MAKES 3,000 MILE JOURNEY

upon the stone floor, their heads buried in the laps of their sleeping husbands. For a time sleep had mercifully dulled their misery. Others, stolid, but with an unforgettable look of bewildered despair, sat upon their belongings staring vacantly before them. The air in the place was horrible and overpowering.

Two old men, weak and trembling from sickness and privation, staggard outside to get a breath of fresh air. The effort was too much for them. Struck by an icy gust of wind they sank groaning and fainting on the ice. There are in Russia today many, very many, similar cases of which the above is a true picture. These poor people living peacefully in the heart of immense Russia are the innocent victims of the great war. Russia today is prostrate and helpless and in this hour of woe turns to the people of the United States for compassion, guidance and help.

WILL RESTOCK ALASKA WITH HERDS OF MUSK OX

Juneau, Alaska, Jan. 31.—(By mail.)—Plans for the restocking of Alaska with herds of musk ox, an animal extinct in the territory since 1850, are being worked out by Governor Thomas Riggs, Jr. The musk ox, besides being one of the choicest food animals that inhabit the north, produces about 15 pounds of wool annually. In 1850, according to Governor Riggs, the natives killed the last of the musk in Alaska and the animal since that time has been extinct in this territory. Great herds of them abound in the northern Canadian provinces however, and Governor Riggs is striving for the purchase of a number of these herds by the territorial government.

BRAINS MORE VALUABLE THAN A STRONG BACK

Washington, Feb. 25.—The trend toward better agricultural education is nowhere reflected more clearly than in the work of the federal board for vocational education among the disabled soldiers, sailors and marines. The number of boys who have been raised on farms of the non-progressive type is considerable, and a large proportion of them now desire to receive specialized education in order that they may go back to the old home place, pull it out of the haphazard rut and put it on a paying basis.

The sights these boys have seen in France where the thrifty French farmer has brought intensive cultivation to a science to where almost unbelievable amounts are raised on small acreage have undoubtedly made a strong impression upon our returned soldiers. They have decided after all, scientific agriculture and management, at which the average farmer is inclined to scoff, really is something of actual value.

Many of these men are badly disabled and will never again be able to rely upon brute strength, which before the war was their chief and only asset. They have now become convinced that mere strength does not amount to much and that it is the expert knowledge and ability to direct which does count most greatly. This education is given them absolutely free by the United States government. They are sent to the best agricultural schools in the country, paid a supply allowance of $65 a month while pursuing their studies, and all other expenses are defrayed by the federal board. The board is especially anxious to get in touch with farm boys who have returned and found themselves unable to make progress without special training, and all letters of inquiry are welcomed by the board, the address of which is Washington, D. C. It has been designated by congress to have entire charge of the vocational re-education and placement of disabled soldiers, sailors and marines.

THREE GOLD STARS IN FAMILY SERVICE FLAG

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Hoxie, of Phoenix, parents of H. C. Hoxie of Ashland, have done their best—not their bit—for their country during the past great war. About two weeks ago news came to them of the death of their son, Private Leroy Hoxie, who was born at William and who died with pneumonia in a French hospital. This sad tidings followed shortly after the news had reached them that two other sons, Ralph and Will, had given their lives for their country on November 11, the day of the signing of the armistice. These two young men with another brother, Frank, were members of the 21st infantry. Four sons given to the service of their country and three of them paying the supreme sacrifice of their lives is a record to which all honor is given.—Ashland Tidings.

Five Dollars Reward—Five dollars reward will be paid for the arrest and conviction of any one stealing the Daily Couriers from residences or mail boxes.
