GIVE EVERY BOY A CHANCE

A beautiful summer camp near Hartford, Conn., was burned recently. The guilty parties proved to be two young boys, "Not old enough to hang" as the irate owner lamented. They said they did it "just to see it burn."

In direct contrast to this is the report in a Pennsylvania paper of the prompt action of some Boy Scouts in extinguishing a fire which started on the mountain side near a town and threatened dire consequences. The boys not only wanted to help, but they knew what to do. They recognized public danger and private responsibility.

There could be no better illustration of the value of that great movement which takes heed of the boy's love of action and directs it into proper channels without attempting to curb it otherwise.

The thing is to make the movement far-reaching enough to include all sorts and conditions of boys. The sorry urchin whose home influences are all bad needs kind and understanding leadership far more than the bright, dependable boy from the good family. If he doesn't get it while he is too young to hang he commits his minor crimes, and by the time he is old enough to hang he probably deserves it.

Every boy should have his chance at finding happiness in properly directed activity, for his own sake and for the public safety.

BELIEVES IN PRINTERS' INK

Roger W. Babson, director general of the U. S. department of labor says:

"To overcome the present inertia on the part of the buying public more advertising must be done by merchants as well as by manufacturers.

"The public has more money now than it has ever had before, but is hesitant about spending it. Such a state of mind can be overcome surely and quickly only by advertising.

"The department of labor believes that in fostering this movement for "more advertising" it can shorten the period of readjustment of business and industry from war work to peace work. Only by more advertising can unemployment be prevented."

A COMMUNITY SERVICE
One of the net products of the war was the demonstration that banks are the strongest factor in community service.
In most cases the banks became the headquarters in the liberty loan drives and met the increased demand generously.
In nearly every city when called upon they put in additional desks and hired increased force to do the work necessary.
The bank is the keystone in the

Regarding the rumor of a cut in the price of the FORD and the making of a new and cheaper car we quote a letter just received from Edsel Ford, president Ford Motor Co.:

"In the first place a large majority of the reports afloat are greatly distorted and exaggerated. A new car may be manufactured but as to when it will be manufactured we are not in a position to say, except that we do know a new car could not possibly be designed, tested out, manufactured and marketed in quantities, under two or three years' time."
