WATCH CREATION OF FLORA
Botanists intensely interested in Nature's Work on Volcano Island in Bombon Lake, Luzon.
The destruction of vegetation in isolated regions is a matter of great interest to botanists, who are making increasing efforts to observe the creation of the new flora taking the place of the old. Volcano Island, in Bombon lake, Luzon, was chiefly covered by grasses and small trees before the eruption of the Taal volcano in 1911, but the eruption destroyed all plant life except some clumps of bamboos and a few bananas in the northern part of the island. In a report on the vegetation W. H. Brown, E. B. Verill and H. S. Yates note that in six years 29 vascular plants had been recorded, the chief species being a few grasses. Of the total, 54 per cent were probably introduced by birds, about 20 per cent by the wind and about 10 per cent by the water—a different showing from that of the more exposed Island of Krakatau, in the Strait of Sunda, where the chief work of birds was small. The growth of vegetation in Volcano Island is still sparse—a condition attributed to lack of proper soil and the ground's small amount of water and high proportion of sulphates.

Wideawake Mexicans.
A Mexican citizen of Mazatlan recently has been granted a concession of 100 hectares (about 247 acres), and so much more as may be necessary, at the railway station of Oso, state of Sinaloa, for the purpose of establishing an experimental farm to demonstrate the economic value which would result from the proper use of modern American agricultural machinery in the production of crops. It is the intention of the concessionaire to rent portions of the lands at a nominal cost to American manufacturers of agricultural machinery and implements, who may send experts to demonstrate the machinery with the view both to promoting sales of the American goods and to educating the people in the more modern farming methods.

MEDFORD HAS VISIONS OF BIG COAL SUPPLY

It is just becoming known among the business men and residents of Medford that right at our door there has arrived a new business and a steady payroll. What makes this most interesting is the fact that all has been done so quietly, no brass band effect, no bonuses asked from the city, no demand made on the business men to buy stock in order to create the much needed payroll nor is there any stock for sale. This is the property of the Southern Oregon Coal company.
Some time ago W. T. Estep started on a prospect which to the layman appears to be a small streak of black sticky in a gravel bank but being a practical miner of many years experience he knew that it should develop into a good vein of coal. He worked hard, spent considerable money always following the vein which from the beginning grew better with every foot until at the end of a 450 foot tunnel there is a face of coal equal to any on the coast and an analysis shows it stands well at the top of the list of all western coals in quality.
The most important thing from a miners point of view is the fact that there is now a true cap rock and floor, necessary to successful mining and marketable coal. Coal mines have come and gone about Medford in the past several years, the Sunny-side, the Cascade, the Medford, all delivering a little coal and quantities of dirt, unavoidable perhaps for lack of proper geological conditions, mainly, cap rock. The present company have the cap rock for 100 feet back of the present face.—Medford Tribune.
SCHEME DIDN'T WORK RIGHT
Business Man's Pleasant Evening Nothing at All Like What He Planned It Should Be.
"Gosh," exclaimed the business man. "I had the disappointment of my life last night. Even this sunny morning can't take away the sting. For the past month I don't believe I have had one nice, quiet, peaceful night at home—so evening of perfect relaxation. It seemed longer than that."
"Yesterday morning with the thought that at the end of the day I would be free, my step to the office was more springy than usual. Not a business nor social engagement did I have. If anybody had attempted to start anything in either line I would have said, 'Nothing doing, I am going to be busy,' and I would have finished the sentence to myself with 'at home.'"
"I felt like a lark all day. 'Nothing to do tonight,' I kept repeating to myself, 'nothing at all; absolute freedom. I will catch up on the magazines that have been accumulating. I will take up the book that I haven't looked into for so long that I have forgotten who the characters are. I will sit in my favorite soft, easy, sun-kissed chair under the reading lamp. I will don my dressing gown and slippers. I will luxuriate all evening—a nice, quiet, long evening.'"
"I could hardly wait for dinner to be over. When it was, I immediately set about doing all that I had planned. I relaxed, groaning with comfort into my chair. My dog curled up at my feet, something he had not done for a month, too. I went to my reading. I read for an hour. And then, darn it all I got so blamed sleepy that I couldn't hold my eyes open. I just had to go to bed. I hated to do it and I was thoroughly disgusted. But there was no help for it. And there you are; my glorious evening completely ruined because I was too sleepy to enjoy it."—Providence Journal.

For Those Extra Meals Have a Supply of Carnation

There's one trouble you needn't have at all in the busiest time of your year on the fruit farm. You can settle the milk trouble for that time—as for all times—by stocking up with several cases of Carnation is sweet, fresh, pure milk evaporated to consistency of cream, and canned. It keeps perfectly in a cool dry place until used on the table. Dilute Carnation with an equal volume of water, and you have milk of standard consistency for drinking or for any use to which you formerly put ordinary milk. Carnation should be used in tea and coffee or on fruits and cereals just as it comes from the can. Carnation "makes everything you cook taste better." "The Story of Carnation Milk," a book that we will be glad to send you free, gives 100 tested recipes. Mail us your address for it.

Better make a memorandum and get several cases (48 cans per case) of Carnation the next time anybody goes to the store.
