The First Thing

We anxiously desire to note your attention to the following:

Those are not meant as statistics. It is true, however, that while the number of women who make their homes in the city is not large, it is very important. These women are not only working for the city, but they are working for the nation. It is a good thing that they are doing this, and it is a good thing that they are doing it for the nation.

Willford Allen on Courier—Willford Allen, editor, has one and one half years, during which time he was a member of the executive committee, and on the staff of the Cherokee. He is now with the Courier as editor.

Geoff Scott, editor of the Cherokee, has just been appointed editor of the Cherokee. He is well known in the city and has been associated with the newspaper for the past 15 months. He has a wife and family, and he will be missed by his many friends.

J. E. Ellington

Editor of the Daily Electric News, Medford, Oregon, will be in this city next week, and will attend the Standard Electric equipment—some goods, better equipment for the newspaper business.
