END OF WAR NO EXCUSE

A. C. Townley and Joseph Gilbert, the one president and the other non-partisan league organizer, are to stand trial on charges of disloyalty. Townley is said to have published a pamphlet in violation of the espionage act, and Gilbert has been indicted for having made public utterances designed to discourage patriotic cooperation during the war.

bring all such to the bar of justice. The fact that the war was won and that the peace treaty is about to be signed cuts no figure. Let all offenders be properly punished.

Some of the I. W. W. leaders convicted before Judge Landis in Chicago have been allowed bail pending a new trial. We note, however, that bonds for the release of William D. Haywood, now serving sentence at Fort Leavenworth, have been refused by the United States circuit court of appeals, the proffered securities being regarded as insufficient.

All over the world there are signs of unrest. Anarchists, bolsheviks and the "direct action" miscreants are boldly asserting their damnable doctrines in many places and entering into conspiracies where they do not dare work in the open.

be constantly on their guard. The world is about to enter upon a new era, but there will be no such thing as absolute security until the anarchist agitators are put where they rightfully belong.

MERCHANTS WEAR DEEP PATH AROUND DIAMOND

The Merchant princes in their game last evening with the Mechanics, got busy in the first inning, scoring seven times on three hits, six errors; in the second, three runs on three hits and a base on balls; in the third, six runs on four hits, of which two were doubles, assisted by two passes and an error, and completed a satisfactory evening's work with three runs resulting from a pass and three fielding errors.

The Mechanics made a hardy try to catch up, making five runs in the second inning, on four hits mixed with two passes. In the fourth also they made two runs on passes, a hit and three errors.

Vernon Coburn kept up his fine box work, striking out 5 batters and allowing 7 hits in all. Blevins, the Mechanics' tall tosser, struck out 3 and allowed 11 safe hits. Bratton made three safe hits in four times at bat. Tingley, Bears and Pernoll each made a two base hit.

A distinguished looking gentleman was sitting near Judge Holman. About the close of the second inning he inquired, "What is this game supposed to be." His speech betrayed the New England ancestry. The judge eyed him coldly. Drawing his six-shooter and laying it meaningfully across his knee, he replied, "This is supposed to be a twilight baseball game, but darn you, don't you laugh."

There are those hypocritical persons who take no pleasure in a 19 to 7 game. They may be classed with aesthetes who see no artistry in a comic supplement, or the musical critic who would banish jazz bands. But to the public who pays the admission plus the war tax, a hit is to be cheered, an error jeered and a run is to be rejoiced in. We rejoiced greatly last evening and came home hoarse.

Said Frank Mashburn to Charlie Adair, "Get on first base, or out you go." Charlie naturally felt that his job was at stake and made heroic efforts. After fouling down both first and third base lines, he succeeded in getting under one of Blevins' benders for a pretty single in right field. Says Frank to Charlie, "Here is that 35c I owe you."
