Give It a Name.
A screwless corkscrew has been invented, a pointed shaft carrying a piece of metal on a pivot so that it falls at the right angle beneath a cork that it has been thrust through.

Speak Up, Then.
Said the facetious feller, "You've all heard that old wheeze about hearing Pike Speak; but did any of you ever hear Jack and the Beans Talk?"

"The Gypsy Trail"
There are people undoubtedly, who elect to follow the gypsy trail through life, caring little whether it may lead, so long as they find adventure along the way or freedom from ties that bind them to one spot. This is the theme of the new Paramount picture, "The Gypsy Trail," in which Bryant Washburn is starred and which is shown at the Joy Theatre tonight and tomorrow. But the star is not the Gypsy—on the other hand, he is a kindly man, who loves fondly, but who lacks the vigor that will win his choice. In the end, however, he triumphs over the purely superficial picturesqueness of the rover.

Do you recall Bryant Washburn of "Skinner" fame? Of course you do. He is unforgettable.

"The Gypsy Trail" is one of the most delightful comedies that has been presented in many moons and the role supplied Mr. Washburn is thoroughly human and sympathetic.
