ATTEMPT DESTROY FISH FLEET

Six Submarines Reported Operating on Atlantic Coast—Destroyers Rushing North

An Atlantic Port, Aug. 21.—The German submarine yesterday seized the big fishing trawler Triumph. The members of the crew who reached shore said they believed the Germans intended to use the ship as a raider to destroy the fishing fleet on the grand banks. Several other fishing vessels are reported sunk, their crews reaching land.

The submarine captain told a member of the crew of the Triumph that there were six submarines operating along the coast with the intention of destroying the fishing fleets.

Washington, Aug. 21.—Strong forces of swift patrol boats and submarine destroyers are speeding to the north Atlantic fishing banks, where the trawler Triumph is reported seized by a raider.

JAPANESE SOCIALISTS INCITING RICE RIOTS

Tokio, Aug. 21.—Many serious clashes have occurred, and rice riot disturbances are continuing. Socialists are said to have incited the mobs.

Washington, Aug. 21.—Profiteering on a great scale is the cause of the unrest and rioting in Japan, according to an explanation in official quarters here. Not only wholesalers and middlemen dealing in food products and especially in rice, but even Japanese farmers who grow the grain have been holding back their stores and demanding greatly inflated prices. Now that the Japanese government has seized these stores of rice preparatory to distributing them to the people at reasonable prices, it is believed here, the popular discontent will be allayed.

FINLAND WILL ALLOW PASSAGE OF AMERICANS

Offensive Accomplished Without Artillery Preparation and is Complete Surprise to Enemy—French Continue to Advance, Threatening Fall of Noyon

London, Aug. 21.—The British today launched an offensive on a 10-mile front between Arras and Albert, and advanced between 2 and 3 miles taking three towns and several hundred prisoners in the first hour.

With the British Army, Aug. 21.—General Haig's offensive today was between high ground in the north near Adinfer and Moyenneville and Puisseauxmont on the south. The British took the towns of Abjaizeville, Beaucourt and Moyenneville.

The British attacked all German outposts along Dranoutre ridge between Koudekot and Loerehoplice on the Lys salient and later captured Conreelles Achiet-le-Petit and Achiet-le-Grand. The attack was made without artillery preparation and was completely successful. The British third army under General Byng, is making the attack.

London, Aug. 21.—Reports of the capture of Achiet-le-Grand are not absolutely confirmed.

The Germans attacked the British south of the Scarpe river today, but were entirely defeated.

British Headquarters, Aug. 21.—Among the orders which were issued by a German commander and which were secured from a German captive, state, "Men on leave have spoken publicly of a revolution which is to break out after the war. This objectionable talk must be dealt with without hesitation."

With the British Army, Aug. 21.—Today's attack was a tactical surprise, though German prisoners said it had been expected all week. Tanks and infantry started the advance at 5 o'clock, a heavy night mist enabling the British to advance undisturbed at first. The German defense was weak in places.

Paris, Aug. 21.—The French today reached a point near the village of Pontoise, two and four-tenths miles from Noyon. They have also reached Tanelin and are advancing with unrelenting pressure.

The French have advanced three miles today on the Oise river, reaching Sempigny, one mile from the outskirts of Noyon. General Mangin's line at 2 o'clock this afternoon ran from Sempigny to Pontoise, thence to Lapommeraye, Montchoisy, Cuts, Camelin, Hierancourt, Stambin, Mont-du-Croquet farm, Vesapoin, Bleuxy and Laval, and reached the Aisne river at Courtil.

Paris, Aug. 21.—The French continued to advance along the whole front between the Oise and the Aisne today. They have captured Carlepont and Cutatok, and ground west of Lassigny. The attack threatens the fall of Noyon, which is slowly being outflanked.

Paris, Aug. 21.—The French have captured Vezaponin and are on the plateau east of Tartiers. From that point the line is uncertain, but the French are progressing toward Camellit.

The Germans are making stiff resistance at Hill 160, which is east of Le Meunil. The advance is over most difficult ground, but the attack is still proceeding.

FALL OF THE RED GUARD FORTRESS UNDER ATTACK OF CZECHO-SLOVAKS

Vladivostok, July 2.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Three thousand, Bolshevik Red Guards entrenched themselves in the fortress here and defended themselves with furious fighting when the Czecho-Slovaks took over the command of the city on June 29. The Red Guards were aided by 50 Magyars and German prisoners of war.

The Czecho-Slovaks had surrounded the fortress and placed machine guns on the roof of the British consulate and on the roof of the railway station near by. They called upon the Bolsheviks in the fortress to surrender but the Red Guards shot down their messengers. Immediately the machine guns opened fire and for two hours a stream of bullets rained on the fortress. So fast and furious was the firing that the men in the fortress were unable to return the fire from its windows. Suddenly there was a tremendous explosion. A Czecho had crawled near the fortress under the fire barrage and thrown a mine into the building. A white flag appeared at one of the windows, a party of Czechs rushed to the main entrance of the fortress, burst open by a hand grenade. The Bolsheviks threw down their arms and surrendered.

In this conflict the Czecho-Slovaks lost four men, with 15 wounded, while of their opponents 149 had been killed and wounded. Thus, in the course of a few hours, the all-powerful Soviet had been overthrown and its delegates arrested, its military staff overpowered by force of arms, and its army of Red Guards had either surrendered or thrown away their arms and dispersed without fighting.

When the local Bolsheviks had decided to disarm them on June 30, the Czecho-Slovaks forced all this action by presenting an ultimatum to the Soviet demanding the disarmament of the Red Guards on the ground that it was necessary to safeguard the transport of the Czecho-Soviet forces from Russia.

When the Soviets refused to comply with the ultimatum orders were given to arrest these delegates and all of the prominent Bolsheviks. War flags were hoisted on foreign warships in the harbor. Four Soviet torpedo boats attempted to put to sea but were stopped and surrendered to officers of a Japanese cruiser.

The British and Japanese cruisers landed additional forces and aided the Czecho-Slovaks in occupying all important points including the powder magazine. Strong forces of Japanese with machine guns, British marines and Czecho-Slovaks lined the main streets. All traffic was stopped. The streets were thronged with people and all business was suspended. Materials were landed from a Chinese cruiser to protect the Chinese consulate and residents. Arrests of the Bolsheviks were rapidly made and each was greeted with the cheers of the people.

Then came the fighting at the fortress. Now the Czecho-Slovaks are the military masters of the town. The British, American, French, Japanese and Chinese consulates are guarded by their own national forces, respectively, except that the French consulate is guarded by the Japanese. A small party of American marines landed from the Brooklyn on the evening of June 29.

BUCKINGHAM LAWNS YIELD PLACE TO POTATO CROP

London, Aug. 21.—The 1918 potato crop in Victoria gardens in front of Buckingham palace promises to be a great success. The potatoes are in beds which until 1917 were devoted to flowers on both sides of The Mall where it reaches the palace grounds entrance.

King George and Queen Mary both have taken much interest in them. The queen recently inspected the "potato-patch" with John Robert Clynes, parliamentary secretary of the ministry of food, who had been a guest at the palace.

He has two older brothers at the front, and they all enlisted a year ago last spring.

BRITISH WOMEN ENGAGED IN MAKING TANK PARTS

London, Aug. 21.—British women have proved their ability in the making of "tank" parts, and in one factory the whole process of tank manufacture is now carried out by women, says Miss Anderson, inspector of factories.

Shipyard work is considered by inspectors as "hard but healthy" while others see the same benefit to women in the heavy work of steel and iron works, blast furnaces, brick works and spelter works. A foreman in charge of a blast furnace said he would be willing to undertake any ferro-concrete work with women only.

Representatives from practically every county in the state were present. Definite plans for the Fourth Liberty loan campaign have been prepared and within the next few days we will perfect the organization of Josephine county."

"While the campaign will not open until September 29 we are preparing to complete our work and have the county's quota subscribed by voluntary subscriptions by 10 o'clock on the morning the campaign opens. To accomplish this result, our entire forces will be organized and all applications will be in the hands of the banks not later than September 27, so that a definite report may be submitted to the state central committee and the federal reserve bank at San Francisco before noon September 28.
