THE PATH OF DUTY.

Do not let impending difficulties unman you, but face them bravely if they come. Oftentimes the hindrances that lie in the path of duty may be compared to the tollgates upon our turnpike roads; they are kept shut until we are just upon them and then fly open, as it were, of themselves. And that is true enough. If they had been open a week beforehand we could but have gone through at last.—John Newton.

Force of a Flying Bird.

The marvelous force with which a bird flies was strikingly illustrated recently when a partridge crashed through a big window of a country estate. The window was glazed with plate glass a quarter of an inch thick. The bird, which weighed twenty ounces, was found dead in the living room eleven feet from the window. The impact of its body broke a hole in the heavy glass about three feet in diameter. The window is more than five feet square and close to the ground. It overlooks a large lawn, which at certain times in the day is very vividly reflected in the glass. It is thought that the bird was deceived by this reflection into thinking it was flying through an opening. Nearly all of the broken glass was thrown into the room.—Detroit Free Press.

SPENDING MONEY.

Use sound sense in spending money. Guard against the notion that, because pleasure can be bought with money, money cannot be spent without enjoyment. What a thing costs is no true measure of its worth.

ARABIA'S DIVERTED RIVER.

A Work That May Have Been Directed by Alexander the Great. Arabia lies at the head of the Persian gulf, its western boundary being the Shat-el-Arab, the great river formed by the combined waters of the Tigris and Euphrates, the right bank of which is in Turkish Arabia.

Forty miles above where it flows into the Persian gulf the Shat-el-Arab is joined by the Karun, and the town of Mohammerah stands at the junction of the two rivers, the former a clear green stream, the latter thick and red.

In ancient times the Karun flowed into the gulf and part of the river still runs along the old channel, but the main stream has been diverted three miles above Mohammerah into an artificial channel known geographically as the Haffar canal.

It is impossible even to make a guess at the date of this wonderful work, not even a tradition remaining of the ruler whose farsightedness realized the enormous value and possibilities of the waterways.

Alexander the Great has been suggested, but apparently for no other reason than that he is a convenient and likely person to credit with any ambitious enterprise and that one of his many Alexandrias was built on the site of the present Mohammerah.—Wide World Magazine.

There Are Stores in This City So Good That They Could Use Twice as Much Advertising Space as They Now Use—and Make It Pay!

THE BETTER THE STORE THE BETTER THE ADVERTISING PAYS. Your own observations in the store-world will confirm this truth.

PUBLICITY is bad only for a bad proposition. It is just as surely good for a good one.

What IS a "good store"? One that really SERVES THE PUBLIC, protecting its patrons as to VALUES, not merely as to PRICES.

There are many stores in this city answering to that definition completely. In every city there are always some stores that do not.

An important phase of a GOOD STORE'S SERVICE TO ITS PATRONS is its newspaper advertising. This should be complete, frank, informing. It should tell the store news as fully as a good newspaper tells the news of the day.

Perhaps the best possible NEW POLICY for the GOOD stores of this city to adopt would be that of DOUBLING THE ADVERTISING SPACE THAT THEY USE—thus giving them "elbow room"; giving them bigger opportunities for telling their patrons, in detail, about every selling event, about every bargain offering, about every dollar's worth of new stocks. Of course, even HALF ENOUGH ADVERTISING pays the really good store; but ADEQUATE ADVERTISING would pay much better.
