SPECIAL BLUE BIRD FEATURE FOR SUNDAY ONLY

GREAT PLAY

With newspapers everywhere devoting columns of space to the Mexican situation, politicians of all degree rending the air with arguments, and our citizen-soldiers and regular army camping on the trail of the "Greaser" along the border, the Bluebird photoplay to be exhibited at the Joy Theater on Sunday only may well be considered timeliness itself.

COLLEGE MEN IN THICK OF BIG POLITICAL FIGHT

Thousands of Hughes and Wilson Partisans Hustling For the Candidates.

One of the striking developments of this presidential campaign is the extraordinary interest which it has aroused among the college alumni all over the country.

There is, of course, keen rivalry between the opposing leagues. In many instances classmates who would not otherwise think of opposing each other have split on the question of candidates and are fighting tooth and nail for their respective sides.

In an interview recently John Hays Hammond, president of the National Republican league, said that the highest and most important duty of college men is to work in politics.

At Mother's Knee.

The home, the primitive and primary institution for the education of children, is still the most important agency for education for life—mental, moral, physical, industrial, economic, social, civic. The school is still only supplementary. Any agency therefore that would promote right education must effectually must find some means of co-operating with the home and of helping parents, who are the most constant and should be the most effective teachers of their children.—Elliander P. Claxton in New York Independent.

Meeting Well Attended—

The republican meeting held at Hugo Friday night was attended by a large audience that gave most respectful attention during the speaking, and that vigorously applauded the arguments advanced by the speakers.

A. C. Hough and R. G. Smith, campaigning especially in opposition to the republican legislative nominees, were billed to speak at Kerby last night. The men are not campaigning under the auspices of the democratic central committee, the committee having decided that it was not advisable to send Mr. Smith out upon the stump.

Wilson, of Portland, secretary, and T. M. Stott, auditor.

Shoots Son for Deer—

Mistaken for a deer while hunting on Forrest creek Friday afternoon, Gus Stone was shot in back of the right leg, just below the knee, by his father, for a deer—the second hunting accident of the deer season in Jackson county. Dr. Seely attended the wounded man, and the injury is not serious. The father and son were hunting, the son in advance of the father. While prowling through the brush, he was mistaken for a buck and stopped a bullet with his leg. The fact that the victim was on high ground, and bad aim, prevented a more serious accident.—Medford Sun.

Factory Pump Shaft Breaks—

Friday afternoon a shaft driving one of the main pumps in the sugar factory broke, causing a shutting down of the machinery till it could be repaired. A little later trouble was experienced with the pump that lifts water from the river to the reservoir, and the workmen were laid off during all of Friday night. Everything was working all right again Saturday morning. In the great mass of machinery connected with a sugar factory it is said that there are always a few instances of weaknesses in manufacture or flaws in material that will show up when the machines are first put in operation, but that serious trouble seldom occurs.

CHURCH LAME SPOT IS LACK OF PRAYER

"The great lame spot in church work is lack of prayer," asserted Evangelist Mathis at the tabernacle Friday night. He deplored the fact that actual personal relation with God was not persistently sought by His children. The speaker took for his text, "If ye abide in me and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will and it shall be done unto you."

Mr. Mathis was very earnest as he spoke of the great need for prayer in church life, and stated that without fervent prayer it was useless to attempt a revival, but with it every promise could rightfully be claimed. "We ask God for various things, and do not get them for the reason that we are obviously inconsistent—asking for something and then acting in such a manner that the object we pray for could not be brought to pass except through a miracle. God answers our prayers through our own intelligent endeavors to secure the object prayed for. O, that the spirit of prayer would take hold of the people of Grants Pass."
