Sorghum Making.

They are calling it "cane sirup" now, but it is the same old sorghum of Confederate war times-and just as good as of old. Reports in the state papers indicate that the output of home-made sweetenin' this season is going to be a record breaker, and this makes largely for independence of sugar on the farms and likewise in town, for the farmer who includes a jug of sorghum in his load of produce stands in no danger of failure to empty the jug.-Charlotte Observer.

Has anyone taken time to think of Empress Eugenie, widow of Napoteon III, just at this time? Nearly half a century ugo she saw her France overthrown and outraged and humiliated and the terms of the bumiliation laid down in her own beautiful palace at Verspilles by booted and spurred German insolerice. She saw her husband dethroned to die in exile. Later she mourned the death in battle under an allen flag of her only son, disinherited.

The dim eyes of the old woman, who has known so much of pomp and pride and humiliation and exile, will now see the authors of her undoing stripped and bending with bowed head before the high court of civilization and without an extenuating circumstance to plead.

Surely a fitting and dramatic close to an historic life.

Curious Coincidence.

The news of Germany's surrender came midway between Sunday night and Monday morning. It was on a Sunday morning that the world heard of Germany's declaration of war against Russia. Serbia's answer to Austria's ultimatum came the previous Sunday. It was on Sunday morning that we got the news of the firing of the first gun of our Civil war and it was on Sunday that Lee surrendered at Appomattox. Later on, the first tidings of the sinking of Cervera's fleet at Santiago came on Sunday morning, as did that of the signing of the peace treaty between the United States and Spain.

Sudden Thought.

"I don't suppose prohibition would do in the uilled armies." "Why not?"

"How could they have got along without the tanks?"

Controlling the Winds.

Controlling the winds is not yet an aviation triumph. If an averaft starts from one point to another due east and there is a wind blowing of 15 miles an hour northeast, that will clearly have to be taken into consideration, and the compass course altered (before ascending), according to the total distance of the journey.

TOOK NO CHANCE ON "HANTS"

That Batch of Troopers Didn't Intend to Be Caught With the "Goods" on Them.

There was a colored inbor outfit in the S. O. S. engaged in quarry work near a base port. A few weeks ago, in the course of opening up some new ground, they discovered an old Roman burying ground with many skeletons, coins and retics. The find made quite an impression on the minds of the finders, and there were many speculations as to whether the shades of the departed legionaries still hovered around in the vicinity of their last resting place. The general opinion was that a man ought to be on his guard when out inte at night.

About that time the sum of 60 francs disappeared from the counter of a ternoon with Hattie Inman, of Murnearby Y. M. C. A. hut. The captain phy. of this outfit doesn't know a great deal has learned a lot about it in the field. He called his outfit together one night in the Y hut and told them of the disappearance of the money. Then he outlined the history and characteristics of the old Romans.

thing a Roman hated worse than any-day. thing else, and that was a thief. If the ghosts of those old fellows who were buried up there on the hill should earn that somebody in this outfit had 60 francs in his pocket, I don't know just what would happen. I'm going to put my hat here on the table and turn out the lights. The guilty man will know what to do."

There was quite a shuffling of feet and milling around in the but, and then all was quiet. When the captain turned on the lights again and looked th the hat he found not only the 60 francs, but 300 more, and a few odd centimes for good measure.-Stars and Passing of Emma. Emma is dead. She died, not per-haps altogether that others might live, hat she surely died to make an American holiday. Most of her life she had been petted and dined, for it was designed that she put on weight, much as the female of the species objects to embonpoint. Emma was, in her tender youth, removed from base hospital 15 to base 32. And that is just where interest for all the folks at home who have boys at base 32 starts, for surely no member of the hospital so far forgot his surroundings as not to mention nma in his letters. So Emma grew and grew. Recently the end came. It was announced in a letter home thus laconically and graphically: "We ate Emma yesterday." She was served to the hospital attaches, and while it may be disloyed to say so, the diners say she tasted better than American pork, But weep not, you outsiders who read this, for Emma was only a wild hog.-

WORLD'S GREAT NEED OF TIN

War Has Diminished Supply of Indispensable, Metal, and So Immensely Increased Ita Cost.

Probably no market has been more vitally affected by the war and less subject to control than the tin market. It is not really an American industry, for an insignificant amount of tin is produced in the United States as compared with the total consumed. This country is almost absolutely dependent on foreign sources for its supplies. But the metal is a vital neces sity at all times and in many directions. It is particularly a war metal in that its use is essential in producing tinplate for food and other containers and for bearings for machin-

In no other metal has such complete chaos developed as in tin as a result of war conditions. It is the only metal which is exempt from price fixing by our own government, because about 99 per cent of our consumption comes from foreign countries, where its production and sale are controlled by foreign interests. Only its distribution here has been regulated as a war measure.

One of the largest importers has recently said that it would probably be a long time before 60-cent tin would again be seen. Before the war the metal was selling at a little over 30 cents a pound in New York. It has advanced by leaps and bounds until a month ago the New York price was ominal at over $1 a pound, with the future shipments from the east up to 05 cents—both unheard of heights. This has been caused by the fact that the world's output of tin has not been enough. In fact, statistics show that in recent years this has been at about a standstill.

Our Americans can now certainly Courier be called seasoned troops. Their Printing that pleases—We do it! fighting showed no lack of pepper.
