The Better World.
If I had to choose between a world in which millions of people had things to believe that they would die for and run the risk of dying for, and a cold, weak, safety first world jacked up by lawyers, I should prefer a world I could die in.—Gerald Stanley Lee in Saturday Evening Post.

IS TOO CONSCIENTIOUS

Objects to War and Gets 15 Years in Penitentiary.

He not only was a conscientious objector to war but also had similar conscientious scruples against kitchen police duty, signing the pay roll or helping police the battery area. Officers stated at the court-martial at Columbia, S. C., that his conscience stood in the way of any kind of work he was asked to do. That's why Private Nussbaum, according to the court-martial sentence, must serve fifteen years at hard labor in the Fort Leavenworth military prison and is deprived of all his pay and allowance. At the expiration of his term Nussbaum is to be dishonorably discharged.

BULLET DIDN'T KILL
Moose Lived for Days With One in Its Heart.

The head of a bull moose, which lived for days and perhaps for weeks with a bullet in its heart, now graces the west door of the South Dakota capitol at Pierre. It has an antler spread of six feet. The animal was killed by B. A. Cummins of Pierre while hunting in Canada and the mounting was done at Winnipeg.

When the moose was dissected the bullet was found in its heart, covered with rust, and hunters believe that the animal had carried the bullet for a considerable length of time. The moose seemingly was in the best of health when killed.

Double Admits Relationship.
When Cincinnati detectives sent a negro prisoner to police headquarters on a charge of carrying liquor into dry territory he looked so much like Jack Johnson that the desk man said: "Jack Johnson?" "No, sah, my name ain't Jack Johnson, but I know him. Him and me is first cousins, boss. His mammy and mah mammy married brothers."
