CITY OF COBLENZ ROBBED OF BELLS

Coblenz, Germany, Feb. 17.—In this German city of more than 50,000 inhabitants, there are but three church bells. Before the war Coblenz, now the headquarters of the American Army of Occupation, had scores of church bells but all but three of them were taken by the German government to be turned into munitions of war.

MISSION OF MERCY SAILS ON TRIP TO HOLY LAND

New York, Feb. 17.—Sailing as an argosy of life and hope to the 4,000,000 destitute people of the Holy Land and other regions of the near east, the steamship Leviathan left this port today with the largest contingent of missionaries, doctors and relief workers ever sent overseas at one time on such a mission.

HORSE MEAT FOR HUNGRY GERMANS

Coblenz, Feb. 17.—Eight hundred condemned American army horses and mules were sold at auction to a German butcher near Coblenz last week with the understanding that all the animals must be killed to help relieve the meat shortage within the occupied area.

Felt His Importance.

Herbert was asked to hand the tools to his father, who was under the car trying to repair it. For this his father praised him, telling him he had been of great assistance. When they reached home and explained to his mother why they were late Herbert promptly added: "Yes, and if there hadn't been two of us men along we might not be here yet."

Preserving Frescoes.

A novel method of preserving frescoes, recently discovered by a Japanese, consists in coating them with thin glass, which is made to adhere through the agency of specially prepared chemicals. The new method is said to make the frescoes proof against the injurious action of the atmosphere.

"GOOD ROADS" TALKED AT TODAY'S LUNCHEON

The Chamber of Commerce today resumed their Monday luncheons after an interruption of several weeks due to the influenza epidemic. About 50 members were present, several bringing friends to enjoy meeting the business people of the city.

President Bramwell, at the close of the meal, called on O. S. Blanchard, chairman of the road committee of the Chamber of Commerce, who explained in detail the road legislation of 1917 and 1918, as it immediately affected Josephine county. The state highway commission has already spent many thousands of dollars in Josephine county, and it now stood ready to spend many more thousands of dollars, he said, the amount depending upon the cooperation of the county. The paving of the highway from the bridge across Rogue river to the Jackson county line has been ordered and the contract let. The surfacing of other portions of the Pacific highway within the county wherever the road is graded and prepared for surfacing will be ordered.

The improvement of the road over Smith hill, or Sexton mountain, as it is sometimes called, will depend upon the county to some extent. The amount necessary to put the seven miles in perfect condition would be approximately from $60,000 to $80,000. This improvement would be impossible were the expense to fall entirely upon the county, but there is a possibility of having the road greatly improved if Josephine cooperates to the amount of a few thousand dollars, probably $10,000.

Mr. Blanchard offered a resolution which on vote was accepted, to the effect that the Chamber of Commerce request the county court of Josephine county to cooperate with the highway commission in the construction of the road referred to, and also a new bridge be constructed over Grave creek to replace the old wood structure even though the expense must be met by the issue of warrants not provided for in the present road program of the county.

With the paving of Smith hill it is predicted that the entire Pacific highway through Josephine county would be hard surfaced within the next three years.

OBITUARY

William Henry Fallin

William Henry Fallin was born in Vandalla, Ill., March 21, 1863, and died at Grants Pass, Ore., February 13, 1919.

He came to Grants Pass from Kansas City in 1887. He was married to Orrie Wimer June 8, 1889. Deceased has been a landmark in the community for many years. He served at one time as county assessor. Last summer he was employed in the mills of northern California.

His death comes as a sudden shock to his relatives and friends. For some time he had been ailing, but no one thought of his decease.

He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, Mrs. Orrie Fallin, and 12 children. The children are as follows: Mrs. Harry L. Smith and Mrs. Amos Williams, of Grants Pass, Mrs. Hugh Preston, of Portland; John D., who is in France, Mrs. Robt. Inks, of Riverbanks farm and Howard A., Rose, Dorothy, Louise, Bertha, Jean and Betty. He leaves also a mother and sister at Myrtle Creek, Ore., and a brother at Falls City, Ore.

The funeral was held Saturday afternoon, February 15, from Hall's chapel. Services were conducted by Rev. Melville T. Wire, interment in Odd Fellows cemetery.
