GOV. WITHCOMB'S ADDRESS

I. W. Wism and other forms of disloyalty, so that there may never be any misunderstanding as to the degree of punishment Oregon courts and juries would mete out to disloyal persons.

After describing the tremendous natural resources of the state the executive declared there is need of a strong merchant marine manned by Oregon men and managed by Oregonians. "If we are to harvest Oregon's full crop we must look toward a development of commercial as well as industrial and agricultural resources," he said. "Our great problem is to create stable markets for the products of Oregon forests and mines and of Oregon farms, gardens and orchards. Therefore I earnestly recommend that this legislature dispatch a joint memorial to the congress of the United States strongly urging upon the federal government the advisability of building a large number of ships that could be chartered readily to the business men in coast states on terms that would enable them to compete successfully with any shippers in the world.

Extension of the law to make the workmen's compensation act compulsory for all classes of employment was recommended, as was the building of a state industrial hospital at Portland.

"I am hopeful," said the executive, "that fair-minded committees of the legislature will make a careful examination of the state penitentiary and learn the real truth about a situation which has been made the football for politics, spiteful vengeance, and deceiving manipulations. Although the physical status of the penitentiary property leaves much to be desired, I am well pleased with the administration of the institution under the first management of my own individual choosing. In a month the new warden has been amazingly effective in his work and I am confident that any one conversant with actual conditions will concede readily that this penal institution is now being administered on a most satisfactory basis. Considering the responsible and exacting nature of the work, I feel the warden is underpaid as an official."

Besides urging the overwhelming, if not unanimous endorsement of the national prohibition amendment, the governor referred to numerous other subjects, the message containing approximately eight thousand words.

PORTLAND FRAMES SOME VERY STRINGENT ORDERS

Masks to be worn by compulsion in all public gatherings was the decision reached yesterday by Director General Sommer and his advisory committee, who are seeking to rid Portland and Multnomah county of the present epidemic. Volunteer workers were mobilized by the Red Cross to make the masks in large numbers and the city council was asked to pass an ordinance compelling all to wear heavy gauze masks in all public buildings and other places of gathering.—Oregonian.

AT THE MOVIES

Alaska Jack

An interesting story of life in the frozen north will be given at the Joy Theater tonight by Alaska Jack, the government guide who was with B. B. Dobbs while filming his picture, "The Top o' the World."

The career of Alaska Jack alone is highly interesting, and reads like fiction. But the old explorer is exceedingly modest and dwells mostly upon his adventures during the filming of the movies of the land of the midnight sun.

Alaska Jack's life embraces sensational episodes, from his appearance at the bombardment of Alexandria, at which time he was cabin boy in her majesty's service, up to recent years when he completed a sojourn of 21 years. The majority of this time was spent in the service of Uncle Sam. Alaska Jack is credited with being the highest salaried guide the government has ever had in the Arctic.

Despite numerous requests to do so, Jack has never written a history of his life, but some of the leading authors have used him as a principal character in their stories, the more prominent literary works in which he appeared being in Jack London's "Burning Daylight" and Rex Beach's "Spillers."

In his lecture on "The Top o' the World" pictures, Jack explains conditions in "his country," as he proudly calls it, in a simple, yet intelligent language that can be easily understood.

The program tonight consists of eight reels and the lecture, therefore only one show will be given.

SAYS APPLE GROWERS ARE BEING ROBBED

After landing in New York from overseas on the 16th of last month, Lieutenant Arthur M. Geary, formerly of Medford, obtained a ten day leave during which time he investigated the box apple marketing conditions in eastern markets. He states in the Portland Oregonian that it is the common belief of market men that there is a prosperous future for the box apple producing industry, but he charges that certain agencies that are now representing the growers in marketing are not faithful to the interests of the growers.

"Any apple grower of the northwest," says Mr. Geary, "who desires to feel badly can figure, roughly, how many hundreds of dollars he has contributed this year toward the several million that speculators are receiving in profits. He can do this by subtracting his net receipts from the market prices prevailing, as shown by the government reports, and then add thereto a generous fee to cover legitimate marketing expenses.

"I do not consider that the term 'speculation' applies to all of the situation. It is a common scandal in the eastern cities that a few market men who have organized agencies, the business of which is to represent the interests of the growers, are making profits that will run well into six figures, by the practice of having these agencies sell to themselves, or subsidiary corporations, and then reselling through the same agents that would otherwise have sold to the account of the grower.

"Market men, in New York with orders in their pockets have been able to purchase carloads of apples in the northwest by wire at figures that have netted them $1 a box profit, without their running any risk whatsoever."

SHERIFF LEWIS BRINGS HOME TWO PRISONERS

Sheriff George Lewis returned this morning from Salt Lake, Utah, with Robert W. DeWitt, accused of robbing the Boswell mine last spring. DeWitt is now in the county jail and his hearing will probably be had before Judge Calkins tomorrow.

DeWitt told the sheriff how he succeeded in breaking out of the Grants Pass jail and making his escape. DeWitt had a violin in his cell, and taking one of the catgut strings he slipped a noose through the lock pin in some manner so that when the jailer one night dropped the lock pin into place DeWitt had a cleverly arranged noose around the head of the pin. After the jailer left that night the prisoner simply pulled on the fiddle string and drew out the bolt. That left the way clear and he silently walked out and disappeared.

While Sheriff Lewis was making his way to the train at Portland with DeWitt, on Washington street, he observed a familiar looking figure and upon second glance saw that the man was George Miller, alias Joseph Hilley, who recently made his escape from the local jail while a "trustee." Hilley is accused of several thefts in this vicinity. Sheriff Lewis persuaded Hilley to accompany him and arrived here this morning with both prisoners.

CALIFORNIA HAS AN EARTHQUAKE PROPHET

San Bernadino, Cal., Jan. 14.—To act as a sentinel in warning the people of the United States of earthquakes, which he says he can detect the day before they occur, Orin Kenedy, a lawyer and scientist of this city has given up his practice and will soon leave for a point on what is known as San Andreas fault, in the Cajon Pass near here.

Mr. Kenedy will spend the remainder of his life in studying this fault, he says. The San Andreas fault runs from a point in Golden Gate Park, San Francisco, to the Imperial Valley, he declares.

The lawyer-scientist claims to have predicted on April 13 the earthquake which destroyed the towns of Hemet and San Jacinto April 21 last.

BRITISHER BROUGHT THEM TO THEIR FEET
London, Dec. 19.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—One British naval officer showed a German captain how to handle his undisciplined sailors during the surrender of the German warships to the allied fleet off the Firth of Forth. It is related that when the British officer boarded a German battleship to make the official examination he found numbers of German sailors looting about in the captain's lobby and some of them making themselves very much at home in the captain's cabin. Many were wearing armlets inscribed "Soldaten and Arbeiter," indicating their allegiance to the soldiers' and workers' councils which brought about the revolution. "You will need no explanation, sir, for my presence here," said the German captain approaching the Englishman. "You see how things are." "You will please converse with me in your own language," replied the British officer, returning the salute. "You will also order these men out of these quarters before we do anything else." "What would be the good to command them?" asked the German. "Very well," snapped the Britisher as he swung around. "Look here, you men," he thundered in German. "If I have any more of this insubordination, I'll put all of you in irons. Attention."
