BROUGHT BOY TO HIS DAD

Red Cross Workers Set Out to Find the Young Soldier and of Course They Succeeded.

Dad was from some little town near Cincinnati. He had come all the way to Indianapolis to see his boy, his only son who had been away from home for four years. The boy was in the army and was being transferred. He was to be in Indianapolis on Sunday and wired his father to meet him. Somehow, father and son missed connection in the union station. Dad decided to appeal to the women of the Red Cross canteen booth.

"I was to meet him here," dad said. "He hasn't shown up. I know he's in Indianapolis somewhere."

The canteeners got busy. Dad and his boy had to be brought together. First the canteeners summoned the military police. They got a description of son. The M. P.'s started out to find him. The canteeners also started scouts. They visited every downtown corner and haunt of the soldiers. An hour later the canteeners looked up toward the station door. In came dad and his boy—arm in arm.

"I did just as you told me," the father said. "You told me to go uptown and stand on that corner. You said he'd pass there, and pretty soon he did. The military police kept coming by to ask if I had a trail of him. And then he came. My, but he was glad to see me!"

Of course he was glad to see him. The boy's smile told how glad he was to see his dad.—Indianapolis News.

furiously, chirped: "Hello, General Fair-r-r-shing!" And there came into the general's eyes a suspicious moisture indicating that he might be thinking of another "kid" a little bit older, somewhere in America."

"BLACK JACK" KISSES JEAN

French Boy Reminds American General of Home.

An old Atlanta newspaperman now in France writes describing a visit of General Pershing to the front just before the drive for and capture of Fismes.

"When the general came into the yard at Annex twenty-nine of us were playing tag with Jean, the 6-year-old 'mascot' of Base No. 48," he says. "Of course we all snapped to attention and saluted. And little Jean, clicking his heels in true military fashion, came to attention with an American salute, holding it like a small statue until the 'big chief' returned it. The instant the general finished his salute he walked over to Jean, lifted him up and gave him a regular old campaigner's hug with a regular American daddy kiss right on the mouth. Jean, though blushing
