Home From Monarch Mine—

J. S. Windell, who spent the past three months at the Monarch mine on Palmer creek, arrived home Wednesday to spend a few days with his family and looking after business matters. The Monarch mine is 50 miles from Grants Pass and about 13 miles from Ruch, and during the winter the snow was so deep that operations were suspended until late in March. While the Monarch is a quartz proposition and is equipped with a Gibson mill, sluicing plays a prominent part, and the decomposed quartz is sluiced in order to remove all clay and the country rock, the clean up from the sluice boxes being considerable. This property, although some of the ore runs as high as $300 per ton, is considered a low grade proposition. It is owned by Torney & Windell.

How Byron Fought Fat.

Poetry and a too pronounced plumpness do not harmonize well, and no one was more widely awake to this fact than Lord Byron. Many were the means he adopted for ridding himself of his unwelcome "adipose deposit."

In a letter to his solicitor he says: "I wear seven waistcoats and a great coat, run and play cricket in this dress till quite exhausted by excessive perspiration, use the bath daily, eat only a quarter of a pound of butcher's meat in twenty-four hours. By these means my ribs display skin of no great thickness and my clothes have all been taken in nearly half a yard."—London Telegraph.

105 YOUNG WOMEN IN HONOR GUARD

The assembly room of the Chamber of Commerce was filled to overflowing with patriotic citizens who gathered Tuesday evening to discuss the plan for organization of a branch of the Girls' National Honor Guard. The meeting was called to order by the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and Miss Kathryn Ryan was elected chairman. Mayor Truax and Rev. L. M. Booser made addresses that were filled with patriotic utterance, and Miss Cox was heard in solo and Mrs. Dyer in a reading.

When an expression was called from the young women present, 105 responded by signing their names to the roll, to constitute the membership when organization is completed. A committee of seven members on organization was authorized, this committee to consist of Miss Juanita Parker, Miss Genevieve Pattillo, Miss Alma Wolke, Miss Mary Jenkins, Mrs. Rodney Calvert, Miss Patterson and Miss Ryan. Arrangements for permanent organization will be made through the head office at Portland, when permanent officers will be elected.

Girls who enlist under the banner of the Honor Guard may choose from three branches of service. One branch is of first aid to the wounded upon the field, a second is aid to the families of the soldiers, and the third is of general utility. The latter includes service as telegraphers, telephone operators, and like activities. Those who enroll in the Guard select the branch preferred, and also state whether or not they are eligible for duty away from home.

POLK'S OREGON AND WASHINGTON GAZETTEER

Business Directory for 1917-18 Improved to Meet Requirements of Steadily Growing Community

R. L. Polk & Co., have just issued the 1917-18 edition of the Oregon and Washington Gazetteer and Business Directory, which is the only work of the kind published. It contains an accurate Business Directory of every city, town and village in Oregon and Washington, and the names and addresses of country merchants, professional men, lumbermen, etc., who are located adjacent to villages; also lists of government and county officers, state boards, statutory provisions, names of courts, terms of court, names of post offices, express, telephone and telegraph offices, justices of the peace, hotels, daily and weekly newspapers, besides much other information useful to all classes of business and professional men.

A descriptive sketch of each place is given, embracing various items of interest, such as location, population, distance to different points, the most convenient shipping stations, the products that are marketed, stage communications, trade statistics and churches.

An important feature is the Classified Directory, giving every business arranged under its special heading, thus enabling subscribers to obtain at a glance a list of all houses manufacturing or dealing in any particular line of goods. Beginning with this edition, the street address in all the large towns is shown in this list.

The work is compiled to meet the wants of the business community, and merits its support.

Enlistments for the army at the local recruiting office are continuing with unabated patriotism, and the officers are kept busy making the new members of Uncle Sam's fighters ready to take up arms against a foreign foe. Those who have been accepted today, and who will leave tonight, are as follows: George Campbell, Nijah Roberts, Clement Baker, Waldo Wallace, Arthur Tanner, Royal Carter, Ben Lichtenberger, John Moloney, Bert Coffenberry, Orin Rath, Allols Pimperl, Eugene Kelly, Ray Bailey, Claude Smith and Eldon Woolfolk.

OBITUARY

J. E. Cogeshall

Death has again entered the ranks of the civil war veterans of this city and taken from their midst one of the honored members, J. G. Cogeshall, aged 71 years 10 months and 26 days. Mr. Cogeshall was born at Bath, Ill., May 15, 1845, and died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Alex Brown, Wednesday morning, April 11, after an illness of five days, the cause being senile debility.

Mr. Cogeshall enlisted in 1861 in Co. H, 32d Ill. Infantry, and was discharged in 1862 for disability, but re-enlisted in Co. L, 139th Ill. Vol. Infantry, and won the sergeant stripes. His wife died 32 years ago, and 24 years ago he removed to Oregon, settling with his children in Medford and later at Williams. For the past 13 years he has resided at 301 West Rogue River Ave. He is survived by four children, Mrs. Nellie Brown of this city, Mrs. Ada B. Kincaid, Williams; Miss Bess Cogeshall, Twin Falls, Ida., and Harry E. Cogeshall, Seattle; and by 11 grand children, Mrs. R. S. Bush of this city being one of them.

TO THE PUBLIC

Rumors of cases of measles not being properly isolated or quarantined have come to my notice. The law provides that all cases of contagious diseases shall be reported to the Health Officer. Any person knowing of a case of contagious disease and not reporting the same is practically a violator of the law. Parents sending their children suffering with a contagious disease to school or other public place are guilty of violating this law and should be prosecuted.

Instead of making this a matter of gossip all cases of contagious diseases should be immediately reported to the Health Officer. This officer will make an investigation and quarantine immediately all contagious cases.

The Health Officer solicits the cooperation of every citizen in this matter.

F. D. STRICKER, Health Officer.
