WANTS U.S. TO GIVE IT FREEDOM

Land Made Famous by Noah Picks Mandatory.

EVER HEAR OF NAKHICHEVAN?

Well, it Lies at the Foot of Mt. Ararat, Where the Ark Landed, and is Inhabited by Tatars and Armenians—Diversity of Population Presents Difficult Problem—Strong Hand Necessary to Control the Tribes.

Now add to the list of states that have asked the United States to be their mandatory—Nakhichevan.

"Never heard of Nakhichevan?" asks a bulletin from the National Geographic society. "Well, first consult Genesis viii, 4, for the district in question lies at the foot of Mount Ararat and the town of Nakhichevan contains the alleged graveyard of Noah. The builder of the ark, local tradition affirms, went down into the land that now seeks the wing of the United States and died of thirst in the parched plain after his ark had broken up on the snowy peak of the world's most famous mountain."

The bulletin continues with a description of the region by Maynard Owen Williams, who was the last American to carry on relief work in Armenia, to which land he went from Nakhichevan just before Christmas, 1917. Quoting Mr. Williams, the bulletin says:

Inhabited by Tatars, "The Nakhichevan district, inhabited by Tatars, when peace comes will be bounded on the north by the Armenian district of Erivan. It is bounded on the south by the Arax river, which is the subject of many an Armenian song, and which here forms the boundary between Asiatic Russia and Persia. In the hills to the north-east is Shusha, a strong Armenian center, where the Armenians held out against a circle of foes in the summer of 1918.

"When Russia's power in the Caucasus declined and the soldiers flowed back from the former Russian front in Turkey through the Nakhichevan district the additional hatred between the Armenians of the Erivan district and the Mahometan Tatars broke out. This closed the carriage road to Tabriz and later closed the railway. At great risk several members of the American Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief, with headquarters at Erivan, went to Tabriz and brought back several million rubles in a train that was so crowded with retreating Russian soldiers that one of the committee members, upholstered with hundreds of thousands of rubles, was forced to sleep on the roof of the car in a temperature near zero. Within a week the railway service was stopped by Armenian-Tatar fighting.

"The uprising of the Nakhichevan Tatars was ill timed. German propagandists had placarded the district with posters exhorting these Tatars, who are related to the Turks and are of the same religion, to rise against the Armenians, whom the retreating Russians had left to their own devices. This they did. But the Armenians had spent the winter in raising an army to take over the former Russian front, and about 25,000 of these volunteers were assembled in Erivan.

"The Tatars advanced along the railway (Tiflis to Tabriz) and met serious resistance first at Kamariyu, 80 miles from the city of Nakhichevan. There was some spirited fighting, and the Tatars were soon defeated, and at least one well was filled with their dead bodies. Women and children were not touched by the Armenians. By circling between Kamariyu and Mount Ararat along the wide plain of the Arax the Tatars reached the junction of Ulukhanlu and burned the railway station there, also cutting the Indo-European telegraph line, which joins Tiflis to the rest of the world. This necessitated the sending of Vice Consul Doolittle to Teheran in order to establish connection with Washington at a time when all Americans were being forced to leave Tiflis.

Tatar Villages Sacked. "When I crossed the Idir plain, where Armenians are starving today, these much persecuted people were having their innings and the smoke from a score of burning Tatar villages could be seen. Tatars with arms were allowed to live if they surrendered their guns, and women and children were not touched, but their villages were looted and burned by the Armenians. This was in March, 1919. All the Tatars retreated to the Nakhichevan district, where they formed a majority of the population. There they have remained. Hatred between them and the Armenians is strong, but, due to the greater strength of the Armenians, there are no atrocities.

"The whole problem is made difficult by the diversity of the population. In the mountain villages the Kurds are most numerous. A strong hand will be necessary to control these several tribes. The Kurds have been forced to be butchers by the Turks, who gave them guns as their only tools and who kept agriculture and education from them. Their condition is as bad as that of the Armenians, and when I crossed the Turco-Russian boundary I saw scores of Kurds with only one garment and barefoot at an altitude of 7,000 feet in March."

TEXAS DEMOCRATS DON'T LIKE RUBBER STAMP IDEAS

Fort Worth, Tex., Aug. 15.—Many democrats of Texas, dissatisfied with the present democratic party leaders and principles, conferred here today to formulate plans for party reconstruction.

Two factions participated in the conference, one advocating the formation of a new party, to be known as the "American party," and the other headed by former Senator Joseph W. Bailey, urging reformation within the old organization.

"The platform" of the American party expressed opposition to the league of nations as at present constituted; opposed national equal suffrage and prohibition; demands prison terms for trust formers and urges return of the railroad to their owners.
