SOLDIER LETTERS

Sampler of French Money

In a letter dated at Fort de Tannan, France, January 30, 1919, Wallace Coutant sends seven pieces of French paper money, francs and half francs. They remind one of the shinplaster of the civil war and in addition they suggest very strongly the wild cat money that was used long before the civil war. This money is issued by the chambers of commerce of Nancy, Macon Bourg, Grenoble, Bar-le-Duc, Chambéry, St. Dizier, Bordeaux. These are all signed by the officers of the chambers of commerce of these cities and appear to be backed by the Bank of France.

Below is his letter:

Dear Folks:

Have your letter of December 23, which came the 27th of this month, along with several others the boys brought down on their return from Company A camp after the band concert.

I went up to Stenay from Sivry the night of the 24th and visited some of our fellows and on my return the next morning I found our service company about to move, so I decided not to go in to hear the band concert. The fellows say that the 23rd Engineers have a fine band and that they put on a good program.

We are camped in the same place that Company A was located the latter part of November and the one I left for my leave November 23d. It is about five miles east of Verdun and about a mile and a half north of the Verdun-Metz highway. There are six of us in a dugout with two stoves, one wood and one coal, to keep us warm. It is not much of a home, but we manage to get along.

There is about two inches of snow on the ground and it is impossible to do any road work, so we lay in most of the time. I have been out on the job just one day since I wrote last.

A nice letter from Sis and one from Clyde Smith along with yours. Clyde's was written Nov. 5th and must have been lost somewhere, for I have had one from him since then.

The captain of this outfit was in our dugout just now talking shop to us. He sure is a fine fellow and seems to take great interest in the welfare of his men and also of the engineers attached to his outfit.

Am enclosing a few samples of franc and half franc pieces representing the different chambers of commerce districts. Each one has a different color and size, it seems. The five, ten, twenty, fifty and one hundred franc notes are all issued by the Bank of France.

No news of when we are coming home yet.

HAPPY MORRISON MARSHALL

Morrison Marshall, a youngster adopted about two years ago by Vice President and Mrs. Marshall, has made a place for himself not only in the affections of his adopted parents but in the hearts of many of their friends. He was the sickly half of twins when the Marshalls adopted him, but he was quickly brought to health and shows every sign of happiness.

Bad Business.

Said the facetious philosopher: "Putting something away for a rainy day is excellent business policy, but what gets a lot of fellows in the tolls of the law is putting it away for a dry one."

Y. W. C. A. PROMOTES WORLD FELLOWSHIP

Will Send Industrial Commission to Meet Foreign Labor Leaders.

The War Work Council of the Young Women's Christian Association plans to send an industrial commission of women to England, France and Italy in April to meet prominent labor leaders of those countries with a view to promoting world fellowship among women.

The commission will be made up of Mrs. Raymond Robbins, representing the National Women's Trade Union League of America; Mrs. Irene Osgood Andrews, American Association for Labor Legislation; Miss Grace Drake, National Consumers' League; Mrs. James S. Cushman, chairman of the War Work Council of the Young Women's Christian Association; Miss Florence Simms, Miss Marie Wing and Miss Imogene B. Ireland, secretary to the commission, all of the Y. W. C. A., and Miss Mary Gilson, an authority on employment management.

Miss Florence Simms says in regard to the commission: "The war has forced upon us the bearing of international relationships in all things, and our touch with women in other countries has made us include in our international thinking the industrial life of women. The war has wrought so many changes in this that it seems a timely thing that women interested in the larger life of our women workers should take counsel together and express their interest with the hope that certain minimum standards which seem essential to health and welfare among women may be agreed upon and obtained."

Our War Work Council is sending abroad this women's commission from organizations in America directly concerned with the welfare and largest life of industrial women."

NAPOLEON'S MAXIMS OF WAR

Rules Laid Down by Great Soldier Were Followed Almost Literally by General Foch.

Napoleon was a prolific war maxim-maker. His maxims number more than a hundred. Many of them are as true today as when they were made, observes London Answers.

"In war," said Napoleon, "there is never more than one favorable moment. The great art is to seize it and use it well."

Foch seized the "favorable moment," and in a month not only saved the situation, but turned the tables on the enemy. He "concentrated his troops and acted with energy," as Napoleon laid down.

Commonsense—the application of wisdom to circumstances—is Foch's maxim, as it was Napoleon's. Napoleon has written: "Plans may be modified as infallibly according to circumstances, the genius of the general, the character of the troops, and the features of the country."

Napoleon insisted upon the study of past campaigns. "The science of strategy," he said, "is to be acquired by experience and studying the campaigns of all great captains."

Foch has been a lifelong student of military history. In the spring he was acting up to Napoleon's dictum—"the measure which is not profoundly meditated in all its details produces no result." When Foch was ready he "dared at the right moment." For 20 years past Foch has been "profoundly meditating" the details of the strategy which has given him such signal success.

RANK HIGH IN POLITENESS

Belgians Unable to Forget Courtesies Though Death in Appalling Form Was Imminent.

The Belgians are the most polite people in the world. Yesterday seven correspondents traveled to Audenarde. We were informed that we might cross the Escaut and proceed in the direction of Ghent. As our two motor cars came over the ridge before entering the town they were spotted by an eagle-eyed observer in the German lines, and as we reached the entrance of the town and left from our cars, preparing to enter on foot, a shell whizzed over our heads and exploded dully in a rain-soaked field 50 yards beyond the road. Another followed about the same distance short. Then they came so fast that I lost count. Gas shells they were, and we donned our masks and made for the cars.

The lieutenant in charge of our party bowed to the oldest correspondent and bade him enter the car. The latter, being Belgian, in turn bowing to his neighbor, motioned him into the car. He demurred, and then followed some Alphonse and Gaston moving pictures until someone motioned to me to enter the car. I did. Then they all piled in. And as we raced down the road two Thielit shells splintered spluttered along the muddy road.

Swiftest Dog.

The swiftest dog in the world, the borzoi, or Russian wolfhound, has made record runs that show 75 feet in a second, which would give it a speed of 4,500 feet in a minute if the pace could be kept up.

It Pays To Read Advertisements

—You've often heard the saying, "It pays to advertise." That is true. And it also pays to read advertisements—pays you. If you read advertisements consistently for any length of time you will agree that this statement is also true.

IT PAYS YOU IN MONEY SAVED. There are many real bargains offered from time to time in the advertisements appearing in this paper. Watch for them.

IT PAYS YOU IN SATISFACTION. When a merchant asks you to come to his store he obligates himself to sell you quality goods "as advertised." You have a right to expect satisfaction from what you buy and you get it.

IT PAYS YOU IN TIME SAVED. When you know exactly what you want to buy and where you want to buy it, you don't have to "look around" and waste time finding it.

—Don't you want to save money and time? Wouldn't you like to be sure of getting satisfactory service and quality goods every time you go to a store? Then read the advertisements and patronize the store which can serve you best.
