KEEP HIM IN

Friends of Eugene V. Debs are busy. They are mailing millions of postcards to people in the United States asking their support in securing the freedom of Debs from prison for violation of the espionage act. The card, in part, reads:

"The most autocratic European nations have released their political prisoners. Only here in the United States does a 'democratic' administration still throw men and women into jail for having spoken their honest convictions."

The cards further ask that those who receive them "demand the immediate release of Debs." The fact that the cards are signed by "C.C.C." and do not reveal the sender's real name is ample proof that he is a coward—is living in mortal fear of the law. And well he should live in fear. The scheme is merely another process started by the red element to cause the United States more trouble.

Debs has lived in the United States for many years, and has always fought the government. From his youth he has been a rank agitator, always to be found with the disgruntled faction—and it might be said the lawless faction. If there had been enough men of Debs' calibre in America our brave soldiers would have been crushed by the Kaiser's haughty cracker-jacks and America would now be paying indemnities to the red-handed Huns.

It is just such fellows as Debs that would tear the United States asunder. He is now where he belongs—keep him there. This is the Courier's answer to the request that we "demand his immediate release."

BANK CLEARINGS

Harper's magazine calls attention to a remarkable fact of present business conditions.

Business, according to the usual view, has been bad for three or four months, and is still bad. There has been nothing approximating a panic, but there has been a general dullness or depression. Almost any business man will tell you that.

Now, in the past one of the most accurate indexes to the volume of current business has been the volume of bank clearings. The principle of the thing is simple enough—the more business transacted, the more money is handled by the banks in the form of checks and drafts. Conversely, the more paper handled by the banks, the more business is being done.

Remembering, then, how very "good" business was in the early months of last year, most people will be surprised to learn that in the corresponding months of this year the bank clearances reported for the whole country are considerably higher. Thus, taking two typical dates, we find that the clearings reported on February 15, 1918, were $5,180,000,000 and on the same date of 1919 they were $5,937,000,000; on March 1 of last year they were $6,571,000,000 and on March 1 of this year, $7,477,000,000. The gains for the four separate weeks ending March 1 range from 11 to 27 per cent. A comparison of clearances from newspapers of recent date will mostly show the same situation.

Financial experts mention certain facts as contributing to the volume of bank clearances without actually serving as a record of increased business. There must be such factors, of course, because no well informed man can believe that business is actually better now than it was a year ago. But these increased clearings cannot be entirely explained away. There is an enormous and unprecedented amount of money—if we reckon checks and drafts as money—circulating around the country in payment of old obligations and new bills, and it probably represents a larger amount of actual, current business and "better times" than most persons have any idea of.

EVERY-DAY PATRIOTISM

Subscribing to the Victory loan will be the test of true patriotism.

The former loans were subscribed under the impulse of enthusiasm, an outpouring of the human desire to lend a hand when catastrophe falls upon a neighbor, together with the righteous wrath which doubles the fist in self-defense at unprovoked assault.

This loan will offer no such incentive. It is true. Subscriptions to it will mean the same steady, faithful love of country which is but an enlargement of the faithful love of home—the kind of love which sends a man to his business day after day, and keeps a woman steadfastly at her household tasks. If either fails to do his part the home disintegrates and is finally destroyed.

Just so with the nation. Its strength depends upon the faithfulness of the individual citizens in the unexciting routine of daily life.

The people who run in with well-turned phrases of sympathy, with food and flowers in time of trouble are all very well; but the folks who make the world go round are the ones who perform tedious tasks of every day and pay the monthly bills without waiting for the stimulus of a thrilling crisis, but just because it is the thing to do.

Here's Help

MANY bed-ridden sufferers from backache and rheumatic pains owe their condition to the fact that they neglected the first warning of kidney trouble. Prompt action at the first sign of disordered kidneys will prevent much suffering. Keep the blood stream pure by keeping the kidneys healthy and the poisonous waste matter that causes pain and misery will be eliminated from the system.

Foley Kidney Pills

have brought relief to thousands of suffering men and women who were afflicted with backache, rheumatic pains, stiff or swollen joints, sore muscles, dizziness, puffiness under eyes, floating specks, biliousness, bladder weakness, loss of appetite or other symptoms of kidney trouble.

Mrs. Sam C. Small, Clayton, N. M., writes: "In January I was taken bad with my kidneys and bladder. I had been in bed two months, but kept getting worse. Then I got so bad something had to be done. We noticed an advertisement in the Clayton News for Foley Kidney Pills and we sent for some. They have done me more good than all the medicine I have taken. I am better than I have been for years."

A REAL HERO

The following item recently appeared in The Statesman, at Salem:

"Sergeant Albert C. Presley, of this city, who won the distinguished service cross after he had captured a machine gun and 20 German prisoners single handed, arrived in New York today aboard the transport Kentuckian, according to press dispatches this afternoon."

The Salem Capital-Journal, in commenting editorially on the bravery of Presley, remarks:

"The Grants Pass boy who captured single-handed a machine gun and 20 Germans has reached New York on his way to Oregon. Seems like there should be a reception coming to a fellow like that, when he gets off the train at his old home town. Since this hero's father is a resident of Salem now, the Capital City ought to watch for his coming also, and make a day so big they will print it in red letters on the calendars hereafter."

RED CROSS TO CARRY ON

The war department will not disband the base hospitals and 50 will be retained in this country which will be at the service of the Red Cross from which they can obtain supplies in time of epidemic and disaster. It is realized that the universal problems of home service and nursing will not appeal as will disaster, but they will be the means of saving many lives.

The plan of the Red Cross in times of peace is one of service to the world and to assist in the betterment of humanity. To place at the service of those who desire it trained workers who can show how home and community conditions may be improved. To show that the root of the disease must be reached in order to cure it, and that the cure must start primarily with the children. To as far as possible to remove the cause of the disease must be the aim. To accomplish this home service and nursing, committees must cooperate. Eight hundred thousand men were disqualified for service in the war from physical causes; six times as many died from influenza as were killed; for every soldier who died in France, nine children died of disease or mal-nutrition. It is said "we see the things we are trained to see" and no home service or nursing can be effective without trained workers; any chapter wishing to carry on the plan of service beyond the war must have especially trained leaders and to this end advanced institute courses will be given from time to time in this work and it will be compulsory for each chapter so electing to send at least one qualified person to take this training.

President Lingley, of the University of Idaho, spoke on human engineering and laid especial stress upon the matter of employment. The need of congenial employment is necessary for giving the best that is in one, and he urged that home and recreational conditions be made right for all workers; that initiative on the part of an employee be recognized and that men and women be paid enough for a living and not a mere existence.

It is impossible to condense the work of three days into a column. I have merely been able to touch upon the work of which we will hear much in the days to come.
