RED CROSS NOTES

Peach stones. Prune pits. Plum pits. Olive pits. Cherry pits. Date seeds. Brazil nut shells. Hickory nut shell. Walnut shell. Butternut shells.

We need these now. Before depositing they should be thoroughly dried in an oven or in the sun.

Two hundred peach pits or seven pounds of nut shells will produce enough carbon for one gas mask.

Cooking does not destroy the carbon.

Please leave at C. H. Demaray's Drug Store.

MRS. H. H. ALLYN, Chairman.

As the rummage sale has been found to be one of the most satisfactory and successful ways of raising funds for the Red Cross, such a sale will be held November 9. It will be in charge of the same committees that managed the first two rummage sales for the Red Cross. Be looking up your articles that still have a money value and that you no longer need or have use for. 87

OREGON MAKES ANOTHER BIG NATIONAL RECORD

Robert E. Smith, campaign manager for the Fourth Liberty loan for the state of Oregon, is in receipt of a telegram from the federal reserve bank in San Francisco showing that Oregon has made another "over the top" record in support of the war activities, says the Roseburg Review. In the purchase of federal reserve certificates, every bank in Oregon purchased its quota, up to last Tuesday. This is the second time Oregon has made a 100 per cent record in this respect. In the last series of the purchases of these securities reached the remarkable total of 185 per cent. This smashes all state and national records in this line. These certificates are carried by the banks in order to supply current funds during the periods between the placing of the Liberty loans. These instances again show that Oregon is 100 per cent patriotic, "and then some."
