DIED
VARNER—In this city April 21, Richard Varner, 3-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Varner. The funeral service was held at the family home on Foundry street Tuesday afternoon, with interment in the Granite Hill cemetery. Mrs. Chas. R. Drake conducted the services.

WOLF CREEK

Except to slightly thin plums, peaches and cherries, frosts have done no damage here. Some of the late fall sown grain was frozen or drowned out during the winter. Some fields which were sown three-quarters oats and one-quarter vetch, now have a stand of three-quarters vetch and one-quarter oats, this is intended for hay.

War on wild mustard, digger squirrels, gophers and moles has begun in earnest and all are urged to continue until victory is complete.

W. G. Smith has just returned from attending at Medford of the meeting of the Southern Oregon Presbytery. Mr. Smith also visited the Southern Oregon Experiment station and fields where Fordson tractors were at work. The Fordson is proclaimed by all users to be "a wonderful little machine." It is expected to greatly expedite cultivation in this little valley.
