THE CONTAGION OF VICTORY The whole world has been struck with the new fighting spirit shown by the French and British army in to numerical superiority alone on the battle front. Their primary cause has been rejuvenation of the allied armies. The French and Brit ish troops are fighting now with the fresh spirit of 1914, aided by all the experience gained in four years

That long grind had wearled them. It was an army of well trained and brave soldiers that General Foch took over when he assumed the ailied command, but it was also a stale, discouraged army. No ag for so long, in a war of deferred hope and retain their pristine vigor. They do not weaken, if they are made of such stuff as our allies; but they lose much of their ambition, their eagerness, their zest for battle. They fight passively and philosophically. They are hard to defeat, but they are unuggressive. They have lost their punch.

Why this sudden change in allied morale? The answer, by this time is obvious. It was the American who restored that lost punch. And it was not so much by their own victories as by their contagious enthuslasm. This fact is made very plain by the big British war critic, Major General Maurice.

"It is not by any means only by the numerical reinforcement which America has brought into the field,' he says, "that she has helped turn the scale. It would be impossible to overrate the value of the infusion of fresh and vigorous life into the allies' rank in the fifth year of the war, when there is a natural tendency for those who have borne the heat and burden of the war to be come stale. The Americans emanat keenness and vitality which is infect lous, while their fresh outlook upon the questions which to us have be come stale by long use, and their racy fashion of expressing their views, are most inspiring."

So we find our erstwhile tired allies fighting again with the reckless dash of our own lads, to whom the war is a holy Crusade and a fascinating adventure. And we find a Toronto paper commenting joyfully on the fact that British soldiers now advance to the charge cheering.

Public Is Invited to Aid Campaign to Find Needed Nurses for War Work

By VERNON I. LEROY, Chines

The graduate nurses of America are coming to the aid of army and navy, in response to the call of Surgeons General Gorgas and Braisted. Twenty-five a day are enrolling in Chicago alone, and proportionate numbers in other centers. In addition, letters are pouring in from all points asking how to proceed.

The nurses themselves will enlist. Getting them is the easiest part

Another problem is to get young women to enter training schools to prepare themselves to fill the places left vacant by nurses going into service. It is proposed to open training schools for nurses at various army camps where the students will have ample experience. Later they will be sent to civil hospitals for graduation.

The greatest task of all is to make the public understand that its part in the nurses' campaign is very important. The public must supply these student nurses—they are the sisters and daughters of the people The public must also learn to get along with less nursing, to let just as many nurses as possible go into service or into the hospitals where they are vitally necessary.

Army and navy, government officers and the heads of nursing bureaus all are calling on the people to back up the Red Cross and help to enroll the 25,000 nurses which must be had this year for our fighting men; and to build up a reserve for the other thousands that must be had for the years of war which may yet face us.

FOOD WILL WIN WAR

"Who Will Win This Battle?"

Your kidneys are the alters of the body.

1420,527,23

If they become inactive and fail to elliminate the waste matter, they are apt to throw the whole mechanism of the body out of order, thus toxic poisons can accumulate in the system and be as deadly as snake venom.

Besides causing the minor allments of cheumatism, sciatica, lumbago and backache, neglect of the kidneys is apt to develop into more serious diseases, such as diabetes or stone in the bladder.

9,060.52 Rid the body of toxic poisons—clean the bladder and kidneys and cure the 6,528.96 twinges of rheumatism with An-u-ric and you win the battle of life.

Anuric was first discovered by Dr. Pierce, 62,070.61 and has benefited thousands of sufferers as well as appeased and eliminated the 10,000.00 ravages of the more serious kidney discases. Now procurable at any good drug store, or send direct to Dr. V. M. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 10 cents for trial package, MRS. B. G. COKER says: "When I com-

MRS. B. G. COKER says: "When I commenced the treatment of Anuric I was in bad shape. My back ached all the time and oh! how my back would ache at night until I would have to get up. I could never sleep all night. But since I have taken the Amric Tableta my backache is all gone and I csn lie down and sleep good and sound all night. Oh! how much better I do feel—no one knows but myself. My advice to all sofferers of kidney troubles is to give Anuric a trial and they will find relief from their trouble."
