"Thrilling"

Critics Disagree on "Come Through"

THESE SAY IT'S GREAT

Harriette Underhill, New York Tribune: "One is appalled by so much cleverness."
 "Zit," N. Y. Journal: "Remarkably thrilling . . . wonderfully entertaining. . . The best suspense drama New York has had for years."
 T. E. Olliphant, New York Eve. Mail: "The best screen melodrama the Broadway has seen this season."
 John Logan, New York Herald: "There is punch to the play."
 Russell B. Porter, New York World: "Realism in every foot."
 Steve Rathbun, New York Eve. Sun: "The plot? Tut, tut. It's there, so why worry? Come through yourself."
 Jos. C. Reddy, N. Y. Morning Telegraph: "With a punch and a dash that should make it a success."
 Victor Watson, N. Y. American: "The melodrama thrills; there is a veritable murrain of events."
 (Note—Whatever a murrain is, we hope the censors won't cut it out.)
 Robert G. Welch, N. Y. Eve. Telegram: "The latest and best crook play of the film."

THESE SAY IT'S ROTTEN

WE MAINTAIN

that the critics in the right-hand column don't know what they're talking about. And you'll agree with us absolutely when you go to the Broadway Theatre any day at 2:30 or 4:30 or any night at 8:30 and see "Come Through." The Broadway Theatre is on Broadway at 41st street. And it may or may not interest you to know that it is under the management of Stanley V. Mastbaum. We are permitted to add that "Come Through" is produced and presented by the Universal Film Manufacturing Company.
