You're a grand old flag.
You're a great big lonesome baby.
You're going to fall in love with California.
You're in style when you're wearing a smile.
You're the sweetest little baby of them all.
You remind me of my mother.
Your father was a soldier.
You made the world for me.
Your lips are No Man's Land but mine.
Lorraine.
Bring back my soldier boy to me.
For your boy and my boy, buy bonds.
Give me the right to love you.
Here's to your boy and my boy.

OLD SOLDIER PASSES TO HIS FINAL REST

William Turner died at his home in Grants Pass, Saturday evening, November 9, 1918, at the age of 73 years, 6 months and 12 days. Funeral services were held at the Hall chapel on Monday, the G. A. R. being represented, and interment was made in the Granite Hill cemetery.

William Turner was born in De Calb county, Missouri, March 21, 1845. He was a Civil war veteran, having enlisted at the beginning of the war and receiving his honorable discharge at the close of the war. He was united in marriage to Clementine Hathaway December 31, 1865. At his enlistment he was assigned to the 25th Mo. Reg. of volunteers (infantry), fighting with this regiment until after the battle of Shiloh, where all the regiment was killed except 25 members. The 10th day of February, 1862, he was appointed artificer to Capt. Thos. W. Bailey, Co. B, 1st Reg., Mo. Vol. engineers, serving in this capacity until the close of the war and receiving his honorable discharge March 26, 1865.

During this time of service he was with Sherman's troops on their memorable march to the sea, took part in the siege of Richmond, the Battle of Gettysburg and other important battles, yet never received a serious wound.

Mr. Turner is survived by his wife and three children, Mrs. W. H. Carter, of Seattle, Mrs. G. W. Zimmerman, and John O. Turner, both of Grants Pass.

RUNAWAY HORSES LIKE THE COURIER OFFICE

A team of horses belonging to Albert Williams was left standing hitched to a wagon this forenoon on the street, and took a sudden notion to warm up. They did so. Tearing along at a great rate, they first struck a Ford car, but no serious damage was reported from the collision. Then a turn was taken up an alley and the tongue torn from the wagon. This lightened the load and the horses headed straight for the Courier office. Fortunately they stumbled on the curbing and fell, a scant few inches from the plate glass window, just behind which Sam Stinebaugh, the linotype operator, was quietly working. The horses received a few cuts and bruises. This is the third runaway that has come to a climax in front of the Courier office.

WAR NEWS RESULTS IN GREAT CELEBRATION

Although the news that Germany had signed the armistice was not generally known in Grants Pass until Monday morning, the citizens made up for lost time when the news did break. City and county officials, bankers and merchants and other business men joined in the celebration and gave vent to their exultation. Cow bells, dish pans, tubs, whistles, horns and everything that would make a noise was brought into use. Ranchers from far and near were in to help celebrate.

All day long the din was kept up and by night most of the joy makers had such sore throats that they could no longer shout, but that did not keep them from ringing bells, blowing whistles and beating tin pans. It was a general holiday.

Several thousand people gathered around the big bonfire at the railroad park in the evening. Above the playing of the band and the lesser noise could be heard the exploding of torpedoes, set off on the railroad track, while roman candles and rockets helped light up the surroundings.

Some of the more enthusiastic were not satisfied by firing torpedoes one at a time, therefore they strung them by the dozen along the track and the engineers with their locomotives raced along and set them off, giving the effect of a real battle. The hilarity was kept up until late into the night.

It was a great celebration, but when "our boys" come home an affair should be staged that will make this one appear like one being carried on by novices.

McADOO ISSUES WARNING TO WOULD-BE STRIKERS

Washington, Nov. 12.—Reports of sporadic strike threats by railroad telegraphers today prompted Director General McAdoo to address a statement to the telegraphers reminding them that they are now working for the government and that no strike has ever occurred against the government. He said he now finds it impossible to announce a decision on pending wage requests of the order of railroad telegraphers before next Thursday, the day set for a walkout of some telegraphers on southern roads.

SECOND BROTHER GIVES LIFE FOR GREAT CAUSE

F. E. Stewart, manager of the Western Union office in this city, received the sad news last evening that his brother, John L. Stewart, had been killed in action. The telegram, sent from Washington, was brief, and read: "Regret to inform you that Lieut. John L. Stewart was killed in action on October 31." Another brother of Mr. Stewart was killed in Russia about one year ago.

Japanese Taught to Repress Emotion.

Until late years* the repression of any appearance of strong emotion was carefully drilled into the mind and life of every Japanese child of the better class. There is much more freedom now than formerly, but the influence of past training is seen everywhere—in art, in literature, on the stage and in the customs of daily life. Artists paint the autumn moon, which every Japanese adores, but he wraps the brilliant disk within a veil of cloud.

Runaway Team—

The team belonging to J. C. Merriam, living a few miles down the river, took a merry spin down Front street this morning, starting at the City market and piling up on the sidewalk near the Grants Pass hotel. They successfully dodged automobiles, and when one horse slipped on the pavement it was thrown clear over the walk into the only vacant lot on the street, with every piece of harness stripped off. No damage was done to team or wagon.

"Flu" Increases at Medford—

While everyone is under the impression that the "flu" is gradually on the decline in the valley it is a mistake, as is shown by the fact that two deaths occurred in Medford Sunday from this malady and ten new cases were taken to the hospital in the past two days. Every day reports come in of cases that had not been previously reported and the report of a few days ago that there were 81 cases seems to be small compared with the number of cases there really are.—Monday's Tribune.

"IT keeps us human," said a soldier to Lord Northcliffe speaking of one of these great agencies. Fifteen cents a day per boy isn't too much to spend to "keep him human" and to bring him back the way he went away. And yet that's all it costs. How many boys will you look after—for how many days?
