OREGON WEATHER

Fair, gentle northeasterly winds.

THE TEACHER MASTERED

The Prussians, self-styled "super-men," have reached that point from whence they can no longer teach the pupils in soldiery. When the Turks, fighting desperately, were being beaten back, the kaiser rushed German troops to their assistance and saved the day.

At the beginning of the war the Austrians were rapidly being defeated by the Russians, when the Germans came to their rescue and showed their hand as master fighters. They did their work well. The Russians who were not driven into the Mazurian swamps and massacred were driven back pell-mell into their own country.

THE SPEAR-HEAD

With the Germans standing more resolutely, and the main battle-front come, for the moment, to a comparative standstill, there is eager speculation as to Foch's next move.

It is unthinkable that Foch, master of offensive fighting, will tolerate even a short lull in the great pursuit. Stopped by obstacles, his policy heretofore has always been to go around them, whereupon they melt away. It is thought that he may now be planning one of his boldest strokes—possibly a big surprise attack on Cambrai, Lille or St. Quentin, comparable to his drive against the western side of the Marne salient in July, or Pershing's late victory at St. Mihiel.

If he does, there is little doubt as to what troops will deal the blow. Foch has a "spear-head" composed of more than 1,000,000 thoroughly trained Americans, eager for a big drive of their own. If Foch hurries them at the German line, what a smash there will be.

Some one has said: "If one of our boys hesitated as long in going over the top as some people do in buying Liberty bonds or war savings stamps he would be court-martialed and shot for cowardice. And if the same punishment were meted out to noncombatants for financial cowardice an awful lot of people would be shot at dawn."

Those in charge of the fuel situation say: "Start furnace and kitchen range fires as late as possible. Forget the first few cool fall days." That's fine advance from a fuel conservation viewpoint, but there is no surer way on earth to catch a rip-snorter of a cold.

The office girl remarks that it is about time for Kaiser Bill to cut his throat. No chance—Bill has no more nerve than Nero—and Nero would never have cut his own throat if one of his soldiers hadn't pushed the knife.

One thing is certain: The longer the war lasts the deeper will hatred for Germany and everything German be planted in the American breast.

TO CARE FOR SOLDIERS AFTER THE WAR IS OVER

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 16.—As the result of a conference held here recently between state agricultural officials of California, Washington and Oregon, and Idaho state officials, it has been decided that Idaho will join with other western states in urging upon congress the desirability of uniform legislation to provide for establishment of returned soldiers upon public lands.

THE POSE EXPOSED

First Sammie—Writing home? The new Sammie—Yes! I'm telling the folks I have at last discovered why Napoleon is always represented with his hand plunged inside his coat.

First Sammie—Well, what's the reason? The new Sammie—You'll know all right when you've slept on straw in a French stable and heard the coo-teys sing. —Cartoons Magazine.

CARD OF THANKS

The G. A. R. and W. R. C. of the local post and corps wishes to thank each friend individually and collectively that so willingly promised a number in last Friday night's program in the camping grounds. We hope to retain each number for a future program. The splendid entertainment on Thursday night—which was to have been "Medford Day"—was given by E. E. Blanchard and Dr. Blanchard in addresses, song and story. The musical numbers by Mr. and Mrs. Kellog and Mrs. Hanson, a most delightful program.

BUYS $50,000 WORTH OF FOURTH LOAN BONDS

The Oregon Life Insurance company, through their district manager, A. B. Cornell, started the subscriptions for the Fourth Liberty loan with $1,000 for Josephine county. Mr. Cornell advises that the company has bought $50,000 of the Fourth Liberty loan bonds which are to be placed with the counties of the state of Oregon. The manner of distribution is very commendable and should be an example for other insurance companies doing business in the state.

Remember the 18th.

AT THE MOVIES

Elsie Ferguson to Be Shown at Joy
Many modern photoplays and stage productions, as well as books, deal with the fall of woman, but few deal with her rise. "The Rise of Jennie Cushing" is an exception.

In this production, which is one of Arcraft's best, we meet again that talented stage star, Elsie Ferguson, who enacts the title role, and who, with her wonderful ability, and charming personality is able to portray all phases of Jennie Cushing's life, from that of a street urchin to that of social position.

Like all well regulated and well ordered stories, whether on the printed page or on the moving celluloid, this too has its love story, but it is a love story of the unexpected sort. The sweethearts do not do all of the things which you expect them to do, but do some of the things which you do not expect and therein lies a large part of the interest.

"The Rise of Jennie Cushing" is an exceptional film. Viewed as a dramatic offering the photoplay will never please the most critical, as Miss Ferguson is ably supported by a carefully selected cast of popular players.

The photography is exquisitely Arcraft, and the settings are accurate and staged without regard to cost. In addition, however, the story is one that will long be remembered by the public, for it teaches a lesson of charity and human uplift, planting a wholesome thought when the whole world is at war and intent on destroying each other.

OLD SOLDIER WRITES TRIBUTE TO OLD GLORY

In former years one of the most enjoyable features of the annual reunions of the southern Oregon soldiers and sailors reunion was the Civil war, music of the "Drum Corps." Comrades White, Adams and Myers. Age and illness have disbanded the "corps" with the exception of Comrade White, the "poet" of the association, who always at the close, gave the events of the week in rhyme. The following tribute to "Old Glory" was composed at the close of the 26th annual reunion which will doubtless be the last ever held in Grants Pass.

THE FOLDS OF OLD GLORY

Fling out the flag, fling out the flag, It's folds are sheltering you and me From every mountain peak and crag. For all and forever beyond the sea.

Old Glory you wave in far distant nations, Pure and unsullied thy colors are known, For freedom and right in all earth's habitations, Wherever man dwelleth thy glory hath flown.

Dear to our hearts this emblem of freedom Moistened with tears of this nation so grand, While mountains of sighs escape against treason, And sad hearted mothers are filling the land.

Floating on the boys that go to this war, Father give them the victory, give them a chance— Encircle them all as it did the G. A. R., And bless all the mothers, whose sons are in France. —E. E. WHITE, Ashland, Ore.
