

INTERESTING STORIES FROM LITTLE FARMERS

The Story of My Pig
One afternoon at school the county agent came to try to get the boys interested in the pigs...

My pig's name is Perry. I named him that because it is the name of the man I got him from...

Green pasture makes a pig grow very fast any how it made this one grow. Fresh water is important in pig raising...

When I weighed my pig, I put him in a sack. He squealed to beat the band. I had a trough to feed my pig in...

Well bred pigs are better than scrubs because they grow better. Next year I am going to buy a sow pig and breed to see if I can't get some pigs...

BUSTER BROWN, Williams, Oregon.

The Story of My Pig

Last year my brother raised a pet pig so I thought I would try my luck this year so papa ordered a pig from Francis Steel of the Winona Ranch...

I named her Lady Gladys. The name Gladys was for my schoolmate. She became a great pet and followed me everywhere I go...

One day this summer when I was picking apples she ran under my ladder after an apple and caused me to take a tumble and another time she got through the fence into the neighbor's pasture...

We have no platform scales so papa made a crate to put her in, so we could weigh her on the steel yards and we had a great time weighing her...

I hope I may be able to help some one in the Pig Club work next year by supplying them with thoroughbred Berkshire pigs.

The Story of My Pig

I entered this sow and litter contest to raise pork to help feed the soldiers. I wanted to help in winning the war and took this way of doing it.

I received my sow pig from Mr. F. R. Steel of the Winona Ranch. She has not been named for I have not received her registration papers.

I selected the Berkshire because it seemed to be easily kept, fattened quick and made very good bacon. Pasture and green crops are cheap feed and seems to be something that they need; it gives them exercise which they do not get extensively when penned up.

My sow is fed waste, morning noon and evening besides having pasture to run in at present. I shut her up at night in a warm dry place. Well bred hogs do not take the feed that scrub ones do and are very much easier kept.

I intend to raise some pigs next year. I have learned that hogs should be fed at regular hours, have plenty of exercise and a warm dry place to sleep in cold weather.

A person that takes an interest in the care of their pigs, and sees that they are fed properly, is one that makes a good Pig Club member.

DUTCH ARE DIVIDED ON WHAT TO DO WITH BILL

Amerongen, Dec. 22—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Opinion as to what should be done with William Hohenzollern, formerly German emperor, is very much divided in Holland, even in the extreme southeastern corner of the province of Utrecht, where is situated the castle of Amerongen, Hohenzollern's temporary abode. Here the rural population contentedly lives under the rule of the gentry who have owned the land around for generations. An opportunity to observe the division of sentiment was afforded the Associated Press correspondent when he sought lodgings for the night in a small village hotel. Seated about the office were half a dozen villagers.

After the stranger had been eyed awhile with the furtive suspicion of the rustic towards the townsman, talk drifted back to its former channel—Hohenzollern. "What do people hereabouts think of him?" the correspondent asked.

"Think of him? He should be clapped in jail, and hanged," rapped out a sharp faced man fiercely. "That's what I think of him."

"Nay, neighbor," expostulated a fat complacent man who looked like a prosperous cattle dealer oozing with war profits, "he don't deserve all that, surely."

"What?" ejaculated the first man. "A feller who had millions of people killed in them battles."

"What I say is," broke in the cattleman, "he always gave thanks to the Almighty. He always praised God. You can see it in the papers. And that's a fit and proper thing to do. There are many worse than he, and it wasn't his fault alone that all them people were killed. What do you say landlord?"

"Aye, that may be true," said the landlord diplomatically. "He had his faults. I daresay. But I do say 'tis a sad come-down from a gentleman in his position." And he shook his gray head.

"Pshaw!" said the sharp-faced man. "You bet he lacks for nothing. He lives on the fat of the land. He gets all he wants, and more. Current bread he gets every day, and jam and tea. Folks like that never lack for nothing, eh?"

The village carpenter thus addressed cast a disapproving look over the assembly. "I don't hold with royalty and such," he growled slowly through his teeth, which gripped his pipe like a vise. "There's old Paul Kruger. I never could abide him. When he came to Utrecht I was working at the hotel where he was staying. And twice every day, every day, he had hot pudding! Now I call that sinful! It's scandalous. It oughtn't be allowed."

WRECK CLEARED AND TRAFFIC IS RESUMED

The freight train wreck just north of this city was cleared and the track again made ready for service about midnight last night. While the exact cause of the wreck is not known, or at least has not been given out, a broken flange was found on one car wheel and that might have been the cause. The seven cars which went off the track were all empties, except a gondola, which was loaded with piling.

The wreck occurred in a cut, which was about ten feet deep, and two or three of the cars were thrown high into the air and out onto the bank. They were converted into kindling wood. The car that did most of the damage, apparently, was the one loaded with piling. One of the trucks on this car turned sideways and was dragged along, ripping up the ties for some distance. A huge bonfire was made from the wreckage and from the light thus obtained the crew of workmen labored with full speed until the midnight hour before the damage was repaired.

The wrecking crews from both Ashland and Roseburg were at the scene.

PHYSICALLY FIT AT ANY AGE

It isn't age, it's careless living that puts men "down and out." Keep your internal organs in good condition and you will always be physically fit.

The kidneys are the most over-worked organs in the human body. When they break down under the strain and the deadly uric acid accumulates and crystallizes look out! These sharp crystals tear and scratch the delicate urinary channels causing excruciating pain and set up irritations which may cause premature degeneration and often do turn into deadly Bright's Disease.

One of the first warnings of sluggish kidney action is pain or stiffness in the small of the back, loss of appetite, indigestion or rheumatism.

Do not wait until the danger is upon you. At the first indication of trouble go after the cause at once. Get a trial box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules, imported direct from the laboratories in Holland. They will give almost immediate relief. If for any cause they should not, your money will be refunded. But be sure to get GOLD MEDAL. None other is genuine. In sealed boxes, three sizes.

OVER PRODUCTION OF MEAT ANIMALS FEARED

Denver, Colo., Jan. 21.—Sounding a warning that over-production of meat animals in 1920 would prove disastrous to the industry, President I. T. Pryor of the American National Livestock association, today told delegates attending the association's annual meeting that they should regulate production to the requirements of domestic consumption.

President Pryor declared that the United States has a sufficient supply of meat animals to meet all anticipated demands from hungry Europe and for domestic consumption, despite liquidation during 1918.

"With our export decreasing after 1919 and our over-supply increasing," President Pryor said, "the problem that confronts cattlemen is to regulate supplies in 1920 and thereafter to the needs of domestic consumers. For that is the only sure and unfalling market for our products. Even our home market may be affected by importation of beef from other surplus countries. We must see that this does not happen."

"Our government is not prepared to protect livestock producers from the disasters that would follow over-production. No plan has been evolved to satisfactorily determine costs of production and to stabilize on such a level. The plain fact is that the stockmen are asked to assume all the risks that might follow the government's plea for increased production, and take our chances of securing a fair return. If the food administration were to continue and there was a certainty of large orders from our allies being placed through it, the situation would be different."
