OREGON WEATHER
Tonight and Saturday rain; southerly winds.

SIR ROGER, THE TRAITOR.

The case of the Irish knight who must die upon the gallows because of misdirected patriotism is a sad one. Sir Roger Casement had no sympathy with the cause of the central powers, and whatever his activities upon German soil, no doubt all were intended for the good of his beloved fellow Irishmen.

hoped for the domination of England's foes.

While the Willamette valley has been soaked with a heavy rainfall that has continued without cessation for the past week, the Rogue has had alternating shower and sunshine. The weather is rather unseasonable, as it seems to be throughout the entire country.

Orders to suppress news of troop movements en route to the Texas border, or in Texas, have been issued by the secretary of war. The explanation was made that knowledge of troop movements might result in some malicious act that might seriously hamper these movements and also might result in unnecessary loss of life among the troops.

Carranza would not call the bluff when it was really made with apparent intention of backing it up with something besides notes. When the troops were rushed forward to go after the imprisoned soldiers if they were not released within a given limit of time, the release came. More action and fewer words would have had a good effect months ago.

Crescent City will have cause for a double celebration next Tuesday. The Fourth we always have with us, but it is not every year that the launching of a great harbor project can also be a cause for jubilation.

Now the season of discontent approaches—the steelhead is taking the fly and the chinook the spinner. Still there is work to do.
