can and must go on?" Lloyd-George was asked. "There's neither clock nor calendar in the British army today," was the quick reply. "Time is the least vital factor. Only the result counts—not the time consumed in achieving it."

3 WEEKS' SESSION OF REICHSTAG ON Berlin, Sept. 28.—Interest centered on Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg and the fight to be waged against him when the German reichstag re-convened today for a three-weeks' session.

More of that perfect sugar-making weather—warm and sunny days, with cool nights. The beet is taking on the saccharine and the apple the bluish and the flavor.

Before the session began, an anti-Hollweg leader declared that if the chancellor promises a strong policy toward England he will receive the support of the majority of the members. This leader would not be more specific.

There were indications that the government's critics apparently are willing to get together and bury the hatchet, if possible, to avoid an open fight in the reichstag that might be misinterpreted in foreign countries.

At home the suffering and sorrow is great and is growing. As to the war zone, its terrors are indescribable. I have just visited the battlefields of France. I stood, as it were, at the door of hell. I saw myriads marching into the furnace. I saw some coming out of it, scorched and mutilated.

"This ghastliness must never be re-enacted on this earth, and one method, at least, of assuring that end is the infliction of such punishment upon the perpetrators of this outrage against humanity that the temptation to emulate their exploits will be eliminated from the hearts of the evil-minded amongst the rulers of men."

England is making 18-inch guns for navy Washington, Sept. 28.—Unofficial information has reached the navy department that the British navy is mounting 18-inch guns on its new dreadnaughts. It was learned today. The guns fire a projectile weighing about 3,000 pounds and have a range of about 25 miles. It is understood the navy ordnance bureau does not consider the guns as effective as 16-inch guns which are being considered for use on the American dreadnaughts.

Spilled by the Exception. "How did you find your dinner when you came home late last night?" "Pretty good, except the course my wife introduced in the bill of fare of tongue served with hard sauce."—Bull's more American.

Papers in China. Papers published in China are reported as having several classes of readers, the first class being those who first purchase the papers at the subscription price. When these papers have been read and thrown away they are carefully gathered up and sold at a less price to a less prosperous element among the people, and from these, in turn, they are passed on down to the poorer classes, each paper, if it has lasted that long, thus finding three grades of readers.—Christian Herald.
