CITY HAS LONG BEEN DEAD

Tiahuanaco, in Bolivia, Collection of Ruins of Which Even the Incas Knew Nothing.

One of the numerous cities claiming the title "oldest city in the world," is Tiahuanaco, near Lake Titicaca in Bolivia. A thousand years ago, say the scientists, Tiahuanaco was as dead as it is today, and that is practically all that anybody knows of its history. Even the Incas, who hold a record for antiquity in South America, admitted to their first Spanish visitors that they knew nothing about Tiahuanaco, except that it was very probable that the stone images scattered over the ruins were the people of the city turned into stone by some angry god.

These would be nearly as much of the old city visible today as there was in the time of the Incas, had not the stones been so attractive to the Indians of nearby villages. As it is, beautifully carved idols have gone to decorate the door fronts of humble cottages, and polished stones to prop up chimneys and pave floors. The little modern village of Tiahuanaco, near the ruins, is full of stolen souvenirs. Whole houses and churches are built of them.

After several centuries of this plunder the government of Bolivia put a ban on removing stones from the ruins, but there was then little left of old Tiahuanaco. A few stone gods as huge and angular as any deities of Egypt, the sites of a fortress, a palace and many tombs, all vaguely marked by worn carved stones, are scattered over a great desolate plain. Yet from these battered relics with their cryptic carvings the archeologists hope some day to reconstruct the story of a mysterious people.

Venerated Relic Lost.

The Black Road was a relic brought to Scotland by the wife of Malcolm Canmore, and long held in extreme veneration by the Scots. It consisted of a cross of gold, inclosing a piece of the true cross, set in an ebony figure of Christ. It was deposited with the regalia in Edinburgh castle, and carried with them to England by Edward I and used by him to give increased solemnity to the oath he exacted from the Scottish magnates. All trace of it is now lost.

Wells Fargo Nevada Bank, in Review of Conditions, Shows Remedy Lies in Nation

San Francisco.—People should shop for lower prices, reduce their consumption, practice thrift, utilize for their savings Liberty Bonds, War Savings Stamps and Treasury Savings Certificates, says the Wells Fargo Nevada National Bank, in its monthly review, analyzing the high cost of living. High prices are due to the following causes, the bank review points out:

"Personal extravagance on the part of those who have been receiving unaccustomed profits or unusual wages.

"Profiteering, the setting by business men of the opportunity offered by a heavy demand to manipulate the supply so as to yield undue profits.

"High rates of wages, which increase the cost of commodities at every stage.

"General inflation of credits and circulation, including bank deposits. "What we may look and hope for as the main effect of this Governmental action is an awakening of the nation to more of a natural reaction against paying high prices.

"People should take pains to avoid paying them by shopping for lower prices, by reducing their consumption, practicing thrift, utilizing for their savings Liberty Bonds, War Savings Stamps and other opportunities for gilt-edge investment now open to them.

"This attitude will constitute a strong influence in lowering prices, down to the point at least necessitated by basic conditions, and, these latter conditions being fundamental, must be left to work themselves out."

The American National Bank in its monthly letter makes the following statement regarding the cost of living:

"There are several remedies that may be applied, and gradually will be applied, to reduce the cost of living, but the most essential is to get down to business, work full time, waste nothing and do without a lot of unnecessary things which consume in their making much valuable material and human energy."

The Beneficent Bat.

The government of the United States has discovered that the bat, instead of being useless and worthless, as is generally thought, is really most valuable. He is the inveterate enemy of all insects that fly at night. In recent investigations bats shot in the evening after flying for 12 minutes were found with stomachs so gorged with mosquitoes, gnats and small flies that it was difficult to see how they could eat any more.

ARE YOU A CAPITALIST?

The Standard Dictionary defines a "Capitalist" as one who has a "pecuniary surplus."

The dictionary is wrong. A capitalist is one who has a "pecuniary surplus" which is invested.

Are you a capitalist? You are if you are buying War Savings Stamps or Treasury Savings Certificates. They represent "pecuniary surplus" or, in simple English, savings and they make your money work by bringing to you 6 per cent interest compounded quarterly.

Are you a capitalist? Secretary of Commerce Redfield said to the Cleveland Advertising Men, "There are 64,000,000 subscribers to our Liberty Loans. I suspect that many a factory is manned, as I know some Government services are, by a force from top to bottom capitalists in varying degrees, but not the less really."

Don't kick about the high cost of living. Beat it by trimming your sails and buying War Savings Stamps. The capitalists are not kicking about the high cost of living.

Why? Because they have money at work. Cut your expenses to the bone. Invest in War Savings Stamps. Be a capitalist.

Employees of the Union Iron Works, the Bethlehem Steel Company's ship building plant in San Francisco, bought $15,000 worth of War Savings Stamps last month. The men have given up dice and cards and hold drawings and raffles of the stamps.

How We Go At It

First we look into the battery to see if you put water in it.

Then we use the hydrometer which is the one reliable way of knowing the condition of its charge.

Then, if no special cause of trouble appears we put it on the line to see if it will take a charge.

But if there is plain indication of serious trouble we open the battery up and find out exactly what's what.

Don't trust your battery to amateurs or artists in guesswork, who claim they can tell inside condition by outside inspection.

Come here where you find adequate machines and apparatus to really inspect, charge and repair any battery.
