president's long legs carried him over the ground so rapidly that he broke all records for parades in Washington, where parades are but things of the moment. He covered the mile and a half in something like 15 minutes.

Directly behind the president was his cabinet, public employes and department officials, with a delegation of newspaper men representing a thousand cities of the country.

Everybody carried or wore a flag. The men marchers, for the most part, wore dark sack coats and Palm Beach trousers, with small flags in coat lapels and larger ones on staffs. There was a pleasing uniformity of dress among women as well as among employes of the government. Dark skirts that displayed white shoes and hose, with white shirt waists, were the rule among the gentler sex.

Tokio, June 14.—Japan will attempt to mediate between the warring factions in China and restore peace, it was announced today.

Site of the White House.
The site for the president's palace, as the first maps name it, was selected by President Washington and Major L'Enfant when they laid out the federal city in 1792. They purposed to have the president's house and the capitol reciprocally close to the long vias formed by Pennsylvania avenue, and they also laid out a parklike connection between the two great buildings. The plans for the house, selected by Washington and Jefferson as the result of a competition in which L'Enfant took part, were drawn by James Hoban, a native of Dublin and a medal man of the Society of Arts of that city.
