Dixie volunteers.
Don't be anybody's soldier boy but mine.
Don't bite the hand that's feeding you.
Don't leave me daddy.
Don't try to steal the sweetheart of a soldier.
Don't turn the smiles to tears.
Don't worry dearie.
Don't you hear me calling, dear?
Do you sometime think of me.
Down the sunset trail to avalon.
Dreamy days of long ago.
Dreamy moon.
Drifting along.
Each stitch is a thought of you dear.
Early in the morning down on the farm.
Eileen.

WHAT TO DO IF YOU HAVE SPANISH "FLU"

1. If you get a cold, go to bed in a well ventilated room. Keep warm.
2. Keep away from other people. Do not kiss any one.
3. Use individual basins and knives, forks, spoons, towels, handkerchiefs, soap; wash plates and cups.
4. Every case of influenza should go to bed at once under the care of a physician. The patient should stay in bed at least three days after fever has disappeared and until convalescence is well established.
5. The patient must not cough or sneeze except when a mask or handkerchief is held before the face.
6. He should be in a warm, well ventilated room.
7. There is no specific for the disease. Symptoms should be met as they arise.
8. The great danger is from pneumonia. Avoid it by staying in bed while actually ill and until convalescence is fully established.
9. The after effects of influenza are worse than the disease. Take care of yourself.
10. Strictly observe the state and city rules and regulations for the control of influenza.

Influenza in 1890—

It is said by some who have been investigating this supposed new disease that it is identical with the influenza which many will remember became epidemic in the '90's. Sabin the Druggist was in business during this period in Fargo, North Dakota. He says that Genl. Capehart, a prominent physician of that city, prescribed with wonderful success as a preventative a combination of Guaiac Resin, which he used also in treatment of quinsy and tonsillitis. Mr. Sabin secured the privilege of putting this prescription on the market and many of his customers have used it for years, both there and in Grants Pass, under the name he gave it, "Sore Throat Antidote." This preparation is antiseptic and not poisonous. 86

47,000 ESCAPE FROM CAPTIVITY OF TURKS

London, Oct. 11.—Mesopotamian dispatches received here record the arrival inside the British lines of 47,000 Assyrian, Armenian and Russian refugees from Uruliah, Persian Armenia, who broke through the Turkish front and escaped.

Another 10,000 refugees, according to dispatches are distributed in Kurdistan towns or are wandering in the hills. The Turks pursued them, but were driven back by British cavalry.

CAMBRAI SUFFERS HEAVILY AT HAND OF THE HUN

With the Canadian Forces in France, Oct. 10.—Cambrai today is a smoking ruin. The Germans have probably never perpetrated a more ruthless nor more premeditated vandalism than this destruction of Cambrai. "France can never forget nor forgive this," remarked a French officer. "Torch in hand, the enemy comes offering us peace."

Somewhere in France there is an American boy fighting for you. Have you proved yourself worth his wonderful effort by finishing his socks on time?

SOLDIER LETTERS

The following letters are from Corp. Earl Wallace of the American expeditionary Forces, to his mother, Mrs. T. O. Wallace:

Dear mother: I have been looking for a letter from you for some time but have been disappointed. I am not sure whether or not there is delay in mail or you folks just neglect to write. Letters over here mean more to the soldiers than people think. It wasn't so bad in England because you could talk to everybody, but here if you don't know French or Chinese you are out of luck. I had to laugh today at a chink going across the flying field. He had on a heavy overcoat with a straw hat and over one shoulder was his rain coat, in one hand he carried his umbrella, while in the other hand he had a teapot and a pet canary in a cage—some combination wasn't it? and hot gee I should say it was. There is several hundred of them here and their makeups are great.

This field is about four miles from town so don't get to go there very much, expect to though Sunday. This one particular place looks almost exactly like Grants Pass. The soil is granite with lots of scrubby pines scatter around, but I think they are artificial like most all of the trees in these countries. Most all of the crops they raise here though are grapes, and wheat and the French are great farmers. The things that interested me most is Uncle Sam's railroads over here. We even have a lot of our own cars, while a lot of the locomotives are American. It sure seems funny to see a French engine and one of ours in the same train. It reminds me of Mutt and Jeff. I have met several boys from Grants Pass since coming over here, among they Ernest Frye, Clement Baker and one of the Hannum boys is here, but I have been unable to see him so far.

Well, mother it is time to go to bed as I hear the bugle call of "lights out."

Your loving son, EARL.

PORTLAND GATHERINGS ARE ORDERED TO CEASE

Portland, Oct. 11.—Portland today stands closed for public gatherings, as a result of the threatened spread of Spanish influenza in this section. Public meetings, schools and places of amusement are closed down by order of the mayor and at the suggestion of the surgeon-general of the public health service of the United States.

BRITISH MAKE SWIFT DRIVE

General Allenby was still driving Ottoman troops northward in Palestine.

So lightning-like are the maneuvers of the allies' armies on the various fronts—from the North sea to Verdun, in Macedonia and in Palestine—that, except to the war expert with his military maps constantly before him, it is almost impossible to visualize the situation and realize the swift strides the allies are making in defeating the common enemy.

In France and Belgium in three week five important cities, which had been in German hands for four years, have been recaptured. Dixmude, Armentieres, Lens, Cambrai and St. Quentin are now in allied hands, while Lille, Douai and Valenciennes seemingly are all but captured. Serbia shortly is to be fully reclaimed, and the Turks soon will know the Holy Land no more.

Paris, Oct. 11.—British troops reached Le Chateau yesterday. The Germans offered stubborn resistance at various positions, while at other points they gave up without the semblance of a fight.
