UNCLE SAM'S ADVICE ON FLU

all-around foods obtainable for adults as well as children. So far as a disease like influenza is concerned, health authorities everywhere recognize the very close relation between its spread and overcrowded homes. While it is not always possible, especially in times like the present, to avoid such overcrowding, people should consider the health danger and make every effort to reduce the home overcrowding to a minimum. The value of fresh air through open windows cannot be over emphasized.

"When crowding is unavoidable, as in street cars, care should be taken to keep the face so turned as not to inhale directly the air breathed out by another person.

"It is especially important to be aware of the person who coughs or sneezes without covering his mouth and nose. It also follows that one should keep out of crowds and stuffy places as much as possible, keep homes, offices and workshops well aired, spend some time out of doors each day, walk to work if at all practicable—in short, make every possible effort to breathe as much pure air as possible.

"In all health matters follow the advice of your doctor and obey the regulations of your local and state health officers."

"Cover up each cough and sneeze. If you don't you'll spread disease."

SOLVES LABOR PROBLEM

A Bachelor Employs Only Women on His Ranch.

Curtis Hart, a young rancher who lives near Stillwater, Minn., has been laughing at the man power bill and the shortage of farm labor. There's a reason.

He has a corps of farm helpers. Not one is a man.

Miss Ida Blakely rides the mower and the reaper and has charge of the important machinery. She is an experienced horsewoman. Mrs. Lottie Cell, a young war bride, and Miss Frances Hart, sister of the boss, handle the buck rigs. Hart follows them doing the starting. Meanwhile, the woman cook insists she has the hardest job in the outfit.

By the way, Hart is a bachelor.

SOLDIER LETTERS

France, Aug. 22, 1918.

Dear Folks:

I wrote you a letter sometime ago from England, but have changed my address as you can see since then. I like it fine although it is real warm. The country though is about like Oregon—the same kind of trees and shrubbery even to oaks, both black and white, also more homelike still, hazel brush, ferns and Oregon grape. The people are great farmers over this way. We came through miles and miles of grain fields, orchards, alfalfa fields and vineyards. When it comes to talking to anyone I am out of luck. Don't think it will take me long to learn all that is needed. In a restaurant or cafe have quite a time to find out what you want. Most of us have a little book called "Au American" in French, which gives words, their meaning and short sentences in both English and French so think by the time the war is over I shall know quite a bit of French.

Think I told you of meeting Marshall. It was quite a surprise as I didn't think he was on this side of the water. Ted and I are in different squadrons now since coming over here. He was transferred to another. I see him every day though. When writing to him address 1102 Aero Squadron, A. E. F., France, A. P. O. 725. I am sending you some pictures of some sports taken August 8th. They are pretty good I think. One of the baseball teams is the best I believe, anyway we had the champion team in that part of the country.

Love to all. EARL

GOGGLES ARE URGED

It is Said That Many Blind Men Are Needlessly So.

Of 100,000 blind persons in the United States there are 50 per cent who are needlessly so, according to information received by the Utah state industrial commission from the national safety council. For that reason the commission, in prosecuting its safety campaign, is urging upon workers that goggles or other forms of glasses be worn when the eyes are exposed to danger by flying splinters or particles of metal.

Estimates made by the national safety council show that annually in the United States about 30,000 workers are killed and approximately 2,000,000 injured. This means that one is killed in every 15 minutes and one injured in each 16 seconds.

LARGE POTASH DEPOSITS

Experts, After Careful Search, Found Them in Saskatchewan.

Following careful examination of certain mineral products found in the dried up bed of an old lake near Swift Current, Sask., by Prof. D. McLaren of the Saskatchewan university, announcement has been made that immense deposits of potash, sodium sulphate and epsom salts have been located. Expert engineers have been called in by a group of Saskatchewan men who have filed claims on the old lake bed, and in their opinion millions of tons of useful mineral deposits are available for the use of the allies without the necessity of deep mining.

The minerals can be removed by steam shovels and the top layers are already being removed.

Differences in Coast Lines.

The line of the Atlantic coast is largely of mud and sand, and has very little elevation. On the other hand, the Pacific coast line of Washington, Oregon and California is almost entirely rocky and precipitous. While the Atlantic and Gulf coasts are dotted with numerous harbors where ships may seek safety in time of storm, very different conditions exist on the Pacific, where there are few harbors, and these at long intervals.
