BIG WAGES AND SHORT HOURS

As events come and go, it is more and more apparent that there will soon be a split in the ranks of labor. There is such a vast difference in men, both from a loyalty and square deal standpoint.

There is the conservative, or safe and sane labor element, that believes in giving full measure of work for value received and who wish to avoid strikes and resultant delays—days of idleness which always follow. Then there is the radical, Red element, that believes the world owes them a living and are willing to sacrifice home, honor, and even law and order to bring capital to its knees and wreck industry to gain their end.

For many months the labor question has been in the crucible, from which must soon emerge the victorious element—the discordant radical, or the safe and sane group. The radicals have taken the bit in their teeth and made desperate efforts to swing labor into the ranks of bolshevism, but latest developments show they are fighting a hopeless battle. The square deal element are now taking matters into their own hands. Mayor Hanson's action at Seattle showed them that the bolshevist route was a dangerous one to travel in America.

But the radical element is not yet down and out. In the San Francisco district they are now demanding a 44-hour week, and have endorsed the six hour day and passed resolutions favoring the Mooney strike proposition and the freeing of all political prisoners, which includes Mooney and Eugene V. Debs. Unless their demands are granted they threaten to paralyze all industries in that section of the country and now have their walking delegates busy urging strikes in all the big labor centers.

Over at Marshfield the Loyal Legion of Loggers and Lumbermen are coldly ignoring the radical element. They are working for a universal eight-hour day and say they are willing to give eight hours actual work for a reasonable wage. Their stand is commendable and will receive the endorsement of the American public. The organized labor problem is the biggest single item facing the country today but it is a safe prediction that the radical element, totally without public sympathy, will be whipped into line.

"Politics is adjourned," yet the democrats are claiming all the honor for advancing the cause of woman suffrage. Even Old Champ Clark is lauding President Wilson as the champion of woman suffrage; but Champ apparently has forgotten that the president, when he first entered office, repudiated woman suffrage and told the ladies in waiting that he did not then know what his party would do in regard to the matter. And now there appears to be a race between the republicans and democrats to gain favor with the ladies by granting them the ballot. The women should worry—they are sure to win.

Ashland is preparing to celebrate the Fourth of July in a manner that will go down in history as the greatest event ever staged in Southern Oregon. In connection with the regular celebration features, will be the annual Rogue River roundup.

The president said the peace terms and the league of nations would be so interwoven that they could not be separated without destroying the whole structure; nevertheless Senator Sherman of Illinois wants to try it, to see what kind of stuff it is made of.

The Germans claim, according to a dispatch, that there is no trace of President Wilson's 14 points in the peace terms. Evidently Lloyd George and Clemenceau have been mixing medicine.

The flying squadron, which will travel from Mather Field, Sacramento, to Portland for the rose festival will not make a stop at Grants Pass. They have, however, been invited to make a stop at the military post at the O. A. C.

Thinning fruit in the Rogue river valley is now the order of the day. According to the Medford Tribune, the supply of thinners to date is less than a year ago, with double the demand.

The rose festival will be held at Portland, but Grants Pass is a veritable rose garden. A walk or drive along any of our city streets is convincing proof.

Portland hotel clerks say they cannot guarantee rooms during the rose festival. Why not snooze amidst the roses?

A vote for the market roads measure is a vote for the farmer; a vote for the Roosevelt highway is a vote to pull Oregon out of the mud.

The chief American game right now appears to be "waiting for prices to drop."

LOYAL LEGION ON RECORD AS FAVORING 8-HOUR DAY

Portland, May 22.—Favoring extension and fuller application of the eight hour day, making certain changes in the machinery of the organization, and listening to reports, gave the board of directors of the central governing body of the Loyal Legion of Loggers and Lumbermen two busy sessions yesterday, both full of constructive work.

A resolution was introduced favoring the eight-hour day as it is applied in the limits of the Loyal Legion, for all industry in the country and met with the enthusiastic approval of the board. Included in the resolution was a motion to inform representatives of the three Northwest states in congress of the action taken and to urge upon these representatives its full consideration in framing labor legislation.

Within the lumbering industry itself, it was resolved to extend the present basic eight-hour day in force in the sawmills to the planing mills. The workday is to be handled in the same manner in the planing mills as in the sawmills—that is, eight hours constitutes the basic workday, and when emergency requires overtime, this shall be paid for at the rate of time and a half.

GOOD roasts of choice beef, veal, etc., are as rare at some butcher shops as a cup race without a Shamrock.

SOLDIERS AS GUESTS ON "VICTORY DAY"

The second day of Chautauqua, "Victory Day," brings four overseas men singing the songs they sung in France. As a special feature of the day Sergeant Gibbons, of the first contingent of Canadians, comes in the evening with a thrilling and interesting story of his experiences during the early days of the war. Sergeant Gibbons was for seven months a prisoner of war in a number of German prison camps.

All men who have been in the service or are in at the present time will be admitted free as guests of the quartet and Sergeant Gibbons.

Sergeant Bauer, who has charge of the recruiting district of Southern Oregon, has suggested that all discharged men appear in uniform on Chautauqua Victory day, and make it a day for the boys.
