

Making the Nation's Credit Liquid

Reservoir systems insure a steady water supply in every city and large town. The faucet is of very little value without the reservoir behind it.

The Federal Reserve Banking System is a simple and practical means of making the nation's credit liquid at all times.

As a member of that system, this bank is as independent of local conditions as it is humanly possible to make it.

"Rustling a Bride"

SHE FIRST SAW HER FIANCE WITH A ROPE AROUND HIS NECK—

A congenial crowd was about to send him on a little party where there would be flowers—flowers that he wouldn't smell.

But she took him at the value of the picture he sent her and she stepped in just in time.

Would you have done it if you had been Emily? After you had been fooled as she was? We wonder! Come to see and answer, "Would you?"
