SOME JOB TO DINE ABOARD A DESTROYER

Santa Cruz, Calif., Aug. 28.—The matter of eating aboard a destroyer while it is at sea in rough weather is a matter of almost not eating, according to Lieutenant W. M. Blumenkranz of the flagship New Mexico, who passed four years on a ship of that type.
 "Destroyers roll and toss to such an extent," said the Lieutenant, "that it is largely a diet of cold sandwiches that one follows in rough weather. If the seas permit, one has coffee, because the coffee copers are fastened to the ship and the greatest amount of liquid that will not be spilled when the ship rolls is brewed.
 "As for warm food, however, one can not keep it on the stove long enough to cook it, on the table long enough to eat it, nor, in the cases of those making their first trips, on the stomach long enough to digest it."

Don't let your children suffer. If they are fretful, peevish, puny or cross, give them Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea—a harmless but safe laxative for children. 35c. Sabin's Drug Store. Adv.

 But our men are expert at that sort of thing.
 They are paid to fill orders right and to deliver on schedule time. If they didn't we'd get others who would.
