Hot dog's fancy ball. Hours of Memory. (Humoresque). How can any girl be a good little girl. Howdy. Hurrah for the Liberty boys. I called you my sweetheart. I'd like to see the kaiser with a lily in his hand. I'd like to wander back to kidland. I don't want to get well. If he can fight like he can love. If I had a star for each star in old glory. If they ever put a tax on love. If you ever get lonely. If you had all the world and its gold. If you'll come back to my garden of love. If you've never been in deramland, you've never been in love. I hear your voice calling in the shadows.

COUNTY AGENT'S NOTES

"How to Cull the Layers" is the title of Extension Bulletin No. 300 from O. A. C. This bulletin, in very simple and plain language describes how it is possible to pick out the hen that is not laying and also to tell how to select the one that will not be producing very soon. Prof. Brewster spent two days with us last week in giving practical culling demonstrations in this work. It is impossible for any one to take this bulletin and with a little study do some excellent work in culling, but it aids one very much to see some one else do it first. There are some things that can be better shown than told. So that those who attended these demonstrations are in a good position to help you. We have a supply of these bulletins on hand and shall be very glad indeed to help any who may wish us in culling his flock. High producing hens are making a better profit at the present prices of eggs and feed than before the war. Poor layers that made little or no profit in the period of cheap feed now show a greater loss than ever on the feed they eat. C. D. THOMPSON, County Agent.

"MAKE GOOD" WITH CHILDREN

Scheme of Life That is a Beautiful Thing for Both Parents and Offspring.

From year to year we find everywhere a constantly growing appreciation by parents of their responsibility. It is not the kind of a responsibility really that puts blue specs on life and blurs the distant road, but is the kind of responsibility that makes a father want the companionship of his son and the mother the confidences of her daughter. The parent knows it cannot have these things without getting and holding, truly earning, the child's respect. A man of affairs, the father of three boys, told me just a few days ago of certain things he had to do that just then he did not feel that he could spare the time nor the money to do. But he said, "I've got to make good with my boys." "Making good" with your children is about as good a thing as any parent can do. It means keeping a grip on your temper, discretion in your speech and sunshine in your heart. And that is a scheme of life good for you both. —Woman's World.

Force of Compressed Air.

The effects of air resistance are well known in the twelve and one-half mile Simpson tunnel, where an exceptionally high amount of energy is required for running the electric trains. The tunnel, which is fifteen feet wide and eighteen feet high, with a sectional area of two hundred and fifty square feet, has a ventilating current of 3,530 cubic feet of air per second, maintained by two large blast fans at the Brig end and two exhaust fans at Iselle. Trains going with this current encounter less resistance than in open air up to fifteen and a half miles an hour, but at higher speeds or in the opposite direction the resistance is much greater than outside. Coasting by gravity down the seven per one thousand maximum gradient, a train, even going with the current, cannot exceed thirty-five miles per hour on account of the braking by the air.

One Way to Get a Pass.

"Madam, if I didn't know I would tell you," said the polite commanding general to the lady asking for information to which she was not entitled. The important thing in military censorship is to know just where and when to draw the line. In our Civil War the colonel of a Pennsylvania regiment went to Secretary Stanton to ask for a pass for an old man to visit his dying son after a battle. The pass was gruffly refused. Whereupon the applicant said to the secretary, "My name is Dwight, colonel of the 149th regiment, Pennsylvania volunteers. You can dismiss me from the service if you like, but I am going to tell you here and now what I think of you," which the colonel proceeded to do in language not fit to print. He got the pass.

Fear to Leave Boats in Sea.

Along the troubled shores of the North sea the fishermen take anxious care of the boats in which they earn their livelihood. When the boats return from a fishing trip—which may be all night or one of many days, according to the luck of the catch—there are men and horses waiting to draw the boats safely upon the land. For the sweep of the winds across the seas are strong enough in winter, and even during the most favorable summer season, to constitute a menace to even the best-anchored boats if they were permitted to lie off the coast.

SHOWS HOW THE LOAN GOES

The progress, step by step, of a snell aimed at the kaiser's head keeps people in the nation's capital informed of the effectiveness of the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign. A sign, almost as tall as the building, has been erected on the south front of the treasury.

GEDDE SAYS U-BOATS READY FOR BIG DRIVE

Washington, Oct. 15.—Another great effort by Germany's submarines is impending. Sir Eric Geddes, first lord of the British admiralty, paying tribute to the part played in the war by the American navy disclosed that plans of the enemy for what may be the final intensified U-boat campaign of ruthlessness are known and that the allies are prepared to meet it. No details were given by Sir Eric nor was further information to be obtained at the navy department as to what the American and allied naval chiefs have learned. There were suggestions that Germany, in the midst of a peace offensive and with her soldiers being driven back to their own borders, hoped to strengthen her diplomatic drive for peace by negotiation by sending her submarines on a desperate campaign of destruction regardless of measures of caution heretofore taken in the safety of U-boats and their crews.

The Census in Ancient Times.

While the greatest strides in the advance of vital statistics as a science have been made in recent years, their origin may be traced to centuries before Christ. Indeed, Herodotus tells us of a census of Egypt taken about 3050 B. C. for the purpose of making arrangements for the construction of the Pyramids. Elsewhere this same author refers to a second census, taken about 1400 B. C. in Egypt by Rameses II for the purpose of reapportioning all the land of Egypt among his subjects. The Bible tells us that Moses counted the tribes of Israel to determine their fighting strength and that David, about 1018 B. C., took a census for the same purpose. There is a record of a census taken in China about 1200 B. C., when data of the provinces were collected by Uking—S. W. Wynne, Michigan Bulletin of Vital Statistics.

Waste of Human Material.

Any man who has been in the world forty-five years or more should be a valuable employee. For a man to be shelved at forty-five is wrong, very wrong. For a man to lose confidence in himself because he is forty-five or thereabouts is absurd. The man who has been in the world forty-five years has had a vast amount of experience and has had the opportunity to observe much that could be turned to good account. The trouble with us is that we do not know where to take our goods to market, or at least we do not know the best market in which to dispose of our goods. There is a great waste of human material because of its misplacement. We give more attention to the salesmanship problem in relation to goods than to the infinitely more important subject of human material.—New York Mail.

Mr. Steel and party found the drive around the rim a wonderful treat.—Medford Tribune.

Car of Booze

Another large haul of booze was made by the officers yesterday morning, when they arrested Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Lewis, of Portland, at Sandy Point, who were traveling in a Cadillac automobile and had with them 10 sacks of the liquor, which were taken by the officers upon searching the car. The bootleggers were noticed in a drunken condition early Sunday morning, by people passing by Shady Point, who notified them, upon which Deputy Sheriff Rafferty took a car to the place and brought them to this city. The rate of 25 words at 50 cents per week does not provide for bookkeeping, postage on statements mailed, etc. Heretofore we have permitted occasional charges at the cheap rates but, no more.

The name label on all papers mailed shows the date to which subscriptions have been paid. Neither will receipts be mailed for payments of small amounts for advertising and other accounts.

Farming in Australia. Conditions governing agriculture in Australia are described by Commercial Agent Juan Horns in his report on "Agricultural Implements and Machinery in Australia and New Zealand—Special Agents' Series No. 106." American farm tools and machinery are well liked in Australia, but they are not, in some instances, adapted to the needs of the native farmer. There would be a greater demand for American tractors if they could be used on ground that has not been cleared of stumps. Many other details regarding the farms and their requirements are discussed in the report.

Sinister. The latest German defense of hospital bombing led Representative Tague to remark: "That defense is as sinister, and it shows conditions as rotten, as the speech of the rich business man, who chuckled: 'I ought to get myself a new typewriter. The paint is all coming off this one. Just look here on my coat.'" If you have anything to sell try a classified ad.

FEDERATION TO MAKE MOONEY CASE WAR ISSUE

San Diego, Oct. 15.—The resolution recommending that the case of Thomas J. Mooney, under death sentence for murder in connection with the Preparedness day bomb explosion in July, 1916, in its labor aspects be presented to the war labor board to be dealt with as a war issue, was unanimously adopted by the California Federation of Labor at its convention here. It was declared that labor throughout the United States is much excited over the Mooney case and that some step must be taken to allay the unrest. The convention decided that no more appeals should be made by organized labor to Governor Stephens of California in the Mooney case, on the ground that they would be useless, characterizing the executive as "one who has proved utterly and incomprehensibly adequate" in the face of appeals for clemency for Mooney made by notable organizations and citizens through the civilized world.

FOREIGN LEGION MEN HERE TO AID LIBERTY LOAN

One hundred and eight members of the famous Foreign Legion of France are here to aid in the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign. They were sent under the auspices of the liberty loan committee, which will direct the tour of the Legionnaires over the country. The cry "Vive la France et les Etats Unis" set the men cheering wildly, and the photographer snapped them as they shouted their approval.
