MARY, DOUG AND McADOO

The publicity campaign to float the next Liberty, or Victory loan will offer opportunities for political propaganda seldom approached in the past. The minds of the people will then be thoroughly saturated with the idea of a league of nations; the president will have returned to Paris and will be hard at work trying to get his colleagues on the peace conference into line behind his unconstitutional and highly impractical dream of universal peace; senators, perhaps even then in extra session, will be giving their closest attention to each new development in the international conspiracy to take away the independence of America; and the necessity for the democratic party to mold the public mind so that it will absorb without recitation the new and revolutionary theory of government will be imperative.

That the democrats are alive to the situation is plainly indicated. Next to the press the most potent agency for reaching the public is the moving picture theater. We have recently seen formed an all-star combination of movie actors, including in its organization Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks and Charlie Chaplin. We now see Mr. McAdoo engaged as counsel for the concern at a salary of $200,000. Gone to southern California, ostensibly for a much-needed rest, the ex-secretary combines business with pleasure with a vengeance and annexes himself to a salary more than eight times what he received from the government. But it is evident that although Mr. McAdoo is no longer on the federal payroll he has by no means lost interest in national politics.

We gather from the newspapers of the West that Secretary Tumulty and Frank R. Wilson, pictorial director of Liberty loan publicity, will assume charge of the political department of this new movie association. They are to get in some of their best work through Mr. Fairbanks, who already is contemplating a scenario representing himself as the "official fool killer." A Los Angeles paper quotes Mr. Wilson in a telegram to Fairbanks as follows:

"There are possibilities of a short picture in which you would start out some morning as the official fool killer, and as you hear complaints uttered by various individuals, you turn upon them, giving them a lecture on real Americanism and then wallop them as you did the kaiser."

The same paper tells us that this film will be used "to stem the tide of popular criticism which Tumulty and Wilson admit amounts to a storm of attack against the national administration." With that explanation we see that "real Americanism" consists in lauding the administration, and one who hesitates to prostrate himself at the mention of the democratic regime will be soundly "walloped" on the screen by the strenuous Fairbanks, precisely as he served the kaiser.

Mr. McAdoo's part in all this is not hard to imagine. As the confidant of the president he will be able to render many an intimate touch to the pictures that will subtly convey to the movie audience just the impression desired. While his advertised role is that of "counsel" we suspect that his chief activity will be that of political censor of films, and from his master guidance the country may expect to see in the early spring some of the most sinister political propaganda of the present administration disseminated, innocently enough, through the thousands of moving picture theaters of the country.

American Opportunity. Although the populated area of Siberia is only a belt along the Trans-Siberian railway, that belt is 6,000 miles long and contains nearly 20,000,000 people. Before the war Siberian foreign trade was largely in the hands of German houses, which undoubtedly will make desperate efforts to regain it when the return of normal conditions has brought back the demand for general merchandise, rolling stock and agricultural machinery. But in spite of the geographical proximity of Germany eastern Siberia, when its railway service has been reorganized, will be most easily reached by way of Vladivostok. The commercial opportunity is one that America cannot afford to neglect.—Yough's Companion.

The Confused Hun. Dr. Thomas C. Ely of Philadelphia tells a story of his son, Lieut. William C. Ely, heard at Fort McPherson, Atlanta, which illustrates the heroism of the negro troops.

A German officer, taken captive complained that nothing could stop the Americans. They were not afraid of the shells, they defied the flame projectors, they advanced through fusillades of the machine guns of 250 to 300 bullets a minute.

"How about the gas?" some one said to the German. "Gas?" replied the captive Hun. "It was no use to turn on the gas. It merely blackened their faces and frizzled their hair, and they came on just the same!"

Those Smart New Cape Coats

Capes and capelike wraps for spring have invaded the realm of fashion in great force. This bespeaks much preparation on the part of designers, since the variety of these garments is wonderful, and leads us to believe that a vogue for capes is so well started that its growth is sure. It really began with the magnificent fur mantles and capes and big enveloping wraps with which women consoled themselves when quiet dressing for patriotic reasons was the vogue. Furs are not considered an extravagance; they outlast seasons and wars, and they were never more sumptuous or magnificent than they were this fall—just before the signing of the armistice. Their position was further strengthened by the seal of approval which Paris has set on handsome wraps of black satin, fur-trimmed, and on others that are combinations of fur and silk.

All through the fashions of the passing season there has run the idea of combination garments. The coat-dress is an example. In furs this idea was featured in wraps that were part scarf and part cape or something of both scarf and coat. It has persisted and appears now in wraps and in dresses. In the smart wrap pictured, and in many others, we have a garment part cape and part coat. The cape portion falls over the shoulders and back and is long. If it is removable it may be recommended for the tourist who slips into the warm but sometimes erratic climate of Florida or of California.

It is their capelike lines that make the new wraps unusually graceful; an effect that is strengthened in the garment pictured by its curve downward toward the back. Wide silk braid applied in bands appears in three rows on the collar and girdle ends and four on the coat. Smart and unusual, these wraps give distinction to spring styles and the example pictured is only one of a glorious company.

SALONIKI IMPORTANT MILITARY STATION

Saloniki, Feb. 27.—Macedonia at present strikes one as a peaceful and well organized country with little or no population. Many of the villages and towns which furnished the battle grounds of the allied armies and those of the central powers have been destroyed and the population scattered, mostly by the Bulgarians but partly by the necessities of the allies.

The allied army of Macedonia too, is dwindling and it gives one a feeling of strangeness to travel up and down Macedonia and see familiar places which once were populous with allied troops, now deserted. Camps occupied for two years by the allied forces and which one had come to regard as permanent institutions now are feeding grounds only of flocks of crows picking among the refuse. All the troops have by no means left this part of the world and Saloniki still remains the most important military base in Eastern Europe; but a great change has come over things and one now sees the sturdy native on his diminutive donkey riding in places which for three years was barred to everybody not in khaki.

The Stream of Prisoners.

Robert W. Chambers was reading at the Century club about the capture of Lille when a pacifist interrupted him.

"We don't want to destroy Germany utterly, you know," the pacifist said. "We'll have peace soon and then all this bitterness will be forgotten. I've just been reading an interview with the German crown prince. He seems a pleasant-spoken chap. Expect to come over here to shoot grizzlies after it's all over. Says he's got a lot of friends in the countries of the allies."

"He has, too," said Mr. Chambers, with a grim smile. "Why, his friends are pouring in on us now at the rate of about 40,000 a week."

AMERICANS SING NEW SONG

The Boys of the army of occupation are singing this song quite freely, according to Julius Riddle, who sends the words to his father, Justice of the Peace J. B. Riddle, says the Roseburg News:

Darling I am coming back, Silver threads among the black; Now that peace in Europe nears, I'll be home in seven years.

I'll drop in on you some night, With my whiskers long and white; Yes, the war is over, dear, And we're going home, I hear.

Home again with you once more, Say—by nineteen twenty four; Once I thought by now I'd be Sailing back across the sea.

Back to where you sit and pine But I'm stuck here on the Rhine; You can hear the gang all curse, War is hell—but peace is worse.

When the next war comes around, In the front lines I'll be found; I'll rush in again, pell-mell, Yes, I will—like hell, like hell.

DAILY HEALTH TALKS

Where Most Sickness Begins and Ends

BY FRANKLIN DUANE, M. D.

It can be said broadly that most human ills begin in the stomach and end in the stomach. Good digestion means good health, and poor digestion means bad health. The minute your stomach fails to properly dispose of the food you eat, troubles begin to crop out in various forms. Indigestion and dyspepsia are the commonest forms, but thin, impure blood, headaches, backaches, pimples, blotches, dizziness, belching, coated tongue, weakness, poor appetite, sleeplessness, coughs, eczema and bronchitis are almost as common. There is but one way to have good health, and that is to put and keep your stomach in good order. This is easy to do if you take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is a wonderful tonic and blood purifier, and is so safe to take, for it is made of roots and herbs. Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., stands behind this standard medicine, and it is good to know that so distinguished a physician is proud to have his name identified with it. When you take Golden Medical Discovery, you are getting the benefit of the experience of a doctor whose reputation goes all around the earth. Still more, you get a temperance medicine that contains not a drop of alcohol or narcotic of any kind. Long ago Dr. Pierce combined certain valuable vegetable ingredients—without the use of alcohol—so that these remedies always have been strictly temperance medicines. If piles are torturing you, get and use Pierce's Anodyne Pile Ointment. The quick relief it gives is hard to believe until you try it. If constipated, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be taken while using Anodyne Pile Ointment. Few indeed are the cases which these splendid remedies will not relieve and usually overcome. They are so good that nearly every drug store has them for sale.

OLD AGE STARTS WITH YOUR KIDNEYS

Science says that old age begins with weakened kidneys and digestive organs. This being true, it is easy to believe that by keeping the kidneys and digestive organs cleansed and in proper working order old age can be deferred and life prolonged far beyond that enjoyed by the average person.

For over 200 years GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has been relieving the weakness and disability due to advancing years. It is a standard old-time home remedy and needs no introduction. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil is enclosed in odorless, tasteless capsules containing 8 drops each. Take them as you would a pill, with a swallow of water. The oil stimulates the kidney action and enables the organs to throw off the poisons which cause premature old age. New life and strength increase as you continue the treatment. When completely restored continue taking a capsule or two each day. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules will keep you in health and vigor and prevent a return of the disease.

Do not wait until old age or disease have settled down for good. At the first sign that your kidneys are not working properly, go to your druggist and get a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. Money refunded if they do not help you. Three sizes. But remember to ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand. In sealed packages.
