KERBY

On Thursday evening a pleasant social party was had at the home of Mrs. Annie Coleman. Mrs. Coleman had invited the teachers Miss Hague and Miss Robinson with some other young ladies to dinner, and a surprise party of some half dozen or more married people came in about the time the young ladies were thinking of taking their departure. Mrs. Coleman was equal to the occasion, however, and would not hear to them going for some time. A little later another feast was spread and a good social time was enjoyed by all.

On Saturday night a republican rally was held at the W. O. W. hall, followed by a public free dance. Several candidates were present to address the audience, but the sentiment was general that Mrs. Gunnell carried off the palm as a genuine political campaign speaker. Her advocacy of Charles Evans Hughes for the presidency was pronounced to be strong and convincing.

A copy of the Alaskan Daily News of October 9 contains the announcement of the marriage of Irvin Lewis and Tracy Stith, at Juneau, on the 28th of October. Miss Stith recently left Kerby for Juneau. Now is the explanation. "May they live long, prosper and be happy," is the wish of all Kerby friends.

Quincy Woodcock and Evelyn Chapman are the new pupils enrolled during the last week at school.

A new installment of about 20 volumes for the public school library was received last week.

The Rebekah lodge is preparing for some initiatory work at their next regular meeting, on Saturday night of this week, also a reinstatement.

Mrs. Will Wimer, of Grants Pass, made a visit with friends in Kerby this week and being registered in this precinct cast her vote for president here.

Colored.

Jones had just returned from his annual trip in his yacht and was recounting his experiences.

"I never saw such a storm in all my life."

"Pardon me, my friend; since you saw the storm no doubt you can tell us what color it was."

"Certainly. The wind blew and the storm raged."—Chit Ago News

DRYDEN

A Halloween box social was held at the Dryden school house October 30, and every one enjoyed a good time. Two of the most interesting features of the evening were the fortune teller and her booth of firs outside by the bonfire, and the jack o'lantern contest, which was held for the little boys and girls. This social, which brought in $23 net, was held for the benefit of the Sunday school Christmas tree.

Martin Williams made a trip to Kerby for lumber last week.

J. H. Thomas and E. C. Bryan were in Kerby a week ago Wednesday. Chauncey Messenger and family left last week for the mines, where they intend to spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Thomas, spent Saturday and Sunday visiting with E. C. Bryan and family at the Sauers place.

Maurice Sauers left here Thursday with a flock of sheep, which he took to Glendale.

Lawyer Johnston, from Grants

Pass, spent the last few days of the deer season hunting in this valley and visiting with Clarence Messenger.

FOOTS CREEK

Mrs. Will Coverdale, Mrs. Geo. Woodcock, Misses Elsie Coverdale, Luzine Woodcock, and Master Elvert Coverdale were callers in Rogue River several days ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Poyer, of Birdsays creek, visited friends in Portland last week.

There was a dance at the Malone home last Saturday night.

The Contrary Day.

Jes' when I say, "This day I'll rise an' thank God for the sun," the clouds come creepin' round the skies, an' down the raindrops run! The gloom comes in the windows, the wind is like a mean; the fire sorter flickers, an' the house looks lost and lone. A shadow in the shadows, with nothin' bright in view, I see hard times a-comin'—hear the note a-fallin' due! But jes' when I'm the saddest, an' I think my day is done, I feel a sunbeam, an' it says, "Now thank God for the sun!"—At Ianta Constitution.

Discounting a Promise.

The Smith family missed the grocer $40. He accordingly shut down on all supplies. The Smith family then promised to pay $5.00 account on Saturday night. Then, but not till then, the grocer would consent to resume relations.

Well, nothing was heard of the Smith family for two days. Two days later, on a Thursday morning, little Millie Smith turned up with a market basket at the grocery and said:

"Say, Mr. Prunes, mom says will you let her have two slices of ham and a pound of coffee out of that there five spot she's promised ye for Saturday!"—Detroit Free Press.

THE WAY TO SUCCESS.

It is the man who carefully pegs his way up step by step, with his mind becoming wider and wider and progressively better able to grasp any situation, persevering in what he knows to be practical and concentrating his thought upon it, who is bound to succeed in the greatest degree.—Alexander Graham Bell.

Facts About the Dollar.

When you break a dollar the pieces disappear mysteriously.

A dollar spent is far smaller than a dollar saved.

Doubling a dollar is far better than dividing it.

A dollar thrown away can never again be found.

A borrowed dollar is never so big as a dollar lent.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Wasting Time.

"Time is the most precious thing we have, and yet there's not one of us who doesn't waste it as if it were of no value whatever."

"You're right about that, old man. I don't suppose there's a day goes by that I don't spend half an hour or more trying to convince my wife that she is spending more money than we can afford."—New York World.
