"YANKS SHOW UTMOST BRAVERY"—GEN. HAIG

London, Oct. 21.—A resume by Field Marshal Haig of the operations of the American troops fighting on the British front, given out today, says:

"In the past three weeks the 27th and 30th divisions of the Second American corps, operating with the Fourth British army, have taken part with great gallantry and success in three major offensive operations, besides being engaged in a number of lesser attacks. In the course of this fighting they displayed soldierly qualities of a high order and have materially assisted in the success of our attacks.

"Having fought with the utmost dash and bravery in the great attack of September 29 in which the Hindenburg line was broken, and having on this occasion captured the villages of Bellcourt and Nauroy with a large number of prisoners, on October 8 the troops of the Second American army corps again attacked in the neighborhood of Montbrehan.

"In three days of successful fighting they completed an advance of 10 miles from Montbrehan to St. Souplet, overcoming determined resistance and capturing several strongly defended villages and woods. Throughout the past three days the two American divisions have again attacked daily and on each occasion with complete success, though the enemy's resistance was most obstinate.

"Fighting their way from St. Paul to the high ground west of the Sambre canal, they have broken the enemy's resistance at all points, beating off many counter attacks and realizing an advance of nearly five miles. Over five thousand prisoners and many guns have been taken by the two American divisions in these several engagements."

GEO. S. CALHOUN, County Treasurer for Josephine County, Ore.

FINE HEALTH RECORD IN THE CITY SCHOOLS

With the closing of the schools and all places of public gathering, because of the danger of spread Spanish influenza, the fact came out that during the school year of 1917-18, there was not a death of a school child in Grants Pass during that time. This also includes the precincts and school districts immediately adjacent to Grants Pass, from which all death certificates come to the local health officer.

We think this is quite an enviable record when we take into consideration the fact that there are close to one thousand students and pupils in daily attendance at the various grade and high schools of this city. A nil death rate per thousand extending over a period of almost nine months, where children and young adults are thrown together daily in class, and other assembly work, under the most favorable conditions for the contraction and spread of disease.

While it was not deemed necessary to close the schools during the past year on account of any epidemics, the lid is now on and should stay on until all danger of the present epidemic has subsided, because we are dealing with an epidemic of a most dangerous and treacherous disease. An epidemic which in one week more than doubled the death rate among the men of our national army. And in 30 cities of the U. S. there were over 10,000 deaths in seven days from influenza and pneumonia immediately following influenza.

Neither was Grants Pass missed by any of the epidemics peculiar to this part of the country during the autumn and winter months. We had them all. We also had the closest sort of cooperation between the local health officer and Professor Imel and his staff of teachers.

In discussing the matter, Dr. J. O. Nibley, city health officer, said: "Too much praise cannot be given Superintendent Imel and the teachers working under him for their keen observation of the physical condition of the school children, and their early detection of the slightest sign or symptom of sickness among the children. Also for the enforcement of the rule, 'that any child who is sent home, or is absent from school on account of sickness, must first obtain a certificate from the health officer.' With the same efficiency and cooperation there is no reason why the same record should not be kept up during the present school year."

"Cover up each cough and sneeze. If you dont you'll spread disease."

Auto Turns Turtle

Sunday forenoon a man and his wife and two children, who were touring the country in a Sedan, or town car, met with an accident near where the old sugar factory formerly stood. The man was driving when one of the children in the rear seat attracted his attention. He lost control of the car and it ran from the road and turned over. No one was hurt, and aside from smashing the glass in one side of the automobile, no damage was done. With the assistance of a few men from the city the car was righted and the party continued their journey.

Food Control-

The Food Control Bill will probably do much good in establishing fair and just prices for food stuffs— But the price is not all— We wish to state to every customer that we stand behind the quality of every article that leaves our store. Any customer who at any time makes a purchase from us that is not satisfactory in every particular, is urged to return same to us promptly and receive the purchase price. Can anything be fairer? Nothing but perfect confidence in our goods could justify us in making this remarkable offer.

distance of 5 1/2 miles, capturing the formidable heights of Blanc Mont and Medeah Farm. The rapid advance turned the German positions in the mountain region east of Rheims.

The attack of the Second division was preceded by the preliminary clearing up of the German first and second lines, which were protected by wires. This operation was accomplished in a few hours. A general attack was launched on the morning of October 3. The Americans swept away all resistance. They found that on the left flank the German line, known as the Essen trench was pouring in an enfilading fire from machine guns. Although this trench lay in the sector to the left the Americans sent over detachments and soon conquered it.

So rapid was the advance of the Second division that the Americans had reached the German observation on Blanc Mont before the German command in the rear knew what had happened. The observers on duty in the tower saw a large number of Americans approaching. Knowing that the Germans had planned a strong counter attack for the same morning, he wrote a message to his headquarters commenting on the progress of the German counter-attack, since large numbers of Americans could be seen coming to the rear. He was captured before he could send the message.

Sheriff Lewis, who has been confined to his home for several days by illness, is able to be at his office.
