

FOR HUSBANDS ONLY IS BAFFLING MYSTERY

After spending more than a month in carefully working out the preliminary details of the production, Miss Lois Weber has just completed the staging of a new feature photoplay.

The story was filmed under the story title "For Husbands Only" (merely a title, not a restriction). It will be shown first at the Joy Theatre tonight and Thursday as a Jewell Production. It may be said with safety that it will prove to be the cleverest and most fascinating subject Miss Weber's studio has yet produced.

Miss Mildred Harris, the little lady who created such an instantaneous success in "The Price of a Good Time," and who is the featured player in another Lois Weber production shortly to be released is the star of "For Husbands Only." Lewis J. Cody has the principal male role.

A feature of Miss Weber's new production will be the appearance in many of the scenes of the Denis-Shawn dancers, the advanced pupils of Ruth St. Denis and Ted Shawn. The settings in which they dance are among the most exquisite ever shown on the screen.

The story, like many of those which have come from Miss Weber's studio, is remarkably unlike anything that heretofore has been pictured on the screen. In fact, the story as planned by the feminine master of cinema craft is so unusual that even the cleverest student of screen drama will find himself baffled in his efforts to anticipate the climax of the play until the final scene is presented.

GENERAL PERSHING AWARDS HONOR CROSS

The Distinguished Service cross, the highest American award to heroes, is being presented by General Pershing to a lieutenant colonel attached to the Second division headquarters. The citation was for conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity under fire.

NO GENERAL RULE POSSIBLE

Matter of Proper Amount of Bodily Exercise Must Be Left to Discretion of Individual.

"It is an axiom that mental excellence is to a very considerable extent dependent upon a man's physical condition," declared Secretary of State Robert Lansing. "It is equally true that rules of health, except the most general, depend in large measure upon the individual and upon his peculiar needs."

"If I were asked to lay down rules which might be applied generally," continued the American premier, "I would embody them in the phrase 'More fresh air and less food.' How much bodily exercise should be taken and its character depend upon the individual, his physical condition and, to an extent, on his tastes. Of course, exercise is, as a rule, beneficial, but it ought to be a pleasure to the one taking it if he would get the best results."

"It may sound like heresy, but I sometimes wonder whether exercise, when it is not a diversion, is really worth while. Certainly the mind is not rested if it rebels against certain forms of physical training which are being taken, and recreation for the mind of one engaged in intellectual pursuits is, in my opinion, one of the most essential purposes of exercise of the muscles.

"I believe, however, as I have said, that fresh air is one of the great restoratives, and the fact that exercise is generally taken in the open is one of its chief benefits."—From "Secretary Lansing's Story of His Health and Energy," by Richard M. Winans in Physical Culture.

Merely a Superstition. There is no kind of a rod, or instrument, which will locate minerals in the earth with any degree of certainty. Sometimes a bed of iron ore will affect the magnetic needle of a compass, or of a surveying instrument, but there is nothing that will locate the precious metals.

SOLDIER LETTERS

The Cold and Whizzbangs Bother From near Verdun in France Wallace Countant wrote on October 3d: "Your letter of August 2d came just two months after you mailed it. I hope that mine don't take so long. This is the first time that I have had a chance to write two letters from the same place in a long time."

"The weather for the last two days has been clear and the nights cold, and I'll tell the world it gets cold too. Have been a traffic guard on a new road and it gets so cold a fellow fairly aches from his toes up. You can imagine by the clothes it takes to be fairly comfortable—underclothes, o. d. shirt, sweater, blouse, mackinaw and raincoat with mittens—then have to walk to keep warm. I am wondering what we will do when it really gets winter over here. But that is too far ahead to wonder about. We take things as they come in the army."

On October 9 he wrote: "We have moved again. No mail for a week. Then there were only a few letters."

"Our new camps are along the banks of a river. Still living in pup tents which makes it pretty cold sleeping, then to look out and see the white frost on the ground makes one think of home and the good old fire place."

"Have been up where we could see the whizzbangs dropping and hear them whistle for the last two days. It is a great sensation to wonder where they are going to light, and such a relief to see them throw up dirt some distance away. Two of them came close enough to shower pebbles on me yesterday. It is funny after it is over."

"The last three or four days I have been enjoying a box of sweet milk chocolate bars which I purchased from the Salvation Army. They sure tasted good because they are made in the States and are a much finer quality than the French Chocolates we buy. Along with the chocolates they fry doughnuts. You can see that the Sal Army appeals to most of us." Lots of Love, WALLACE.

TWO MID-YEAR EIGHTH GRADE EXAMINATIONS

County School Superintendent Alice Bacon has received the following circular letter from the office of State Superintendent J. A. Churchill relative to the holding of eighth grade examinations, as follows:

"Many school boards and teachers have written to this office asking that the time for eighth grade examinations be extended two or three weeks so that the school year may be so divided as to make each half carry its proportion of the time lost through the dismissal of the school on account of Spanish influenza. We have concluded therefore, to give two mid-year eighth grade examinations, January 16 and 17, and February 6 and 7. The program for each will be the same. No school should be permitted to give both. A district should choose which one it will take and there need be no additional expense."

WHEN EVERY MOVE HURTS

Lame every morning, achy and stiff all day, worse when it's damp or chilly? Suspect your kidneys and try the remedy your neighbors use. Mrs. Wm. Harvey, 621 N. Eighth St., Grants Pass, says: "I suffered from kidney trouble. My back nearly killed me, it ached so badly. I was as helpless as a child, being confined to my bed most of the time. My kidneys were terribly congested and I was a nervous wreck. It just seemed as though every inch of my body was affected, as I ached all over. Doan's Kidney Pills pulled me through this. I stuck to them for several months and was finally able to get around as well as ever. I consider myself cured." Price 50c at all dealers.
