CAMP GROUND AT PARK WILL BE RECONSIDERED

At the Chamber of Commerce luncheon this noon T. P. Cramer spoke of the state chamber of commerce movement and urged membership in that body, stating that 100 members are expected from Josephine county.

Protests to the closing of the free auto camp have been coming in to the chamber directors and the matter will be further discussed at the next Monday luncheon. O. S. Blanchard and C. A. Winetrot were appointed to speak in favor of the camp and J. N. Johnston and Sam Baker were appointed to speak against the park. Sam Baker announced that he was in favor of the park and did not care to speak against it but his objection was overruled.

The next luncheon will be held at the Josephine hotel.

Mr. McAllister, of the Portland stockyards, was introduced and spoke of the improvement of the stock conditions in this section. A few years ago southern Oregon hogs brought from 1 to 2 cents below the market and cattle were away below the market. But last week a shipment of stock from this county topped the Portland market. He predicted still further improvement in conditions when irrigation becomes an accomplished fact.

Chairman Stott then called on Rev. L. Myron Boozer, who was in the city today for a few hours.

Mr. Boozer said in part:

"Every new era in history has severely taxed the capacity and resources of man. No one the world over needs to be told today that which is universally recognized as a fact, that a new era has dawned on the world. The most important phase of the new era is the challenge it sends out. The new era challenges the mind of men. The mental life of the world must be increasingly active, desperately in earnest, broad and purposeful. Mental grasp and poise in relation to the world problems is the need of the hour. Men best equipped by training, experience and natural gift must modify the thinking of the great mass of untrained minds represented in the radical and destructive elements of society. The challenge is to be the statesmanship of the world. This statesmanship must recognize in a comprehensive manner the mind and heart of the great mass of mankind and meet its requirements. This requires a statesmanship sublime in purpose, constructive in genius, and courageously venturing in enterprise, a statesmanship international, national and local in its expression. It is a day to test and challenge the resources of the world. The philosophy of life is in the crucible. In that crucible the German philosophy has had its dross burned out and little remains. The philosophy of America, righteous, just and liberty breeding, is today the one great hope of the world. Institutions are being strained to the breaking point. If the institutions of democracy do not survive chaos and ruin are inevitable. The day comes to challenge the vitality of things spiritual. Absolute genuineness of soul heart, strengthened by the sense of its own rightness is that which the present demands. For the man who is in possession of the great, deep, eternal truths never had such an opportunity for glorious service and immortal victory been known."

SPECIAL MUSICAL SCORE

Dairymen Attention

Build up your business and patronize the Hazelwood Creamery at Grants Pass, as they have proven themselves worthy of your support. They stood the government test in every way. No charges could be found against them, as was found against another company which was found guilty and paid a fine of $7,500. You might be drawn into the same concern if you do not beware.

You are working against yourself if you patronize a concern that will boost prices to control the market and then float it and drop you way down, and then come around and try to smooth things over by soft soaping you and working the sympathy racket by old friendships. We have such a fellow in this part of the country trying to work the game. I don't say this to discourage you, but from a business standpoint. I have been in the creamery business for 35 years and I have seen all kinds of games worked, but I have found only one way to do business, and that is to deal on the square, give a man what belongs to him and no more nor less, both in weight and test.

Your money is always ready for you. I treat my patrons right. In that way I have built up a business that will stand inspection. I also pay highest market price for eggs and poultry of all kinds.

Heavy hens 4 pounds and better, 28 cents today, and hens of all description and weight, 26 cents.

Yours truly,

C. K. NELSON.
