OF DEEP HISTORIC INTEREST Possibility of Recovery of King John's Lost Treasures Causes Some

Stir in England.

The idea of making use of the electric apparatus used in locating ores to discover King John's lost treasure has been put forward by Capt. Hugh Pollard in an English paper. He recalls the fact that, several years ago, Sir William Hope informed the Society of Antiquaries that the ford of the Wash where the treasure was lost in the thirteenth century was reclaimed in the seventeenth, and that the land lies between Walpole and Long Sutton in Lincoinshire. Now this treasure of King John's is of extraordinary interest. Not only did it contain loot from half the custles and churches of England and John's own jewels, but the crown of King Alfred as well. At the close of the seventeenth century King Alfred's jewel, now in the Ashmolean museum, was found some distance north of the site of Athelney abbey in Somersetshire. The gem is made of pure gold and contains colored stones covered by a thick crystal, through which is seen the ministure of a man slothed in a green Saxon tunic. It is formed of enameled mosaic on a bine ground. The man is seated on a throne with a crown on his head and holds a fleur-de-lis in each hand. Round the edge are the words in Anglo-Saxon: "Alfred had me worked." Some say the figure represents Alfred himself. If so, perhaps the crown which the gem depicts is the one which the elements wrenched from the unworthy hands of John all that long time ago, and the one which, it is to be hoped, the twentieth century will recover

ELEPHANT MADE NO WHIMPER

Underwent Pain of Having Tooth Drawn With Stoicism That Would Shame Many Humans.

It does not require' much imagination to realize that pulling an elephant's tooth is something of an engineering as well as a dental job.

An example of this was when Albert. one of the biggest elephants in the Ringling herd at Madison Square garden, New York, had refused to eat and the circus veterinary found a great tooth cavity which was beyond remedy by filling.

The tooth that was giving Albert so much discomfort was as large as a man's fist. After a liberal dose of cocaine had been injected, forceps as big as ice tongs were clamped to the tooth. a rope attached to the forceps, and a squad of trainers made ready to supply the pulling power.

At a given signal the trainers gave a tremendous pull, and out came the huge tooth.

In this sort of dental work the unknown quantity lies in what the elephant will do. Albert had been taken out of the menageric to prevent panic among the rest of the herd in case he developed an inclimation to object to the process. However, he underwent the ordeal calmiy, and as soon as his jaw was dressed he was conducted back to his stall.

Put End to Mosiem Piracy.

In the sixteenth century European civilization was menaced by the Turks. Moslem pirates were the peril of the seas, of which they were fast gnining control. This danger was averted and destroyed by Don Juan, commander of the Spanish fleet, and his allies, " Italian soundrons and the Venetion and Neapolitan fleets, at a naval battle with the Turks in the Bay of Lepauta. 'The capture of the enemy's flagship, after the battle had raged an hour and a half, gave Don Juan as

Down in the Madras district of Indin there are lilles that grow leaves of phenomenal size. Indeed, these leaves are several feet in diameter and have turned-up edges to form a shallow bowl which floats on the water. The buoyancy of these leaves is such that they will readily carry the weight of a small child, as shown in the accompanying illustration. This variety of Illy is known as the Victoria Regia .-Scientific American.

surance of victory, so he hoisted the consecrated banner of the Holy league at the mast of the conquering galley. where it could be seen by both friend and enemy. The result was as Don Juan expected-exultation on the part of the Christians and depression and discouragement on the part of the Turks. After a heavy loss on both sides the Turkish armada was destroyed.
