TELLS OF ROOSEVELT'S LAST AERIAL BATTLE

Los Angeles, June 30.—A graphic story of the last fight of Quentin Roosevelt and his plunge to death on the banks of the Ourcq in France, was brought to Los Angeles by Harry Charles Weber of Philadelphia, former machine gunner, who saw the entire battle. Webber who visited his uncle here, wrote the account in a memorandum book on the day of the fight. It reads:
"Some one cries, 'Look!' and pointed skyward. Quickly turning my eyes in the direction indicated, I saw them come together a mighty crash and some smoke. There was a moment of suspense. Then both turned their noses towards the earth.
"The black one sped downward like a bullet. It was a German. The other, silver colored, seemed to wilt and fall. It was American. A long-long way and then the clouds—they could not be seen for a few seconds. They out they came, the Boche far ahead. It seemed as if the Yankee machine would right itself. It kept turning round and round, the tail always pointing upward. Sometimes it dipped until it was the almost horizontal. I felt my whole body sway with it. I knew it was the last struggle of an intrepid aviator, but it was all in vain. My face grew hot and feverish, my fist clenched, as against the golden clouds of a beautiful sunset I saw his machine crash headlong to earth for the last time."

The battle took place over the German lines and it was two days before Weber knew he had witnessed the death of Quentin Roosevelt.

FORMER GRANTS PASS TEACHER IS MARRIED

On Wednesday afternoon, June 25 Miss Lucy Christina McLean, formerly of this city, became the bride of Charles Cuthbert Barnes, of St. Louis, Mo., Dean W. O. Rustin, of the Dubuque, Iowa, theological college and seminary performing the ceremony. The couple stood under a canopy of wedding bells, maiden hair ferns and vines, in a room banked with ferns and white field daisies, on the spot where the bride's father, Rev. Robert McLean, and mother were married.
Mr. and Mrs. Barnes will be at home after July 15 in Auburn, N. Y., where the groom intends to complete his studies in the theological seminary.
After leaving Grants Pass where Miss McLean was instructor in the high school, she taught Spanish in Dubuque and later was instructor in Spanish in the Los Angeles schools.

F. S. Bramwell went to Salem last night on business.

"UNDER THE TOP" AT THE JOY WEDNESDAY

James Huneker, one of America's foremost art critics, has ranked Fred Stone as the leading comedian, acrobat and dancer in the country. It was he who pointed out so trenchantly about a year ago that Mr. Stone's work belongs in the realm of fine arts, and that the elastic Fred has brought to the American stage a distinctive genius for fun-making.

Now this genius has been transferred to the films and hundreds of thousands of persons, who have heretofore been deprived of seeing Fred Stone, because of living such a great distance from the metropolitan centers where he appeared, will have a chance to view his really extraordinary art. His work is difficult to define; it consists of flashes of real acting, a humor that is spontaneous and human, an acrobatic skill that gives the spectator the idea that Mr. Stone has no bones in his body, and wonderful dancing that is absolutely individual.

All these elements are combined in the second Artercraft picture "Under the Top," which will be shown at the Star theatre Wednesday and Thursday. This is a charming comedy-drama of circus life, which was written by Anita Loos and John Emerson.
