REPORT TELLS OF FIGHT

General Gregory says the department of justice has utilized its full energy.

Several of the great anti-trust cases, previously begun, notably the International Harvester and steel suits are still in the supreme court.

The attorney general devotes much of his report to informing congress of the steps he has taken to carry out the measures against enemy aliens. They include co-operation of federal marshals and troops with local authorities, and go into the legal procedure in great detail.

REYNOLDS TO LEAD LOCAL BOY SCOUTS

D. B. Reynolds was last night installed as scoutmaster of the Grants Pass Troop No. 1, Boy Scouts of America, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Benj. C. Sheldon who shortly leaves for the east.

The selection of Mr. Reynolds was fortunate and the boys are to be congratulated upon their good fortune in securing his services. As much of the scout work has to do with camping, hiking, and general out-of-door life, Mr. Reynolds is particularly well qualified to lead in this work. His association with the U. S. forestry department has particularly fitted him for the work.

"It will be the finest day of my life when I can conclude peace."

For a long time Clawson has been thirsting to tell Blobskins that he and George Washington had nothing in common, but had never found an opportunity. One day, however, they met at the academy and stood together gazing at a lovely little statue.

"Ah," he said, "this is 'Truth'." Waving a hand toward the statue, he said: "Truth, allow me to present my friend Mr. Blobskins. I feel sure you two have never met before."—London Answers.
